THIRD OF NATION IS RECEIVING AID FROM TREASURY

Funds Pouring Out at Dizzy Pace.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The phrase "one-third of a nation," title of a federal theater propaganda play, has been a party cry of the Roosevelt administration since the President declared in his second inaugural address, on Jan. 20, 1937:

The phrase now has assumed a new significance. With the congressional elections a little more than two months off, one-third of the nation is being supported in whole or in part by the treasury of the United States.

Millions Getting Checks.

Government checks are going out to 13,333,899 individuals who, with their families and dependents, represent approximately 43,000,000 people, a third of the population of the United States.

The total will be increased before the general elections on Nov. 8. The Works Progress administration has just reached a new all time high, with 3,038,908 reliefers on its rolls, and the number is increasing each week toward an expected peak of 3,200,000.

With figures obtained from government sources, including the bureau of labor statistics and the various federal agencies directly involved, THE TRIBUNE has prepared what is believed to be the most comprehensive survey ever made of the number of persons dependent in whole or in part upon the federal treasury for their livelihood.

Recipients of Federal Bounty.

Federal projects	288,010
Works Progress administration	3,038,908
National Youth administration projects	202,184
Total	3,529,102
Public Works program [old appropriations]	116,874
Construction projects financed by RFC, mortgage corporation	2,984
Projects financed by regular federal appropriations	222,096
Emergency work program [old FERA]	19,500
Civilian Conservation corps	293,859
Federal employés, executive branch, nonmilitary	857,520
Social security program:
Unemployment compensation	720,449
Old age annuities	184,612
Old age assistance	1,713,350
Aid to dependent children	670,336
Aid to the blind	39,476
Total	3,328,223
Farmers:
Benefit payments and soil conservation and new farm control act	4,000,000
Subsistence grants under Farm Security administration	57,031
Total	4,057,031
Veterans of all wars:
Pensions to veterans	596,468
Pensions to dependents of deceased veterans	310,242
Total	906,710
Grand total	13,333,899

45,000,000 Soon to Receive Aid.

The figure of 13,333,899 recipients of government checks includes none under the new billion dollar construction program of the Public Works administration, which is just getting under way but will reach its peak before Nov. 8. By the most conservative estimate, the number of persons receiving assistance from the federal treasury will reach 45,000,000 by November.

The vast extension of the federal bounty system, with its inherent political aggrandizement of the administration in power, is expected to be one of the main issues in the general election campaign. Representative James W. Wadsworth (R., N. Y.), keynoter at the Republican Cornfield rally in Indiana yesterday, sounded the issue when he accused the Roosevelt administration of employing tax payers' money in an orgy of

Lion Routs Congregation and Minister from Church

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The minister and congregation fled in terror today when one of two lions which escaped from a circus entered a church during services. The lion ran through the center aisle and then bounded upon the altar as the congregation scrambled for the nearest exits. The animals were recaptured and no harm was done.

LEADERS VOTE TO STOP PAYING $10,000 MONTH

Denounce Effort to Dictate to Union.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Automobile workers in Wisconsin, Illinois, and Minnesota yesterday revolted against John L. Lewis and the C. I. O. Three hundred and fifty-four of their delegates voted in a meeting here to ask the executive board to stop paying the monthly per capita assessment of 5 cents that the C. I. O. levies against all affiliates.

The delegates, representing 46,000 U. A. W. members, were angered by Lewis' attempt to destroy autonomy of their organization. Lewis recently proposed that the C. I. O. take jurisdiction in an auto workers factional fight and all future arguments and that the C. I. O. decision be final.

Claims 400,000 Members.

At the rate of five cents a man per month it is estimated Lewis would lose $10,000 a month should the auto workers stop paying the per capita assessment. Last February Homer Martin, international president of the auto workers, claimed a membership of 400,000. About half this number now is working.

Lewis' intervention in the auto workers' fight was in behalf of four officers of the executive board suspended on Aug. 6 after a trial in which they were charged with attempting to take over the organization so they could turn it over to the communists. The ousted officers appealed to Lewis and later assembled their followers in Toledo, O., to plan a rebel convention.

Lewis' recent proposal to Martin and the executive board was that the four officers be reinstated and the status of the 1937 convention be restored. He sought to prevent international officers from discussing the ouster before the membership and wanted the question of their status brought before the next convention.

Defends Expulsion of Four.

Martin kept the floor throughout most of today's meeting. He presented his proposal for settlement of the internal fight and observers said most of his program was a defense of his expulsion of Ed Hall, Wyndham Mortimer, and Richard T. Frankensteen, vice presidents, and George Addes, secretary treasurer.

Delegates at the meeting were unanimous in their denunciation of Lewis. They adopted a resolution condemning his interference and agreed to ask all locals to notify Lewis of their attitude toward him.

"The autonomy which our membership now enjoys," the resolution said, "was secured after several years of struggle and is a sacred possession. This conference goes on record as vigorously protesting and resenting the unwaranted and unprecedented interference of Lewis. Each local is requested to notify Lewis of our resentment and disapproval of his acts and of the desire of the U. A. W. to control its own affairs and operate as an autonomous union."

Tells C. I. O. to Clean House.

After the meeting Martin said the C. I. O. should clean its own house before attempting to settle affairs of the auto workers. He would hazard no guess as to where today's action may lead. He said region No. 9, whose delegates met today, was one of the most important in the twelve throughout the United States. An emphatic no was Martin's reply to a question if he would see Lewis again in the interest of U. A. W. peace.

Disturbance Precedes Session.

A disturbance preceded the opening of the meeting. Harold Christoffel, elected president of the Allis-Chalmers unit of the U. A. W. and 300 of his supporters sought to enter the meeting hall and were barred. Martin recently suspended Christoffel and appointed George B. Kiebler, president of the first district council, U. A. W., administrator of the unit.

"I am not surprised by this disturbance," said Martin, "it is the same irresponsible action that we expect from irresponsible people. These are anti-union tactics."

NIGHT WORKERS' CHORUS—"TURN OFF THOSE LIGHTS!"

Crime Pupils' Arrest Betrays Modern Fagin

The crime school conducted by Fred A. Tiedge, former convict with a record as a forger and rapist, is closed. Tiedge is in jail. So are his two students, who turned over about $10,000 in loot to him for eight months' tuition.

Tiedge, 42 years old, lives at 1831 North Sawyer avenue. He is a radio engineer. Last December he met John S. Jankowski, 20 years old, 1334 Bell avenue, and Casimir Strong, 19, of 1735 Division street.

Neither had a job. Their fathers gave them spending money, but not enough to satisfy them.

A Lecture for Each Crime.

The crime professor took the young men into his radio repair shop. He showed them how to handle pistols. He outlined a technique for robbery. Then he told them where to rob. Before they went he furnished maps. Each expedition was prefaced by a blackboard lecture.

Only when the students were letter perfect would he start them out. And he always said:

"I'll be waiting, listening for the police calls on the radio. I'll know whether you are good pupils."

Jankowski and Strong were efficient. Since the first of the year they committed forty robberies, at groceries, candy stores, jewelry shops, and radio stores. They always took all the loot to the professor. He doled them out money for cigarets.

Sought for Weeks.

Police of the Shakespeare avenue station sought the clocklike bandits for weeks. Lieut. James Killackey and Patrolmen Robert Fitzgerald, Lawrence Shupolski, Albert Rupp, and James Canning devoted their time to the search. A week ago they caught Strong, who told of Jankowski and Tiedge.

A few days later Jankowski was seized in Milwaukee. On Friday Tiedge was captured at Rhinelander, Wis. So far the police have been unable to make him tell where he keeps the defense fund.

Tiedge is married and has two children. They live in a $12 a month flat that has no bathroom.

LABORER ON RELIEF, GRATEFUL FOR HELP, SWEEPS THE STREETS

Aliquippa, Pa., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Sweeping the street that runs in front of his little home makes Mudianna Esto "feel good inside" and causes the bread he buys with relief money to "taste sweet." The wizened Italian laborer, 63 years old, who applied for relief two months ago after being in this country seven years, didn't like to accept the $3.60 weekly relief check without earning it.

The street, Elm way, needed cleaning, he thought, so he began to sweep it. He works an average of six hours a day in the streets of his neigborhood.

100 SEE RESCUERS CHEAT DEATH OF A MOTHER'S LIFE

Death was cheated yesterday by firemen and a physician in view of more than 100 picnickers at Wiech's park, on Slocum lake in Lake county.

Fun at the picnic was at its height when some one discovered that Mrs. Margie Laury, 33 years old, 2100 North Halsted street, was missing. She was last seen swimming with her two small sons. Swimmers began a search. They found her submerged in six feet of water ten minutes later. She appeared to be dead.

Firemen and Dr. J. A. Ross, of Wauconda, were called. They worked on her for an hour, while crowds looked on. As a last resort, Dr. Ross injected stimulants. A few minutes later Mrs. Laury showed signs of consciousness. When Dr. Ross left, he pronounced her recovered.

JOHN ROOSEVELT TAKES AN $18 JOB, $100 APARTMENT

Boston, Mass., Aug. 28.—(AP)—John A. Roosevelt, the President's youngest son, will begin his business career tomorrow as a stock clerk in a department store. His salary will be $18 a week.

Throughout the day, he will push trucks of merchandise about the store to replenish stocks. He and his wife, the former Anne Lindsay Clark, have rented a Brookline apartment in a building where rents average $100 a month.

2 Noblewomen Jailed for Ruse to Win Fortune

BY HAROLD TATAM.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 28.—Two titled Frenchwomen are in jail here after the exposure of their plot to gain possession of the estate of an Argentine millionaire by means of a forged will. Even the high courts were duped until the fraud was exposed and the case has excited great interest in Argentina.

Argentine and French police have been busy for more than a year searching for evidence and persons who participated in the plot.

The fraud attempt began when Ricardo A. Garcia died in Paris. He had made a will in 1930 leaving his fortune to his two nieces, the Senoritas Aubert and Arnaud. The will was deposited with the proper registry in Buenos Aires.

Courts Accepts Forged Will.

After Garcia died, there was mailed from Paris by registered letter a purported "later will" which gave the fortune to the marchioness de Beaurepaire and her sister, the viscountess de Guippeville. The two women and the marquis de Beaurepaire came to Buenos Aires to collect the estate.

The nieces offered the real will in court and it was approved. Then the lawyer for the French women offered the "later will" and the court promptly declared it a forgery. But the lawyer appealed to a higher court which reversed the decision and declared the forged will valid. The nieces then began criminal action against the noblewomen.

Postmark Exposes Plot.

First the French police discovered that the "later will," which supposedly was mailed by Garcia, actually was posted ten hours after his death. The French also learned that the forger of Garcia's signature on the faked will was his housekeeper, Irma Gange. French police still are looking for her.

When the fraud was exposed in Argentina police were able to seize the marchioness de Beaurepaire and the viscountess de Guippeville, but the marquis de Beaurepaire eluded them and is believed to be in hiding on one of the estates of his influential friends. Had the plotters used ordinary mail instead of registered letter it is believed here their scheme might have worked.

BRITONS BELIEVE HELP IS PLEDGED; CRISIS GROWS

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 28.—Viscount Runciman, the British mediator of Czechoslovakia's minorities problem, today made a fast beginning of negotiations in what may be a critical week.

Konrad Henlein.

He held an urgent, hastily arranged two hour meeting with Konrad Henlein, the leader of the Sudeten German [Nazi] party and spokesman for the 3,250,000 Germans in Czechoslovakia.

It is known Runciman had with him a sketch of the Czech government's new offer on the minorities problem and was anxious to persuade Henlein to find it satisfactory—or nearly satisfactory.

Henlein Repeats Demands.

No hope is entertained in Prague, however, that Runciman may have succeeded in making Henlein retreat from his stand—that his eight Carlsbad points constitute the only acceptable basis for settlement of the minorities question. Henlein's demands are for virtual autonomy of the Sudeten area.

At noon today Frank Trelawney Arthur Ashton-Gwatkin, Runciman's economic expert who returned yesterday from London, hastily drove to Rotenhaus, the castle of Prince Max van Hohenlohe-Langenburg. The castle, where Henlein had stayed over night, is near the town of Jirkov and about twenty miles from Germany.

The castle was the scene of the first meeting of Runciman and Henlein on Aug. 19. Henlein canceled a speaking engagement and waited at Rotenhaus for Runciman. The viscount arrived at 5 o'clock from Teplice-Schanov, where he had been for the week-end.

Meeting Disturbs Prague.

Runciman's sudden move, when reported in Prague, had a more disturbing effect on public opinion than any event of the last two months. The conclusion was drawn that something extremely serious must be in the air to ruffle Runciman sufficiently to send him scurrying around the countryside looking for Henlein.

It was believed the jolt Runciman must have received undoubtedly came from London and reflected British nervousness as a result of the tension created by the unending negotiations in Prague.

London Is Stirred by Nazi Resentment; Calls Envoy Home.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Fear of war grew in Europe today. Germany openly resented Great Britain's warning against plunging the continent into armed conflict and European capitals anxiously awaited Adolf Hitler's next move in the dispute over Czechoslovakia.

The Nazi dictator so far has concealed his intentions toward that post-war republic, which powerful allies and friends are determined to protect.

Outstanding Events.

Here are the outstanding events in the crisis:

1. The British public appears to believe that President Roosevelt's government has committed the United States to what virtually amounts to an alliance with England in the event of war in Europe.

2. Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain ordered British cabinet members to assemble Tuesday to discuss the dangerous problem and perhaps certain "precautionary measures," presumably including disposition of the army and navy.

3. Sir Nevile Henderson, British ambasador to Berlin, was summoned to London to report on the German government's attitude. He arrived tonight and will meet tomorrow with Chamberlain and Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary. He may also place his report before the cabinet on Tuesday.

4. Hugh R. Wilson, American ambassador to Berlin, hastened to Paris to discuss the crisis with Ambassador William C. Bullitt.

Czechs and Nazis Deadlocked.

It appeared that the matter of peace or war depended largely upon negotiations between Czechoslovakia and her Sudeten German minority of 3,250,000. Hitler has proclaimed himself protector of the minority, which is demanding self-rule. The negotiations are deadlocked.

The belief of the British public that the London government has an alliance with the United States is based largely on the speech delivered Saturday by Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, at Lanark, Scotland. He warned that war in Europe might get beyond control of those who started it and become a new world war.

The British believe that Simon would not have dared to invoke recent speeches of Mr. Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull as one of the reasons why Hitler should keep his hands off Czechoslovakia unless there was a definite understanding behind the scenes.

U. S. Lined Up Solidly.

Many Britons are convinced that the United States is lined up solidly behind the London government's policy.

Whether this is a true interpretation of the situation or not, it does not lessen its effectiveness on the Germans. They are inclined in informal conversations to express more resentment against the United States than against the British for meddling in continental European affairs.

In some quarters it was believed that Simon in his speech was stressing the fact that the British have been successful in their drive to obtain the American government's promise of moral support for the London policy. Such a pledge was all that was expected for the moment, a high source disclosed here recently.

Want Material Assistance.

"We do not expect you to send men and guns, but we would like you to give us your moral support," this person said.

It is the anxious hope of the British public that this moral support, since affirmed, quickly will become material support in case of emergency.

In other words, it is taken for granted that the United States is well on the way to commitments unless America is wiser than she was in 1917.

British officials studied the reactions to Simon's speech in various capitals.

The British believe the Germans are more hostile over a statement given out by the foreign office after the speech than at what the cabinet member actually said. The statement called on the Sudeten Germans to make a gesture in response to Czechoslovak concessions. It also condemned the proclamation of the Sudeten German party on Friday giving party members freedom to use force in "self-defense."

The reaction in France seems to be that the French would have liked Simon to have made himself more clear.

No Immediate Danger Seen.

While every one in London appears to be emphasizing a pessimistic outlook of events, almost every one adds, "but there is no immediate danger of an outbreak."

All signs are that British diplomacy this week will be devoted to preventing Hitler from crawling so far out on a limb with regard to Czechoslovakia at the Nuremburg conference of the Nazi party opening Sept. 6, that he won't be able to crawl back without loss of prestige.

Most observers believe that August, which is usually Europe's most critical month, will end peacefully. What happens in October, when Hitler's fortifications along the French frontier will be completed, is a matter of speculation.

No nation is taking any chances. Hitler spent the day touring part of the formidable defense works he has erected in five years of feverish rearmament.

French Cabinet Meets Today.

The French cabinet was scheduled to meet tomorrow and its troops began taking positions for maneuvers at the Swiss, Italian and German borders.

Britain's home army was preparing to engage in sham warfare in a half a dozen areas.

British newspapers expressed hope that Simon's speech would persuade Hitler from marching into Czechoslovakia if that were his intention, but none were strongly optimistic. They gave prominent space to cabled reports that Secretary of State Hull had implied his approval of Simon's speech.

J. L. Garvin, diplomatic expert of the Sunday Observer, gave this summary of the situation:

"There can be little doubt that internal troubles in the mixed republic [Czechoslovakia] now are tending to move toward the most serious situation possible short of war.

"There can be no doubt at all that the whole future of Anglo-German relations is at stake and with that, the whole world's destinies for better or worse."

BALKAN TROOPS OCCUPY FORMER RESTRICTED ZONE

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Bulgarian, Turkish and Greek troops today were in charge of the former demilitarized zone which was set up in 1923 in Thrace when it was divided among the three countries. They moved in yesterday to occupy sections of the zone along the borders of their respective countries. Their action was the result of the Saloniki agreement of July 31 under which the demilitarized zone was discontinued and arms restrictions of the post-war treaty of Neuilly were lifted from Bulgaria. The Saloniki pact was signed by representatives of Bulgaria and the Balkan entente—Turkey, Greece, Jugo-Slavia and Rumania.

NAZIS SURPRISED; VISIONED BRITISH STAYING NEUTRAL

Expected London to Wink at Czech Coup.

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler faces a momentous decision as a result of Great Britain's warning to Germany not to use force to achieve her ends in Czechoslovakia.

He must decide whether Germany is ready to support the demands of the Czechoslovak Sudeten German minority even at the risk of general European conflict.

[Hitler has declared Germany's protection over 3,250,000 Germanic citizens of Czechoslovakia whose leaders have been negotiating demands for autonomy with the Czechoslovak government.]

Informed persons in Germany generally had been of the opinion that Britain would look on in the event that the Sudeten Germans' demands were not granted and Germany came to grips with Czechoslovakia.

Expected Britain to Stay Out.

German plans for possible active support of the Sudeten Germans were based on a belief that Britain would remain neutral, these sources said. Now, they declared, the Nazi government knows that Britain does not believe a conflict over Czechoslovakia can be localized.

"The beginning of a conflict is like the beginning of a fire in a high wind," Sir John Simon, British chancellor of the exechequer, said in an address Saturday. 'It may be limited at the start. But who can say how far it would spread or how much destruction it would do or how many may be called to beat it out?"

This part in Simon's speech was the most important in his entire address, German commentators asserted. Probably more than anything else, they said, that section led the German propaganda ministry to give out the keyword "disappointing" for editorial comment.

Most outspoken over Britain's attitude was the newspaper Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung. Its chief editor for many years was its correspondent in London and he knows the British mentality better than most of his colleagues.

Attacks Simon's Speech.

"Simon gave British statecraft a poor mark," the newspaper said, "when he took the position that such a conflict could not be localized, but probably would spread out to involve other countries and regions not connected per se with Czechoslovak problems."

Assuming that no great disturbing incident will occur in the Czechoslovak situation during the coming week, the world probably will hear Hitler's decision when he steps before his ardent followers during the annual Nazi convention at Nuremberg the first week in September.

By that time he will have not only full information on world reaction to the British warning, but also will have obtained a first hand impression of the degree of Germany's preparedness by the series of visits to army units he has been making in recent weeks.

How Czechoslovakia May Be Pared

WIFE CONVINCED LAUNDRY OWNER DEAD OR CAPTIVE

Mrs. Esther Borgeson was convinced yesterday that her husband Julius, Des Plaines laundry owner who disappeared Friday, is dead or in the hands of kidnapers.

"He would never have stayed away from home voluntarily," she said. "Julius is devoted to his family."

Borgeson's delivery truck was found in the forest preserve near Oakton and River roads Friday afternoon. His crushed straw hat lay on the seat. Policemen and CCC men searched the woods Saturday, but found no trace of him.

The Borgeson laundry has been picketed since Aug. 16 by the Laundry and Dye House Drivers' and Chauffeurs' union, local 712. He had refused to hire a union driver. Members of the union scoffed at theories that the laundryman had been subjected to any violence.

Girl Killed by Rock Fall While Walking in Mine

CLAMP CURFEWS ON FIVE TOWNS IN HOLY LAND

JERUSALEM, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Curfews were imposed today on five towns—Jaffa, Ramleh, Jenin, Nablus, and Beersheba—as authorities sought to check disorders in Palestine. Officials also imposed collective fines totaling $5,000 on eleven villages and destroyed 120 houses in the Safad and Acre districts. The action was taken as punishment for alleged assistance to bands sniping at military forces and for other overt acts.

All roads were being patroled by British hussars, assisted by armored cars and the royal air force. Police reported sniping today in the southern district. One Arab was killed and ten Jews and one constable were wounded.

One member of a band which attacked quarries owned by American Jews near Jerusalem was killed. The bodies of Hanna Khoury, a Greek monk, and his brother were found near Tuk Karm.

U. S. GLAD TO CUT ARMS IF ALL DO, SAYS ROOSEVELT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today that the United States would gladly reduce its armaments if other nations reduced theirs.

He gave this assurance in a letter sent to Col. John Callan O'Laughlin publisher of the Army and Navy Journal, for publication in a seventy-fifth anniversary number of the journal.

"It has been our effort to place the army and navy in a position to protect our territory and our vital interests," wrote the President. "None of the things we have done contemplates aggression. None goes beyond what is essential to set up proper safeguards against aggression. As others decrease their armaments we will gladly join them by reducing those which present world conditions force us to provide for our own protection."

BISHOPS CHARGE NAZIS FIGHT TO DESTROY CHURCH

Hitler's Rule Indicted in Catholic Pulpits.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—Roman Catholic bishops of Germany today denounced Adolf Hitler's Nazis. A defiant pastoral letter was read to awed congregations from all Catholic pulpits.

"The campaign against the Catholic church aims not only at its destruction but at the destruction of Christianity as a whole," said the letter. "The campaign is especially directed at the destruction of the faith of youth."

The letter was drafted by the bishops at their recent conference at Fulda. Cardinals Michael Faulhaber of Munich, Adolph Bertram of Breslau and Karl Joseph Schulte of Cologne participated at that conference.

Demand Fight Cease.

The bishops in their letter demanded "cessation of this fight against Christianity because it is causing a deep cleavage in the German nation."

The message expressed the determination of the Catholic church to maintain its rights and defied Nazi legislation.

"German bishops cannot compromise in regard to the new marriage laws," the letter said.

It scornfully referred to attacks on the church in a recent exposition of a new law dealing with last wills and testaments. In the exposition the Nazis referred to the "covetous trickery of priests seeking bequests and exploiting the dying."

Despite their loyalty to the state, thousands of Catholic citizens, said the letter, now must ask whether they are still citizens with equal rights.

Refers to Bishop's Expulsion.

Referring to the expulsion of Bishop Ludwig Sproll of Rottenburg from his diocese and "ugly attacks" on the bishop which preceded the action, it said:

"Before long German bishops must fear that they also will be delivered over to the same systematically mobilized mobs. Opponents even have not feared to attack the personal honor of the holy father [Pope Pius]. We German bishops stand all the more united and loyally behind him when he suffers for our sake."

Bishop Sproll's expulsion was announced last Thursday. The grounds, it was said, were that the bishop was the only citizen in his diocese who refused to vote April 10 in the plebiscite on the union of Austria and Germany.

Youth Camps Cited.

The pastoral letter said that with the extermination of Christianity, it was intended to introduce a faith "which had not the slightest connection with faith in God and eternity."

The bishops charged efforts were being made to destroy the faith of youth. They said that in youth camps obstacles were placed in the way of church attendance. Furthermore, they charged that efforts were made to lead churchgoers astray.

"The fate of the catacombs is intended for us—and that shall be the beginning of the end," the letter said.

The bishops alleged all that was good in the Catholic faith was suppressed in school books. The letter asserted all Catholic books were censored, banned or confiscated although opponents of the church were not hindered in expressing their views.

The bishops said members of the clergy were reproached with accusations of "immorality, but long overdue legal proceedings were not carried through."

The letter denied allegations that the Catholic church is allied with bolshevik Russia.

"The church is the most irreconcilable enemy of bolshevism," it added.

The campaign against Christianity, the letter said, now is more malevolent and aggressive than ever. It said certain persons charged that Christianity is "decayed, crumbling, and unsuitable for the present day."

"If this is so why this tremendous effort to stamp it out?" the bishops asked. "Great German soldiers, scientists, and others have professed Christianity and millions still profess it.

"The Catholic church has for 2,000 years survived internal and external crises and it will survive in the future—that church of which Jesus Christ said 'The gates of Hell shall not prevail against it.'"

Fly New Plane

A. P. DE SEVERSKY.

JACQUELINE COCHRAN.

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Maj. Alexander P. De Seversky, airplane manufacturer, flew into Floyd Bennett field in Brooklyn this evening in a new type of military pursuit speed plane and announced that he would take off tomorrow morning in an attempt to break the transcontinental speed record. The east to west record of 11 hours 30 minutes was set by Col. Roscoe Turner on July 1, 1933.

An unusual feature of the Seversky plane is that the wing itself is its gas tank from tip to tip. The plane is of all metal, unpainted duralumin construction, with a single, twin row engine developing 1,250 horsepower, and a three-blade propeller.

On the west coast the plane will be turned over to Jacqueline Cochran, speed flyer, who will race it on the return trip in the Bendix feature of the national air races.

FRANCE MARCHES ARMY TO BORDER FOR MOCK WAR

Troops Pitch Camp Near Italy and Germany.

PARIS, Aug. 28.—(AP)—France today moved troops into position on her eastern frontiers facing Germany and Italy for maneuvers amid a situation widely feared as a grave threat to European peace.

More than 20,000 men—including an infantry division and cavalry, artillery, tank, and air force units—pitched camp at Baldahon, near Besancon, close to the junction of the French, German, and Swiss borders for war games to begin Tuesday.

Maneuvers of the second Senegalese colonial division were ordered to begin the same day at Aups, near the Italian frontier.

The British warning yesterday to Germany not to use force in her issue with Czechoslovakia over the autonomy demands of the republic's Sudeten Germans, was considered to have relaxed slightly, if only temporarily, the central European tension.

Calls Cabinet Meetings.

Until a definite settlement has been reached, diplomatic quarters feared the Czechoslovak situation would put a continual strain on Europe's peace structure.

Premier Edouard Daladier called meetings of his "national defense" cabinet for tomorrow and Tuesday to carry out his plan for dropping the 40 hour work week in order to step up production in war industries.

The French troop movements were on a smaller scale than those across the frontier in Germany. Well informed quarters said the French general staf, however, was planning to continue the maneuvers as long as Germany keeps her forces on a war footing.

This would be in line with the Daladier government's policy of military preparedness to back up pledges such as its mutual assistance pact with Czechoslovakia.

Orders Constant Attack.

Abandoning the usual set theme of attack and counterattack for the Besancon maneuvers, the army command ordered constant attack until a halt is called in the mock warfare Sept. 2. This plan would give the French troops exceptional mobility.

By coincidence, the new games were called just southwest of Isola, on the French-Italian border, where a new dispute developed with Rome.

French residents of Isola, farming land on the Italian side of the border, protested to local authorities against an Italian military order commanding them to abandon their holdings by tomorrow on pain of military occupation. The protests were referred to Paris.

Thirty French farms lie on the Italian side in territory which, according to popular legend, Napoleon III. gave to Victor Emmanuel I. in 1860 so the Italian king could hunt chamois there.

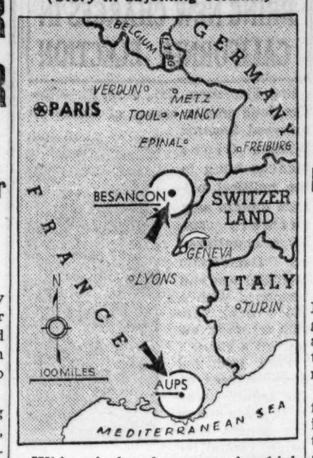
French newspapers said Italy was expelling the French farmers in order to build military fortifications in the region.

French government officials expressed hope a settlement could be reached. Italy has promised the French residents a month for reaping their harvests provided they yield immediately their claims to the land.

French residents recently were expelled under similar circumstances from farms across the French border in Germany. The land dispute, also, was the second incident over the French-Italian frontier. Both countries recently prevented their citizens from crossing the border except with special visas.

French Troops Move Up

(Story in adjoining column.)



White circles show areas in which French troops are concentrating for maneuvers starting tomorrow. The French pitched camp near Besancon close to the junction of the French, German and Swiss frontiers. Senegalese troops will maneuver at Aups near the Italian border.

POLES AROUSED BY UNFRIENDLY ACTS OF NAZIS

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

WARSAW, Aug. 28.—Several important decisions taken by the army and Nazi party in Germany jointly with Nazis in Poland are likely to affect Polish-German relations and may lead to a demand for an explanation from Berlin.

The first decision was to create a special "Pomeranian Legion" composed of the Germans who are continually crossing the frontier to Germany to avoid serving in the Polish army. The Pomeranian legion is reported at present to comprise two regiments. A second decision is the arming of the Free City of Danzig, which borders Poland. During the last few weeks some 30,000 rifles, 500 machine guns and ammunition have been smuggled from East Prussia into the free city. Polish officials estimate the supplies are sufficient to arm 25,000 men. German officers are training young soldiers in Danzig.

The third decision was an order issued secretly a few days ago to all Nazis in Poland to demonstrate their loyalty to Hitler by wearing white socks in the manner of the Henlein [Sudeten] Nazis in Czechoslovakia. For the first time today groups of Nazis were seen in Polish Upper Silesia and Teschen wearing white socks.

Five Rebel Bombers Raid Barcelona Harbor Section

MADRID, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Five trimotored rebel bombers raided the Casa Antunez quarter and harbor district of Barcelona today. One person was killed and ten wounded, but most of the twenty bombs fell harmlessly in a cemetery and in the sea.

LOYALISTS TURN FRANCO'S DRIVE INTO BOOMERANG

Rebel Towns in Southwest Spain Periled.

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier], Aug. 28.—(AP)—The Spanish government's southern army today apparently had turned the tables on the rebel drive on the rich Almaden mercury mines in southwestern Spain.

Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano's rebel forces were reorganizing their lines into defensive positions to protect their key town, Castuera, against the government counteroffensive on the Estremadura front.

Within ten days, government dispatches said, Gen. José Asensio's troops have succeeded through swift flanking attacks in turning De Llano's drive into a government assault on Castuera, which has been a battleground since the early days of the civil war.

Move on Secondary Roads.

Government dispatches said Asensio's shock troops were pacing the attack which already was within striking distance of Castuera and Campanario. Both are about 20 miles west of Cabeza del Buey, the rebels' most advanced position on the Badajoz-Almaden railroad.

Loyalists reported they had cut the Castuera-Cabeza highway and railroad and said they believed the move isolated the rebels at Cabeza.

The government apparently had succeeded in outflanking De Llano south of the Zujar river by sending crack, well armed units along a dozen secondary roads in the mountainous, almost deserted country north of Cabeza del Buey.

Ebro Battle Deadlocked.

The battle in the Ebro river valley and before Gandesa, on the southern Catalonia front in northeastern Spain, still swayed back and forth with neither side apparently able to deliver a decisive blow.

Rebel dispatches said government reënforcements on the Catalonian front included the famed "lost division," the 43d, which retreated to France after long resisting the rebels' far northern forces in their craggy haunts high in the Pyrenees. The division reorganized after its men returned from France to Barcelona.

CATHOLIC CHURCH GETS WARNING IN ITALY TO STAY OUT OF POLITICS

CREMONA, Italy, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Regime Fascista, the newspaper which represents an extremist wing of the Fascist party, today warned the Catholic church not to interfere in "political" questions.

Regime Fascista repeated a previous warning that Fascist youth, if forced to choose between Catholic Action, a lay society, and the Fascist party, would side with the latter.

It declared a Fascist, "a private soldier who is sworn to serve the revolution with his life, if necessary," could not obey two opposing political commands. It said the Catholic diocesan organ of Cremona had asked whether professing Catholics could fail to accept as "pure gold" the words of the pontiff or his cardinals or bishops.

"We reply," it said, "that in a political matter we recognize only one chief, Il Duce; afterward, our conscience, which is becoming matured by long labor and experience."

GERMANS ABROAD MUST BE NAZIS, TOO, CHIEFS SAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STUTTGART, Germany, Aug. 28.—"No one has the right to call himself a German unless he is a Nazi. To be German means to be true to the Fuehrer." With this statement, Ernst Wilhelm Bohle, chief of Germans living in foreign lands, opened the sixth annual meeting of Germans abroad here today. The delegates had assembled to rekindle their Nazi faith and receive their marching orders from the all-powerful Nazi party.

Other spokesmen of the government, including Rudolph Hess, deputy leader of Reichsfuehrer Hitler, and Dr. Wilhelm Frick, minister of the interior, left no doubt that non-Nazi Germans abroad are considered renegades. They indorsed Bohle's statement that "those who do not stand behind the Fuehrer automatically exclude themselves from the ranks of Germans."

PRESIDENT FIRES ELECTION BLAST AT SEN. SMITH

Voters Told to Nominate Rubber Stamp.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—A blast at Senator Ellison D. [Cotton Ed] Smith of South Carolina was voiced today by President Roosevelt.

At the same time, the President let it be made known he will make a Labor day speech in Maryland against Senator Millard E. Tydings.

Mr. Roosevelt thus revealed himself as more determined than ever to carry on his attempt to purge from the Democratic party those who have opposed any part of his program.

His biting criticism of Senator Smith was made against the advice of Postmaster General James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Opposed by Rubber Stamp.

South Carolina holds its primary on Tuesday. Gov. Olin D. Johnston, who has promised to vote unquestioningly for anything the President may propose, opposes Senator Smith.

A third candidate, State Senator Edgar A. Brown, withdrew from the race yesterday. Brown said he knew he was running third. Asked to comment upon the withdrawal, Mr. Roosevelt replied deliberately:

"In my opinion, the unexpected withdrawal of State Senator Brown clarifies the issue. The voters of South Carolina now have their choice between two candidates representing entirely different political schools of thought.

"One of these candidates thinks in terms of the past and governs his actions accordingly. The other thinks in terms of 1938, and 1948, and 1958 as well.

"On Tuesday the electorate of South Carolina will make this choice. On them rests the responsibility of selecting a representative in the United States senate to play a part in the framing of legislation to carry out the objectives of the administration's program—legislation to improve the lot of the average American and give him security, to give fair play to the farmer, the laborer, the storekeeper, and the great rank and file of our citizens.

Maryland Drive Expected.

The decision to speak in Maryland on Labor day had been expected. But the speech, which is expected to be broadcast nationally, will be delivered in Denton, Md., on the eastern shore, instead of in Baltimore, as had been predicted.

Mr. Roosevelt will be invading a territory where Senator Tydings is regarded as particularly strong. He is expected to pound home to a possibly hostile audience his philosophy that members of congress must be elected who have promised 100 per cent allegiance to administration propositions.

Senator Tydings is opposed by Representative David J. Lewis, who has qualified for the President's indorsement by pledging unqualified loyalty to him.

The President received a telegram from Harry W. Nice, Republican governor of Maryland, asking for a conference at which a proposed bridge across the Potomac—between Morgantown, Md., and Dahlgren, Va.—could be discussed.

Presidential Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre wired Gov. Nice that the President would be glad to discuss the bridge and inspect the site. He proposed that the governor join him on board the yacht Potomac next Sunday.

Affords Graceful Entry.

Simultaneously, McIntyre wired Candidate Lewis to join him on the yacht Sunday and be his overnight guest. Representative T. Alan Goldsborough [D., Md.] was extended a similar invitation.

Goldsborough's acceptance carried an invitation to speak at Denton, and this was accepted. The series of telegrams following Gov. Nice's request apparently was planned to afford the President a graceful way of going into Maryland to inveigh against Senator Tydings.

Mr. Roosevelt attended St. James Episcopal church this morning and heard the Rev. William H. Robinson sermonize.

The Rev. Mr. Robinson chose as his lesson: "As ye sow, so shall ye reap." The President listened with interest.

TYDINGS BACKED BY NEW DEALER DESPITE PURGE

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—A New Dealer went to bat for Senator Millard E. Tydings tonight a few hours after President Roosevelt announced he would make a Labor day speech in Maryland against Tydings.

Senator George L. Radcliffe of Maryland called for his colleague's renomination over Representative David J. Lewis, who is running with Roosevelt support. "Maryland Democrats are accustomed to select their own standard bearers," said Radcliffe. "That right we will not surrender to any one."

Senator Tydings had no comment to make on Roosevelt's announcement that he will come to Denton, Md., Monday to ask voters to purge Tydings from the party.

NEW DEAL ISSUE IN CONNECTICUT PRIMARY TODAY

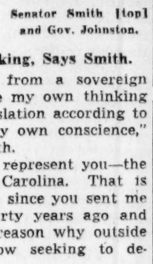
New Haven, Conn., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Connecticut Democrats will ballot tomorrow in primaries, caucuses and conventions which may have an important bearing on the nomination to the United States senate seat now held by Augustine Lonergan. He is accused by New Dealers of disloyalty to President Roosevelt.

Delegates chosen throughout the state will attend the state convention next month, at which Senator Lonergan and his New Deal rivals, Representative H. P. Koppleman and Archibald McNeil will get the party's verdict on their bids for nomination.

SENATOR SMITH RIPS ROOSEVELT ELECTION ORDER

Defies Purge; Stands on His 30 Year Record.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Senator Ellison D. [Cotton Ed] Smith [D., S. C.] tonight issued a statement asserting: "I regret that President Roosevelt has seen fit to inject himself into the South Carolina senatorial campaign in an eleventh hour attempt to influence the voters of this state."



Senator Smith [top] and Gov. Johnston.

It was in reply to a Hyde Park statement by the President today which inferentially indorsed the candidacy of Gov. Olin D. Johnston, who opposes Smith in Tuesday's primary.

Does Own Thinking, Says Smith.

"As a senator from a sovereign state I have done my own thinking and voted on legislation according to the dictates of my own conscience," said Senator Smith.

"My duty is to represent you—the people of South Carolina. That is what I have done since you sent me to the senate thirty years ago and that is the only reason why outside influences are now seeking to defeat me.

"I agree with the President that a responsibility is on the voters of South Carolina to choose between two candidates representing two schools of thought. I gladly acknowledge that my opponent and I do not belong to the same school of thought.

Predicts Regret Over Purge.

"If and when the President learns to what school of thought my opponent really belongs—if indeed he belongs to any—I am sure he will regret having tried to influence South Carolinians in his behalf.

"As long as South Carolina keeps me in the senate I will follow the Roosevelt administration or the administration of any other Democratic President except when to do so will be in direct conflict with what I consider the best interests of South Carolina.

"When there is a conflict, I will not hesitate in the future, as in the past, to oppose the President and his administration; and if that be treason, let my opposition make the most of it."

Withdrawal last night of State Senator Edgar A. Brown from the race made it certain that a runoff primary will not be necessary and that whoever wins the nomination will be elected to the senate. Brown, also a Roosevelt man, said he withdrew because he was convinced he would run third.

Once Textile Worker.

Johnston, who rose from a textile worker to governor, announced his candidacy last May from the White House after he had been called in for a conference with the President. On Aug. 11, while returning home from his Pacific fishing jaunt, Roosevelt made a rear-end platform speech in Greenville, S. C., in which he boosted Johnston and rapped at Cotton Ed.

Senator Smith long had been marked for the purge. He opposed the court packing bill, compelled modifications of the crop control bill, and refused to support the President on the wages and hours bill.

Senator Smith, 74 years old, is the dean of Democratic senators. His conservatism and his independence are deep rooted. He still lives on the family acreage near Lynchburg which King George III. of England granted to his great-grandfather.

W. Virginia Senator Backs Roosevelt for Third Term

Rocky Point, R. I., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Senator Matthew M. Neely [D., W. Va.], speaking before 5,000 Rhode Island Democrats at the party's state outing here today, declared that President Roosevelt would be sure of election if he ran for a third term.

M'ADOO'S OPPONENTS BRING NEW CHARGES IN CALIFORNIA ELECTION

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 28.—(AP)—The long public career of Roosevelt indorsed Senator William Gibbs McAdoo hung in the political balance tonight as a primary campaign embittered by Democratic factional war and festooned with a $30 a week pension scheme drew toward a close.

John W. Preston.

Foes launched more charges at the senator, who is 74 years old, as the senate campaign committee continued its investigation of their accusation that McAdoo permitted the solicitation of federal jobholders for campaign funds.

With only one campaign day remaining before next Tuesday's balloting, John W. Preston, the "no rubber stamp" candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination, demanded that the senate committee make public the findings of its representatives who came to California.

Almost simultaneously Committee Chairman Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.] announced in Boston the committee had evidence that federal employés contributed illegally to McAdoo's campaign funds, but that it had no proof that there had been assessments or solicitations.

PEACE AT G. O. P. PARLEY CERTAIN; DEMOCRATS BOIL

State Conventions of Both Parties at Hand.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Republicans and Democrats yesterday were completing final plans for their state conventions. All was tranquil and brotherly as G. O. P. chieftains packed up to meet Wednesday in Peoria. But Democratic politics seethed below the surface as the time approached for their Sept. 8 parley at Springfield.

The program for the Republican gathering is agreed upon. Peace and understanding will prevail. It probably will be one of the most harmoniously enthusiastic conventions the party has held in Illinois in years. There will be no bursting open of sore spots left by the April primary.

Expect Democratic Strife.

The forecasts for the Democratic convention are guess work, but it is generally agreed that there will be a renewal in some form of the bitterness between the Horner-Courtney forces and the Nash-Kelly organization. Advance negotiations may repress it and even keep it entirely off the convention floor but not even the most neutral Democrat has any hope of genuine harmony.

Back from his summer vacation, P. A. Nash, national committeeman and Cook county chairman, is expected within a few days to insist that he and his organization must have full control of the campaign in Cook county for the state ticket. The Horner-Courtney people, on the other hand, have announced that they will reopen their own preprimary headquarters and operate their own ward organizations as units separate from the county committee.

Nash to Stand Firm.

Just how Gov. Horner and his associates will try to work out a compromise with Nash has not been disclosed, but intimates of the veteran county chairman say they feel certain he will not surrender a particle of the jurisdiction he considers his own.

Nash has been planning to let the Horner-Courtney primary winners, such as Congressman Scott W. Lucas, nominee for United States senator, have their own rooms as a part of his Hotel Morrison headquarters. Some of his friends conjecture that he may tell those candidates that if they are to have headquarters at the Hotel Sherman as part of the Horner-Courtney program they won't need rooms at the Morrison. But cooler heads are ready to advise against such a wide open split as dangerous for the county ticket as well as the state ticket.

Fear Serious Hostilities.

Unless some substantial agreement is reached about this matter of headquarters and also about the question of the financing of the Cook county campaign for the state candidates it is believed there may be serious hostilities at the Springfield convention. The experts say that if a break comes, Nash and his allies will have the voting power to control the convention and to write the platform.

Because of this situation, Republicans even now are giving almost as much attention to the Democratic meeting as they are to their own two days hence. They believe that failure to heal the present breach among the Democrats will aid Republican chances materially in November.

Many preliminaries for the Republican convention have been completed. A platform, subject to change and considered certain to be altered extensively, has been drafted after exhaustive consideration which, it is believed, will facilitate final adoption.

Richard J. Lyons, nominee for United States senator, who will deliver the big speech of the day, will go to Peoria tonight for conferences before the convention. Among those he will meet are State Senator Simon E. Lantz, nominee for congressman at large, and Edward A. Lartz, president of the Springfield Federation of Labor, who are the other principal speakers. They will talk for agriculture and labor.

The other nominees on the state ticket probably will speak briefly.

June Knight and Arthur Arden Cameron after their wedding at Beverly Hills, Cal.

Beverly Hills, Cal., Aug. 28.—(AP)—June Knight, stage and screen actress, and Arthur Arden Cameron, wealthy Houston, Tex., oil man, were married in a church ceremony here last night. Miss Knight, 25 years old, and her husband, 38, first met in Hollywood a few months ago. Both had been married once before. In 1934 Miss Knight married Paul Ames, millionaire broker, but left him after twelve days and obtained a divorce in Florida.

Washington, Ind., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Response to Homer E. Capehart's plea for Republicans to stop talking and do something about ending the régime of President Roosevelt and his burocrats was nationwide today. Capehart, a business man and farmer, made his plea yesterday before 50,000 persons assembled on his farm here to open the fall campaign.

Telegrams, phone calls, and personal visits kept Capehart busy all day. The messages congratulated him for his enterprise in attempting to stir the G. O. P. out of the lethargy of the last few years. Pledges of support and continuation of his action were received from thousands.

County Republica chairmen called during the day to say they would have Capehart's speech, in which he accused President Roosevelt of false leadership, printed and distributed by the thousands to workers throughout Indiana.

TELL WORKINGS OF POLICY GAME RACKET IN CITY

Courtney's Squads Quiz 20 Seized in Raids.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

If there is a policy king in Chicago's colored district his identity was not discovered by State's Attorney Courtney's ax raiders in yesterday's early morning sally into policyland.

Benjamin Nelson.

No one in Chicago has achieved control of the policy, or numbers, racket such as was credited to the late Dutch Schultz in New York's Harlem. Assistant State's Attorneys Richard Devine and Benjamin Nelson declared after the raids.

Prosecutor Courtney's policemen, slightly weary from a vigorous ax-swinging campaign in nineteen horse betting handbooks scattered over the city, diverted their attention to the colored policy players at 1 a. m. yesterday. They again swung their axes, demolishing all the breakable material they found in four places.

Guns and Knives Taken.

Along with twenty prisoners the police took fifteen pistols and revolvers found on the premises and a box filled with pocket knives that had been deposited by their owners in the cloakrooms of the policy banks.

Three policy banks were found in one large apartment building on the northeast corner of 51st street and Michigan avenue. One was reached through the entrance to 104 East 51st street, another through the entrance to 108, and the third had its entrance around the corner at 5051 Michigan avenue. The fourth place raided was in a basement at 4711 Michigan avenue.

There were about 200 persons at each bank, assembled for drawings scheduled for 1:30 a. m. Prosecutors Devine and Nelson, after questioning those arrested, learned that the assemblages consisted only of runners, or ticket sellers.

Determined by Drawing.

The drawings would determine which of their clients were winners. If their clients profited they, too, would profit, as they receive a percentage of all winnings. Their commission is 25 per cent of what they collect, it was revealed, and it was said the average runner collects about $10 a day. A share of the winnings is in addition to his commission.

The state's attorney's aids said the game is operated here in much the same fashion as has been described in the current trial in New York City of James J. Hines, Tammany political boss who is accused of having furnished political protection to the policy ring that operated there.

The difference, they said, is that here policy playing is confined almost entirely to the colored district, while in New York policy runners made daily canvasses of the homes of whites as well as Negroes. The runners take bets from 1 cent up, and the capital prize pays off at 600 to 1, although the odds against the player are 1,000 to 1.

The winning number is selected by the turn of a wheel. Payoffs are also prescribed for those who bet on numbers which have one or two digits corresponding with those of the number drawn. The runners depart immediately after each drawing and pay off any winning customers.

As far as could be learned, the drawings are honest. Unlike the policy racketeers of New York, who admittedly manipulated numbers so heavily played combinations would not win, Chicago's policy operators are satisfied with the natural percentages in their favor. Any one who so desires is permitted to spin the wheel to decide the winning numbers, the seized employés declared.

Several Rings Operating.

The raiders said they were told there are several policy rings operating on Chicago's south side, and possibly among the Negroes on the west side. There are three drawings a day, the raiders said, at noon, 6:30 p. m. and 1:30 a. m.

For years, it was explained, the policy rings have played an important part in the politics of the colored district. Police said the policy organization included precinct captains and their precinct workers. Inasmuch as policy and politics were intertwined and one was dependent upon the other the Negro policy bosses became Democrats when Democratic administrations came into power, the police of the district stated.

In recent years, it was explained, city policemen paid little attention to policy rings. They strove to suppress crime and apprehend criminals, according to an explanation given yesterday, and contended that Negro gambling was petty and not under the control of any white syndicate.

Therefore it was a surprise to the district when the ax men suddenly appeared. Lieut. Thomas Kelly, in charge of the raiders, divided them into squads and they struck simultaneously.

All Operated Separately.

The three parlors in the building at 51st street and Michigan avenue were operated as separate businesses. Prosecutor Devine said he was told that Ira Kelly, colored, was the owner of at least one of them and possibly of all. The place at 4711 Michigan avenue was said to have been operated by Edward and George Jones, brothers, both colored. The names, as far as Devine could learn, have meant nothing in Negro politics.

The Jones brothers are said to own and operate thirty automobiles for the use of their runners. The runners make the rounds three times a day, bringing in the bets for each drawing and hurrying back to pay off. They are said to work in shifts.

Collectors Grab Up Tiny Liquor Bottles to Beat Sales Deadline

Chicagoans and other residents of Illinois who have been indulging in the pleasant but peculiar hobby of collecting miniature bottles of liquor may do so for only four more months. Sale of liquor in the tiny, and often fantastically shaped containers will be illegal in the state starting Jan. 1.

This was made known by the state liquor commission yesterday. Its first intention had been to ban the sale of liquor in miniature bottles on Sept. 1, next Thursday. For some reason—perhaps compassion for the collectors—they extended the ban to the first of the coming year. A definite rush to beat the deadline was in evidence.

While retail sales are permissible until that time, wholesale dealings in the miniatures must stop Sept. 1.

There are probably 5,000 collectors of miniature bottles of liquor in Chicago. Many haven't the slightest interest in their alcoholic contents. What counts with them is the shape and size of the bottle. The most common miniatures are shaped like full sized, respectable bottles. The most highly desired are the so-called circus bottles which are shaped like elephants, chickens, ostriches, pigs, and so on. These are imported. They contain from 1.6 to 4 ounces of liquor.

Prices range from 10 cents to $5 each. Really rare bottles bring more. Collectors' prices probably will soar after Jan. 1, it was predicted. The largest collection is said to be Charles May's. A distillery executive, he owns 2,500 miniatures.

Herman J. Elkins, manager of a liquor store at 2401 Madison street, has 900, and Ben Landsman, manager of a store at 6708 Northwest highway, has ninety. Once he had 200. The decline from 200 to ninety was due to human elements, he explained.

"I have friends," he said. "Some of them got thirsty. They merely wanted to sample the contents of one bottle or another. A little sample here and a little sample there, and—well, that's why I've only got ninety bottles now."

In 5½ years, the Roosevelt administration has spent more than 20 billion dollars for relief, work relief and pump priming, increasing the national debt by approximately the same amount. In the first fifty-six days of the present fiscal year, from July 1 to Aug. 25, inclusive, the government spent $1,335,561,473, with a deficit of $579,335,630. With the full swing of the spending and lending, pump priming program yet to come, expenditures progressed during the first fifty-six days of the fiscal year at the rate of $23,849,312 a day, approximately $1,000,000 an hour or $16,562 a minute.

President Roosevelt has estimated the deficit for the current fiscal year at four billion dollars, while Senator Harry Flood Byrd [D., Va.], whose estimates heretofore have been far more accurate, puts it at five billion dollars.

Average of Three Dependents.

In arriving at the total of 43,000,000 as representing the number receiving assistance from the federal treasury the total of 3,038,908 working on WPA projects and the number of workers on all other construction projects with the exception of the National Youth administration and the Civilian Conservation corps are multiplied by four. The WPA itself estimates that the average WPA worker has three dependents.

The NYA and the CCC employ only young, single persons, whose families necessarily benefit thereby. CCC enrollees, in fact, are required to send a stipulated portion of their monthly $30 checks home. Nevertheless, this computation of 43,000,000 beneficiaries of the federal government includes no dependents of CCC and NYA enrollees.

The total of 43,000,000 includes 18,000,000 members of farm families benefitted by soil conservation and "price adjustment" subsidies and 256,639 members of farm families receiving subsistence grants from the Farm Security administration. The Agricultural Adjustment administration estimates the number of farmers on the benefit payment rolls at 4,000,000 and the number of members of their families at 18,000,000.

Get Federal Subsidies.

The 4,000,000 farmers receiving soil conservation and "price adjustment" subsidies will participate in a distribution of 839 million dollars in government money this year. To the regular dispensation of 500 million in soil conservation payments, the last session of congress added 212 million dollars for so-called "parity" or "price adjustment" payments for compliance with the new farm dictatorship act. Also, a total of 127 million dollars in price adjustment subsidies on the 1937 cotton crop will go out during September. Payments on the 1938 crop, including all major commodities, will be well under way before November.

This computation of government beneficiaries does not take into consideration the government price pegging loans on cotton, wheat, and corn, since the figures would be duplicated by those representing recipients of government subsidies.

Armed Service Men Excluded.

Since many federal employés are single, the total of 857,520 on the civil list of the executive branch is multiplied by three instead of four to give a total of 2,572,560 as the number dependent upon such government checks. This figure does not include the 328,744 officers and men in the army, navy, marine corps, and coast guard, nor the employés of the legislative and judicial branches of the government, the number of which would not be affected by a change in administration.

The figure of 43,000,000 makes no allowance for dependents of veterans or for dependents of deceased veterans receiving pensions. Undoubtedly many such dependents are benefitted, but accurate statistics are not available.

The computation makes no allowance for the families of persons receiving old age asistance or old age annuity checks, for the families of dependent children or for the families of persons receiving blind aid under the social security program.

The total of 43,000,000 does include the dependents, estimated at 2,881,796, of the 720,449 individuals receiving unemployment compensation checks averaging $10.70 a week.

With the exception of the veterans' pensioners and about 65 per cent of the pay rollers in the executive branch of the government, all of the classes receiving treasury checks as shown by the foregoing table have been added under the Roosevelt administration. In 1932, the last full year under President Hoover, there were only 1,460,000 individuals receiving government checks, including 560,000 federal employés in the executive branch and 900,000 veterans and dependents of deceased veterans.

By 1934, the first congressional election year under the Roosevelt administration, the number of individual checks being distributed by the treasury had been increased to almost 10,000,000 by the subsidies under the old AAA program and the works projects of the PWA and the civil works administration.

By 1936, the presidential election year, the number of individuals receiving government checks had increased to approximately 11,000,000. In 1938, another congressional election year, the total is up to 13⅓ million and still increasing.

Get Government Cash

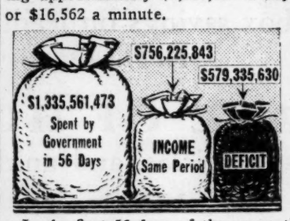
The federal government is spending approximately $1,000,000 a day or $16,562 a minute.



In the first 56 days of the present fiscal year, from July 1 to Aug. 25, the government spent more than a half billion dollars in excess of its income.

BOOST IN RELIEF EFFICIENCY SEEN IN NEW SYSTEM

Central Office Proves Its Merit in a Week.

A 75 per cent increase in efficiency may be obtained through investigating applications for relief at a central bureau under business management. This was indicated yesterday by figures released by Leo M. Lyons, Chicago relief administrator. The figures were based on the first week's operation of the experimental central intake station.

The Chicago relief administration [CRA] opened this office to interview applicants on Aug. 15. It was established on the recommendation of the Illinois council on public assistance and unemployment, headed by Walter Gregory.

Shift Applicants for WPA.

All non-relief applicants for WPA work were shifted from the nineteen district offices to the central station. However, on Sept. 19, the bureau will begin receiving applications for direct relief from the Bridgeport district and absorb additional districts when feasible.

In its report recommending creation of the central bureau, the Gregory committee suggested that the CRA could improve its administration if the emphasis in determining need for relief were shifted from social service to business efficiency.

Lyons said the central office averaged 1,130 applications a day for the first week, compared with 1,500 a day when district offices handled all requests. Only 136 employés were needed to interview the 6,782 persons at the central bureau, compared with 262 under the old system.

Greater Efficiency Seen.

The district system handled up to 3,000 preliminary and final interviews a day. The central office, when it reaches maximum efficiency, will be able to handle 4,000 daily with a 40 per cent saving in man power. Thus far the central office's peak for both types of interview is 1,900 last Monday.

Lyons said that in receiving 11,749 applications to date the central intake has turned no one away and kept no one waiting more than an hour. District offices sometimes were forced to close their doors.

At the central intake office twelve marshals direct the newcomers at an uninterrupted pace to eighteen desk stalls where preliminary interviewers ask standard questions aimed solely at determining the person's need.

The district system, under the supervision of social service workers, required the interviewer to leave her closed booth to summon the next in line. She set her own pace, and often left the booth empty. The central interviewers are allowed five minutes rest every 90 minutes or so.

REP. McFARLANE IS DEFEATED IN TEXAS RUNOFF

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Congressman W. D. McFarlane, one of President Roosevelt's friends, was defeated for renomination in the 13th district run-off primary yesterday. Ed Gossett, an attorney 35 years old and former oil field worker, led McFarlane by over 2,000 votes. The vote for Gossett was 29,782; McFarlane, 27,444.

The 3d district run-off gave Lindley Beckworth 29,274 votes to 26,137 for Brady Gentry. Congressman Morgan G. Sanders was eliminated in the first primary contest for renomination. Nomination of Beckworth, which in Texas amounts to election, will send to the house of representatives one of the youngest members ever to seek the office. Beckworth is 26 years old.

U. S. Bar Group to Study Labor and Social Security

Frank J. Hogan, president of the American Bar association, yesterday announced the appointment of a committee to study legal problems in the labor and social security fields. The members are Judge William L. Ransom of New York, chairman; Henry Epstein, solicitor general of New York state; Hedley V. Richardson of Detroit, Herman L. Ekern of Chicago, and Clif Langsdale of Kansas City.

Twins in Convention

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

The oldest twins attending convention hold the youngest. Rosella (left) and Estrella Dille, 83 years old, with Jeanne and Joanne Gosiakowski, 12 weeks.

All types of twins were picked for prizes yesterday at the close of the International Twin association's convention in the Morrison hotel.

There were prizes for the oldest twins, the youngest, the most beautiful girl twins, the most handsome men twins, the most identical and the unidentical, the twins with the best hair dress and the twins who traveled the longest distance.

Oldest honors went to Rosella and Estrella Dille, aged 83, and youngest honors to Jeanne and Joanne Gesiakowski, aged 12 weeks. The most identical honors went to the Maenza girls of Birmingham, Ala.; the best hairdress to the blonde Chesser sisters of Chicago, and the farthest traveled honors to the Manning girls of St. Petersburg, Fla.

And the most handsome award went to the Doonan brothers. They're Chicago cops.

Dewey, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Twenty farmers will compete in the first eastern Illinois plowing match to be held Wednesday on the G. C. Williams farm two miles southeast of here.

HOPKINS LAYS BERRY CHARGES TO WPA REBUFF

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Harry L. Hopkins, denying charges of Senator George L. Berry [D., Tenn.] of illegal political activity in Tennessee's Works Progress administration, told a senate committee today that Berry made the accusations after he had tried and failed to obtain control of the state's WPA personnel.

In a letter to Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.], chairman of the committee investigating senatorial campaign expenditures, the national WPA administrator said Berry began trying to get appointees of his own choosing placed in charge of the relief organization immediately after his appointment to the senate.

Last week the senator wrote the campaign funds committee that two WPA officials in Tennessee "were in fact, but not in name, the campaign directors" of the forces which defeated him for renomination in the state's Democratic primary.

GREEN CHARGES CONSPIRACY TO U. S. LABOR BOARD

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 28.—(AP)—President William Green of the A. F. of L. charged the National Labor Relations board today with a part in a "conspiracy" to violate the Wagner act. He made the charge because of the labor board's sanction of an agreement signed by the C. I. O.'s United Mine Workers union and the Harlan County [Ky.] Coal Operators' association.

The A. F. of L. chief denounced the agreement as a "brazen and unlawful alliance" because he said it denied the rival Progressive Miners of America [A. F. of L.] their Wagner act right to organize in "Bloody Harlan County."

Green also charged that C. I. O. Chairman John L. Lewis is using government agencies to recruit members for his mine workers organization.

BURNS ARE FATAL.

CLERK IN LIQUOR STORE SHOOTS 2 IN BRAWL; 1 DIES

Leonard A. Smart, 35 years old, 3543 Walnut street, a stove trucker, was shot and fatally wounded last night during a brawl in the Albany Liquor store at 3039 Madison street. A bystander was slightly wounded. They were shot by Irwin Lans, 23, of 5200 Sheridan road, a clerk in the store.

According to stories told to Warren avenue police, Smart and a friend, John Eaton, 27, of 3101 Congress street, bought a bottle of liquor in the store, and then started a fight when denied the use of the store's rest room. Lans threw Smart out of the store, and Louis Cherno, 2629 Evergreen avenue, threw Eaton out.

One of the two men allegedly hurled a brick through the store window. Lans ran out with a gun and fired several shots. Two struck Smart. A third hit Paul DeMargio, 35, of 3101 Madison street, in the left foot. DeMargio was standing across the street. He was taken to the Washington Boulevard hospital. Smart died in the County hospital. Lans told police he fired in fear Smart and Eaton would assault him.

POSES AS CUSTOMER; ROBS STORE.

MOST BALDNESS CAUSED BY 'GUESSING'

BALDNESS is preventable in about 90% of all cases. Most men become bald because they guess at the causes of their hair-loss and then apply guesswork lotions or treatments.

Thomas treatment effectively prevents baldness because it replaces guesswork with scientific accuracy and precision. When a Thomas expert examines your scalp he determines exactly which of the 14 local scalp disorders are causing, or have caused your loss of hair. He then directs the 20-year proved Thomas treatment to overcome those specific causes. Your abnormal hair-fall stops; your dandruff disappears; scalp itch ceases; and new hair starts to grow on the thin and bald spots.

Come in and learn more about this reliable method of scalp treatment. No charge is made for a complete scalp examination.

Breaks 33 Day Deadlock; 12 Divisions Repelled.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 29.—[Monday.]—(AP)—The Japanese Yangtze valley drive toward Hankow moved forward today with the invaders announcing the capture of Liuan, a gateway to Honan province.

A communique from the front said an unceasing, twenty-four hour artillery bombardment battered down resistance of twelve Chinese divisions which withdrew west of Liuan, an Anhwei province town which is north of the Yangtze river.

Take Neighboring Town.

The Japanese reported another break in the thirty-three day stalemate on the Yangtze front came with the capture of Sukiafow, a neighboring town southwest of Liuan. From there the Japanese said they were crossing the Pei river to continue their westward thrust.

Chinese military leaders said their lines held on all other fronts despite the major offensive launched on Friday by the Japanese in an effort to proceed toward Hankow, China's provisional capital, before winter.

The Chinese said the Japanese sacrificed many troops in the general assault which they reported failed to make any headway on the south bank of the Yangtze.

Battle on Shore of Lake.

In the Singtze sector, on the west bank of Poyang lake, the Chinese reported the recapture of Niuweiteng, a town south of Singtze. Heavy hand-to-hand fighting was reported in this area. The sector is eighteen miles below Kiukiang, the Yangtze river port 135 miles downstream from Hankow which is the base of Japanese operations.

The Japanese said the spearhead of another force on the north bank of the Yangtze remained at Hwangmei, twenty-five miles north of Kiukiang, awaiting recession of flood waters before striking at the Chinese defences to the northwest.

CALLS OFF DEATH LEAP TO PROVE FIREMAN RIGHT

Shouting that he would leap to his death if any one tried to seize him, an excited man paced the roof of a four story building at 724 South Hermitage avenue yesterday. Police feared to approach lest he carry out his threat. Firemen raised a ladder and Marshal Joseph Sullivan of the 2d division called up to him:

"Say, you'd make a swell fireman!"

Seemingly flattered, the man climbed down the ladder without a word and surrendered to the police. He is John Ling, 24 years old, of 3925 North Hamilton avenue. He had escaped from police custody as he was being taken to the Psychopathic hospital.

Man Who 'Shot' Colorado River Is Trying It Again

Green River, Wyo., Aug. 28.—(AP)—A two-man Colorado river expedition, headed by Buzz Holmstrom, 29 years old, only man to make a solo expedition on the treacherous river, left here yesterday for the Gulf of California, 1,200 miles away. Holmstrom's companion is Amos Berg.

RADIO OPERATES CHINESE REGIME BEHIND JAP LINES

Areas Seized by Invader Still Ruled by Hankow.

SIAN, Shensi Province, China [By Courier to Hankow], Aug. 28.—(AP)—Here in North China, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is believed to be operating the world's first "government by radio."

More than sixty military radio stations are operating in the nominally Japanese controled provinces of Hopei and Shansi, sending and receiving political orders from the head of the Central Chinese government. Through these stations Chiang Kai-shek directs an undercover army of Chinese guerrillas who farm by day and fight by night.

The headquarters of sixteen guerrilla armies report their rolls include 280,000 farmers equipped for the most part with rusty carbines and hand grenades. Some have a few pieces of artillery, mortars, and steel helmets.

Soldiers Live Off Land.

Thirty village arsenals in Hopei and Shansi are producing grenades from scrap iron and homemade gun powder.

At the South Shansi field headquarters of Gen. Chu Teh, commander of China's former communist armies, the famed leader said he believed the Chinese mobile units supplied with local food and ammunition from the village arsenals could continue to resist the Japanese for at least ten years.

"In China the Japanese have no front lines," the general said, "only a spiderweb of railroads and large cities, leaving the countryside under Chinese control."

Chu Teh compared the situation with a hypothetical invasion of the United States, in which an alien army occupied the Northern and Southern Pacific railroads permitting Americans to maneuver between them.

Rails Useless for Trade.

In the northern Chinese provinces which are nominally controled by the Japanese, Chu Teh said Japanese hold 2,300 miles of railroads and that "their authority extends no farther than their cannon fire." This, he said, leaves more than a half million Chinese soldiers and armed partisans to operate in the hinterland.

The railroads, he said, were not essential to this predominantly agricultural area, while on the other hand they were useless commercially to Japan without trade from the countryside.

Traveling from village to village in Hopei and Shansi provinces, one finds that Japanese authority extends no more than three miles from the railroads.

PURGE OF SOVIET NAVY URGED TO TURN OUT 'OLD SCHOOL' LEADERS

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The navy newspaper Red Fleet stressed today the necessity of purging soviet naval strategy of destructive theories.

Enemies of the people working both within and without the walls of the naval academy, the newspaper's article said, "tried to create doubt in the minds of young commanders in connection with the possibility of building an invincible soviet navy."

The newspaper asserted these agents were found among adherents of the so-called "old school" of naval strategists who "devoted themselves to modernization of the theoretical baggage they inherited from theoreticians of the czarist navy" or advocated ideas absorbed from "strategical essays of foreign bourgeois naval theoreticians."

Ringleaders of these enemies of the people which it alleged operated under instructions of foreign intelligence services had been unmasked by political police, the newspaper said.

Lindberghs Visit Kiev; See Anti-Religious Museum

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh flew from Rostov-on-Don to Kiev today for a two day stop on their flight by easy stages from Moscow to Czechoslovakia. The soviet radio said they spent several hours visiting Kiev's anti-religious museum. Tomorrow they will go for a boat ride on the Dnieper river and will fly Tuesday to Odessa.

DEATH OF REGENT OPENS NEW FIGHT TO GOVERN TIBET

All Three Principal Rulers of Land Are Dead.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 28.—(AP)—New complications in the tangled affairs of the "forbidden land" of Tibet were reported today in advices from foreign missionaries on the Tibetan border.

Black area locates "forbidden land" of Tibet.

They reported the death of the jaltsah, or regent, through whom the Dalai Lama, or political pontiff of Tibet acted. Tibet thus is without three key figures. The thirteenth Dalai Lama died in December, 1933; the Panchen Lama, who ranked as spiritual ruler of the country but who had been in exile since 1924, died in November, 1937.

The regent's death, the missionaries reported, precipitated a struggle for domination of the country among the gurda, or landed gentry, the young Tibetan party, the heads of three large monasteries near Lhasa, Tibetan capital, and the army.

The advices said an attempted revolt in the army had been crushed but that the rebel leader escaped and was continuing to foment trouble.

Since the Dalai Lama died, a search has been carried on for the child whom Buddhists believe would be the lama's reincarnation.

Tibet, nominally a republic owing allegiance to China, has been practically an independent state since the 1912 revolt led by the Dalai Lama.

Rites for the Panchen Lama still are being carried out at Kanze, on the Tibetan-Chinese border, with the late dignitary's army followers still unable to obtain permission to transport the body into Tibet for burial.

EXPLOSION OF MINE IN YANGTZE RIVER JARS U. S. GUNBOAT

HONGKONG, Aug 29 [Monday].—(AP)—The United States gunboat Monocacy was shaken but not damaged by the explosion of a mine in the upper Yangtze at Japanese occupied Kiukiang, advices from Kiukiang said today. The explosion occurred Saturday afternoon.

The commander, Lieut. C. V. Conlan, made representations to the Japanese vice consul. The vice consul replied that American and other foreign warships in the area were there at their own risk.

The bodies of fourteen Chinese victims of the Japanese machine gunning of a Chinese-American owned airliner in South China were reported recovered yesterday from the sunken wreckage. The plane was shot down on Wednesday.

The only American, Hugh L. Woods, pilot of the plane, and four other occupants were the only persons who escaped alive. United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew protested in Tokio against the attack.

Tavern Watchman Shoots Burglar Rifling Cash Box

A burglar emptying the cash drawer in Leo Staruska's tavern in Chicago road, Glenwood, was shot early today by Charles Ramons, the tavern watchman. In a critical condition from shotgun slugs in the chest, he was taken to St. James hospital, Chicago Heights. Papers in the thief's pockets bore the name Peter Hageveen, and Sergt. Anton Paulus of the Homewood county highway police said that Staruska had later identified him as a man of that name living in Thornton.

ASK INDICTMENT TOMORROW OF TRIANGLE SLAYER

The grand jury tomorrow will be asked to indict Rudolph Sikora for murder. Leslie J. Curtis, assistant state's attorney, said last night that the case was clear and that he will demand the death penalty.

Sikora pumped five shots from an automatic pistol into Edward Solomon on a street corner last Monday. Solomon, 35 years old, had been going with Sikora's wife, Margaret, 22, despite the husband's warnings.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

MOODS IN THE MAKING

By CALEB

SOONER OR LATER, walking in our store, you will come upon a little group of men who stand and squint along the contours of a wall, or stretch narrow steel tapes across a threshold. They will be apt to sight with one eye, gesture with a free arm and fumble for old envelopes on which to pencil hieroglyphics and sketch with absorbed intensity.

And if you were to visit that same spot a week or so later you would not recognize it. This wall would be gone, that doorway changed—and a whole new motif in form, color, and utility installed in fine completeness. This goes on endlessly—and for a very good reason.

The merchandise we buy is replete with possibilities. A part of our function is to picture for you those possibilities in the clearest, most concise manner that we can. We must approximate the world of good taste and culture to which you will transport the things you choose from our displays to install in your home or utilize in personal adornment.

And so this group of men plans endlessly. Each one must know the fashions that Paris will decree almost as soon as our stylists. Lighting, color, mood, contours—all must be skillfully applied to a single purpose.

The cool, aloof beauty of magnificent furs needs a background of dignity and simplicity. High fashions have their own motif—reminiscent of the great salons in which they were born. Simple cotton frocks, sweeping formal gowns, brisk, sunny sports clothes, dainty layettes, the carnival spirit of toys, quiet tearooms, glittering household utilities, sedate antiques, dark backgrounds for the moonbeam sheen of sterling silver pieces, the oriental flavor for Chinese porcelains, and the doubling, black reflection for sparkling crystal ware.

The list continues almost endlessly, and it takes the steady, organized efforts of many men to maintain its items properly. Next time you see them in the store, pause and watch them as they sketch and measure—you will be in at the start of some new plan, some interesting change in the process of development.

AUTOIST RESENTS PARKING ORDER; KNIFES ENGINEER

Victim's Throat Slashed at 2d Ward Outing.

Robert Mandl, an assistant trafic engineer for the park district, was slashed on the throat and dangerously wounded last night when he remonstrated with a motorist in the parking lot off the 31st street beach.

Robert Mandl.

The knifeman, an unidentified Negro, escaped on foot. Mandl, who is about 45 years old, and lives at 1638 South Austin avenue, Cicero, with his wife and a small daughter, was taken to the Michael Reese hospital. His condition is critical.

Democratic Picnic in Progress.

The slashing occurred at the height of a lake front outing at the 31st street beach under the auspices of the 2d ward regular Democratic organization. Most of those at the picnic were colored.

Mandl was in charge of the parking lot, maintained by the park district, and was supervising the parking of cars. The colored man parked his car, and alighted. Mandl approached him and told him he had not parked properly. The motorist suddenly lunged at him with a knife, cutting Mandl's throat. James Hines, colored, of 3249 Wabash avenue, was the only witness.

Vanishes in Gathering Crowd.

"I noticed a commotion," said Hines," and found Mandl holding his throat. I saw the man with the knife walk into the crowd that gathered, and disappear. A woman said to him, 'You shouldn't have cut up that man that way.'"

Park Policeman Joseph Dooley was called. He took Mandl to the hospital.

RADIO REGATTA ATTRACTS 10,000 TO LAKE FRONT

Chicago's first radio regatta, sponsored by Mayor Kelly's New Century committee, was held along the lake front all day yesterday.

Five hundred yachts and sailboats paraded from Jackson park and Wilson avenue beaches, converging in the afternoon off Ohio street near Navy pier. Then more than 10,000 persons lined the shore until midnight to see boat races, demonstrations by the coast guard, sea scouts, and the fireboat Fred A. Busse, and exhibitions of aquaplaning, water skiing, and sailing.

Coöperating with the mayor's New Century committee was the park district. George T. Donoghue, general superintendent of the park district, supervised the regatta. The entire show was directed by a two way radio system and featured ship to shore conversations broadcast to assembled thousands over a loud speaker system near Ohio street.

TAKES GAS AFTER WARNING AGAINST USE OF MATCHES

In death John Bradley sought to protect others. When Bradley, a railroad switchtender, failed to report for work yesterday, a fellow worker called at his home at 14826 Robey street, Harvey. The doors were locked and a note on one warned: "Don't light any matches." Police, who broke in later to find Bradley dead, a suicide by gas, said the house was filled with fumes and a burning match might have caused an explosion. Bradley's wife and two young daughters were away. He was 35 years old.

Jean Diesel (left) and Elaine Mulligan show how they won't travel to the New York fair and the San Francisco exposition.

Chicago's two New Century queens said last night they were eager to start on their regal duties. They admitted, however, they'd have to wait until next year.

The queens, blonde Elaine Mulligan and brunette Jean Diesel, were chosen Saturday to represent Chicago at the New York World's Fair and the San Francisco Golden Gate exposition, both in 1939.

Incidentally, it has not yet been decided which queen will go to what fair.

PLAINFIELD JAIL LOSES 2 GUESTS AND REPUTATION

Police of the village, ten miles north of Joliet, blame James McElroy, a plumbing contractor, of 1656 North Luna avenue, and Attorney Thomas Brisch of 941 Clinton place, River Forest.

Saturday night Policeman Charles Countryman decided McElroy and Brisch weren't driving carefully enough and took them to the jail.

Countryman said that Brisch pushed the stove over and it fell apart.

With a piece of the stove, according to the policeman, the lawyer smashed the lock that held McElroy in a cell.

Then windows were smashed, bars were bent, and locks were ruined. Policeman Countryman called in Plainfield citizens who helped subdue the prisoners. Policeman Countryman then sent McElroy and Brisch to the Will county jail at Joliet. They were freed on bond to appear before Justice of the Peace Dominick Romano today.

KILLS MAN SHE FEARED TO LOSE; FAILS IN SUICIDE

Kankakee, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Mrs. Rena Beland is in a serious condition tonight as the result of a shooting in which she killed Clemon Cooley early today and then fired a bullet into her head. She is 28 years old. He was 31. They have been living in Kankakee. Fearing he meant to desert her for another woman, she shot him when they sat in his parked car on a country road. Then she drove him to St. Mary's hospital here in the vain hope of saving his life. When being questioned about the shooting she shot herself.

HE ASKED FOR IT! PERMANENT JOB LASTS 56 YEARS

Ernest John Bleimes made it quite clear that he wanted permanent work when he applied for his first job. The North Western railroad took him seriously. He will retire Thursday as chief clerk in the railroad's purchasing department—after fifty-six years of service.

Mr. Bleimes is 71 years old. He lives at 322 Washington boulevard, Oak Park. Still in his teens when he took the job, he didn't realize how much permanent work was going to interfere with his golf. Now he will catch up on his game.

CAREFUL DRIVERS SAVE 5,310 FROM DEATH IN NATION

Fatalities Drop for Ninth Consecutive Month.

For nine consecutive months, since last November, there has been a reduction in motor vehicle deaths in the United States. A summary of the national safety council points out that the nation even came through the bugaboo of July 4 with a 21 per cent reduction in fatalities under July of last year.

The total saving in lives for the nine months was 5,310. In the seven months of 1938 alone the saving was 4,520 lives. There were 730 lives saved in July, usually the worst month of the year for trafic fatalities.

1938 Decline is 22 Per Cent.

The decrease for this year was 22 per cent compared to the deaths for the first seven months of 1937. By months, the saving was:

November, 300; December, 490; January, 500; February, 470; March, 620; April, 490; May, 900; June, 810, and July 730.

The council points out that the fatalities decrease cannot be explained on the ground of decreased trafic. Actually, highway trafic for the first six months of this year increased about 1 per cent. Mileage figures for July and subsequent months are not yet available.

Ominous Note Lingers.

There was still an ominous note in the figures, however. In July, as usual, the number of deaths showed a big increase over June. The increase was 2,740, or 26 per cent. It also was just twice the average July increase for the last five years.

This can be partially explained, the council said, by the June figure, which was exceptionally low. The July total was the lowest for any July since 1932. Total deaths for the first seven months of 1938 were the lowest since 1933.

The improvement was widespread. Thirty-nine states and 307 cities in every section of the country equaled or surpassed their 1937 safety marks.

TIRE BLOWS OUT; AUTOS COLLIDE; SIX ARE INJURED

Six persons were injured last night in a head-on automobile collision in route 66 [Joliet road] about two miles west of the Cook county line in Du Page county. Those injured are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sollar, 2246 Burling street, and Mrs. Sollar's sister, Miss Joan Skak of Orient, Ill., who were in one car, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Egert and their son James, 4 years old, of Geneseo, Ill., in the other. The accident occurred when a front tire on Sollar's car blew out.

Aids Another; Hit by Car.

Jerry Dailey, 69 years old, 1812 Cedar road, Harvey, was seriously injured last night by a hit and run car at 174th and Halsted streets, Homewood, and another man was injured by another car as he ran to Dailey's aid. He was Robert Martin, 49, a resident employé at the Washington Park race track.

Martin saw Dailey struck and ran across the street to pick him up. He in turn was run down by a machine driven by George George, 19, of 143 East 157th street, Harvey. Martin's right leg was broken. He and Dailey, who suffered leg and skull fractures, were taken to St. James' hospital, Chicago Heights.

Eight Victims in Hospital.

Eight members of a hay ride party were still in Gary hospitals yesterday as the result of a collision in which a Northwestern university co-ed was killed Saturday night. The most seriously injured are Miss Ann Stephen, 19 years old, and Eldon Linginger, 27, of Gary, and Miss Harriet McCandles, 20, of Pittsburgh, Pa. The girl who was killed was Miss Ann North, 22, of Webster Grove, Mo.

The hay ride party had just driven out on United States highway 12 from Ogden dunes when the wagon was struck by a truck driven by Charles Lenzille of Benton Harbor, Mich. Members of the party, mostly college students, were hurled along the highway.

Searching for the hit and run driver whose car killed Nick Harbus of 2333 North Hamilton avenue near Wheeling Saturday night, Chief Raymond Lesch of the Wheeling police arrested Joseph Gahlbeck of Palatine yesterday. Gahlbeck denied his car killed Harbus. He was locked up on charges of manslaughter and leaving the scene of an accident.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 526 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 402 were killed in Chicago, where 12,569 were injured in the same period.

C. I. O. WAREHOUSE FIGHT EXPECTED TO SPREAD TODAY

Hot Cargo Will Be Sent to Wholesale Places.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 28.—(AP)—A hot cargo freight car—symbol of a dispute between employers and C. I. O. warehouse men—is to resume its move through the San Francisco wholesale district tomorrow, spreading industrial paralysis.

More than 2,000 workers and 153 plants are idle as the result of movement of the freight car, which is half filled with school supplies.

Warehouse men at each plant refused to unload the car. Their employers discharged them for failing to obey orders. Then each operator closed his plant.

Dry Goods Places Next.

Five classifications of warehouses—public, grocery, liquor, drugs, and hardware—were tied up. Dry goods places were reported to be next on the freight car's visiting card.

The car became the symbol of the dispute when employés of the F. W. Woolworth company warehouse, striking for a renewed contract, said it had been loaded by strike-breakers.

Employers replied that the car had been loaded by the plant manager and his assistants, and demanded the union men handle the goods or be discharged.

In closing their warehouses the employers declared union contracts abrogated. They posted notices that union membership no longer would be a condition of employment, but that wages, hours, and working conditions would be the same as under the abrogated contracts.

Closing Called Lockout.

Eugene Paton, president of the warehouse men's union, called the employers' action a lockout and an open shop move. He filed charges of Wagner act violation against public warehouses.

Marshall Madison, attorney for the association, charged the union with being guilty of stoppage of work and insubordination.

Three Colored Men Shot by Unidentified Gunman

Three colored men were shot in two separate shootings on the south side by an apparently demented gunman last night. He also is colored. He shot William Corbin, 37 years old, 4715 Prairie avenue, in the back and right arm in front of 4720 Prairie avenue. Nearly an hour later in the same locality he shot Oscar Howard, 30, 215 East 46th street, in the hip, and Leroy Cobb, 39, of the 46th street address, in the back. Corbin, Howard, and Cobb were taken to Provident hospital.

Fish Pulls Danish Prince Into Sea; Angler Saves Him

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 28.—Prince Axel, cousin of King Christian X. of Denmark, had a narrow escape today while boating off Elsinore. The 50 year old prince was aiding an angler throw a line round a 400 pound tuna fish and was dragged from his boat into the water. The skilful angler, however, saved the prince and also dragged the fish aboard.

No Office Seeker

JOHN COOLIDGE.

Orange, Conn., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—John Coolidge, who was elected a delegate to the Republican state convention yesterday, denied today that he will seek a full time career in politics. The son of the late President Calvin Coolidge said, "That's not for me," when asked if he would run for office.

N. SHORE PEACE PLANS TO GO TO SPRAGUE TODAY

Federal conciliators today will confer with Receiver A. A. Sprague of the North Shore railroad in an attempt to end the strike which has halted operations since Aug. 16. They also will try to advance a plan to give the striking workers receivers' certificates for a 15 per cent wage cut.

Harry L. Scheck, department of labor conciliator, said he would have a plan to present to Sprague at the conference. He would not disclose what it is. Accompanying him will be John A. Moffitt and the Rev. John F. Haas.

The plan to give the strikers certificates redeemable in cash for the amount of the wage cut, when and if revenue makes this possible, will be offered to representatives of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The RFC lent $2,000,000 to the railroad and hence must approve the plan for it to be practicable, according to Martin P. Durkin, state director of labor. Durkin also is acting as a conciliator.

FOUND FATALLY INJURED.

An unidentified man died yesterday in the Physicians' Memorial hospital after he had been found unconscious from a skull fracture in the alley in the rear of 2034 Arthur avenue. He was about 38 years old, 6 feet tall, and weighed 230 pounds. Pictures of an American flag and an eagle were tattooed on his right arm.

THE TRULY GOOD TAKE THEIR BIT.

When the senate committee on campaign expenditures was set up to police political activities this year the natural opinion was that an order for whitewash and buckets had been placed. Such, indeed, may have been the original intention, but Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, the chairman, has developed an uneasiness of conscience, which is to his credit, and an independence of criticism not to the liking of New Dealers who thought their reputations for superior good will and saintly manners would allow them to get by with murder and no indictments.

Senator Sheppard takes a view of law and political morality which is heretical in Washington these days, but the purge cannot get him. It would be impossible for him or his investigators to dig into all the rascality and corruption, hypocrisy, and plain meanness which characterizes the conduct of this campaign by Roosevelt revolutionaries who are determined that the elections shall strengthen the power of personal government in Washington and assure the control of the party for the 1940 nomination. But evidence is coming to the committee.

Already the 1938 campaign has reached the lowest level of political morality and decency. It has descended to a degree which would make the worst Tammany politician blush if he thought he had given anybody the right to suspect nim of such practices.

The political robbery of the WPA workers is the lowest thing that was ever done on the American political stage. It is almost below the dignity of the pickpocket and would disgrace a Fagin. The New Deal is collecting from the men it has ruined, and Senator Sheppard is the only one of the New Dealers who has said it must stop. Mr. Hopkins plaintively says he doesn't think they ought to do it but it's legal. Mr. Roosevelt, who can fill the air with reproaches of men who make money honestly—to give him three-fourths of it to spend—is as mild in his criticism as if he were discussing the business practice of some member of his own family.

The men on the WPA are there because he has condemned and injured every citizen of the United States who could create employment in private industry. His political and economic ideas, his attitude toward the business of the country, has forced these men into Mr. Hopkins' chain gangs. It has been a Hitler mobilization of labor, paid just enough for subsistence. The New Deal, having reduced these men to this state and having deprived them of the hope that they'll ever get out of it, now takes money away from them to perpetuate the political system which put them where they are.

The Workers' Alliance is a communist political organization which seeks to make political use of the destitute. This organization is one which has declared it will raise $50,000 from them, part of which will be used to promote Mr. Roosevelt's purge of John J. O'Connor in New York. Senator Sheppard has told David Lasser, the head of this organization, that if he goes ahead with his plans the United States district attorney will be asked to enforce the criminal code of the United States, which provides fine and imprisonment for such an offense. Mr. Lasser was astonished, because Mr. Hopkins had said that what he was about to do was legal. Mr. Aubrey Williams, Hopkins' assistant, had advised the Workers' Alliance to see that all WPA workers voted for their friends, and Mr. Roosevelt, who appointed the United States district attorney, hadn't called the prosecutor's attention at all to the proposed offense.

Senator Sheppard also has in his files a letter bearing the signature of Senator Joseph Guffey of Pennsylvania, a favorite New Dealer, asking the WPA workers of his state to contribute, and Senator Berry of Tennessee has reported to the investigating committee that $125,000 was collected from these men in his state to defeat him.

It is fair to say that even the political opponents of the New Deal have been astonished by the turpitude and political immorality revealed in this treatment of the men, the victims of the politicians who now hold them up and take from them money that is supposed to feed their families. This is more than a party shame. It is a national disgrace. It would be more honest if the New Deal established the checkoff system and took the money out of the men's pay checks.

A TRIBUTE TO THE PRESS.

Eighty-five per cent of the newspapers in this country are against him, Mr. Roosevelt said the other day, and he lumped them together in what he called the Tory press.

That was a high tribute, indeed, to the independence, courage, and good sense of American editors and publishers. Successive elections have shown that the majority of the people in this country have fallen victims to the Roosevelt myth. Everybody knows of the enormous political and economic power wielded by the administration machine. The easy way to build circulation and to ride through hard times was to go along with the New Deal.

We have Mr. Roosevelt's word for it that relatively few editors have yielded to the temptation. He had the good will of almost every newspaper in the nation when he assumed office and for a brief period undertook to carry out the pledges he had made in the 1932 campaign. It was only when his program took on the color of communism that big and little newspapers began to turn against him, one after another.

The press deserves much credit for finding out the truth and more credit for the courage which has been displayed by the 85 per cent in fighting the overwhelming power of the political machine.

Of the remaining 15 per cent, perhaps 5 per cent is openly communistic; another 5 per cent is secretly communistic but unwilling to disclose its position candidly, and the rest are still deceived.

A PUSHOVER FOR MR. CHAMBERLAIN.

Nothing is simpler than the sealing of an act of international friendship, good-will, and coöperation in war. All that is necessary is to have a party such as is being given Hungary's O-see-the-sea admiral, Nicholas Horthy, by Adolph Hitler in Germany. Banquets, naval parades, banquets, military parades, banquets and air shows, all carefully arranged to swell into one grand climax of eating, drinking, and speech making, will produce a good fellowship and almost any alliance a statesman has in mind.

Hungary has hooked up with the Rome-Berlin ax handle, rejoining Germany, because in the great war, when Russia was a great liberal power, Hungary and Germany fought together for the same ideals, and joining Italy, because in the great war Italy and Hungary fought against each other for the same ideals. Hungary, Italy, and Germany, all being devoted to these same ideals, can unite to promote them and their "common desire for fair peace." Needless to say, a banquet climaxed Horthy's first day in Berlin.

Mr. Chamberlain in Great Britain is not having a very easy time in making his arrangements with Mussolini and Hitler. It is reported that many of the conservative members think he may be reaching the impassé of a complete failure, which, if true, would suggest that he give way to some other man, if not some other policy. Apparently Mr. Chamberlain has been reluctant to play his best card. He knows how to do it, but British statecraft is loath to waste any amenities on upstarts.

There is no objection to inviting an Indian rajah, a Mohammedan emir, or even an African Basuto chief to be entertained as a ruling prince. In doing so a British government offers the hand of an equal with the graciousness of a superior and no mistake is made. The flattered guest understands the illusion and the perfect manners of the host neatly convey the allusion.

Either Hitler or Mussolini would give a month's pay to be invited to be the guest of King George and Queen Elizabeth. If Chamberlain wanted to get the Italians and Germans out of Spain to protect Czechoslovakia, and to make Europe as peaceful as a picnic ground in January, he would need only to ask the Furor and the Duke to pay a ceremonious visit to London and meet the royal family.

MR. GREEN LOSES AN ARGUMENT.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, asked Mr. Roosevelt not to reappoint Donald W. Smith to the labor relations board. Smith's term expired Saturday. Mr. Roosevelt reappointed him Friday. He is a member of the board for the next five years, assuming that the board lasts that long.

Mr. Green did not have a candidate of his own. He said he had none to recommend. He only asked that Smith be not reappointed and his protest was based upon the record the labor relations board has made in the time it has been operating upon American industries. Green said that it has been unfair to the American Federation of Labor whenever it possibly could be.

As an illustration he mentioned one case in a plant in which the federation had the collective bargaining rights undisputedly. Working conditions were good, there was no complaint, and of course, no strike. The labor board, for the C. I. O., forced an election and interfered with the employés. The federation again won the right to be the bargaining agency. Green regarded this, among many other incidents, as an illustration of the board's determination to drive out the federation and put the C. I. O. in its place, an abuse of authority which is too truly indicative of what the board has been doing.

Mr. Roosevelt reappointed Smith because John Lewis is as satisfied with the man as Mr. Green is dissatisfied. Mr. Lewis says he has a $500,000 claim on Mr. Roosevelt and the facts do not disprove it. The American Federation of Labor is fighting the communist elements which have made their way into American labor organizations. John Lewis is playing ball with these elements and Mr. Roosevelt is playing ball with Mr. Lewis. Already the communists have disrupted unions they cannot control or are driving them out of the Lewis organizing committee. Lewis cannot or will not stop the fight which has torn the United Automobile Workers' union to pieces. He is satisfied with the communist control of the Bridges maritime union. He has almost parted company with David Dubinsky of the International Ladies' Garment Workers on this issue. Where it comes to an open fight the communists are winning and Lewis is with them.

John P. Frey, head of the American Federation of Labor metal trades department, as a witness before the Dies congressional committee, gave a list of C. I. O. communists an arm long when he appeared at one of the hearings. The federation, because of its opposition to the conversion of the American labor movement into a Moscow political action agency, has lost the favor of the federal government.

Mr. Green asked Mr. Roosevelt to do a very small thing in common fairness. The labor board is prejudiced. Mr. Roosevelt agrees with Mr. Green that the law itself is unfair and should be amended. He refused, however, to appoint a fair minded man to the board when he had a chance, and thus he gave his indorsement and support to the procedure which enables Lewis to turn industry over to his communist activists.

They will take the C. I. O., the C. I. O. has the labor board, and the labor board is the strong arm for the subjection of industry to the rule of revolutionaries.

HOTEL MANAGER TO GUEST AND VICE VERSA.

[Authentic letters, condensed.]

Dear Mr. Smith: Upon making the customary room inspection after a guest's departure our housekeeper advises that two brown woolen blankets, replacement value of $8 each, were missing from the room you occupied . . . Guests frequently, we find, in their haste inadvertently place such items in their effects and, of course, return same when discovered.

* * *

My Dear Mr. Jones: I am desolated to learn that you have guests at your hostelry who are so absent-minded. I suppose that passengers on railroad trains are apt to carry off a locomotive or a few hundred feet of rails. Or a visitor to a zoo may take away an elephant or a rhinoceros, concealing same in a sack of peanuts after removing the nuts [replacement value of $.05].

It happened that I needed all the drawer space you so thoughtfully provide. The blankets in question occupied the bottom drawer of the dresser, and I wanted to put some white shirts [replacement value of $3.50 each] there, so I lifted said blankets and placed them on a chair. Later I handed the same blankets [replacement value of $8 each] to the maid, telling her in gentlemanly language to get them the hell out of there.

If you'll take the trouble to count all the blankets in your esteemed establishment you'll find them all present.

P. S.—Have you counted your elevators lately?

* * *

Dear Mr. Smith: Yes, we do a lot of counting around here. I've counted the elevators. What I want to count now is more important to me. I want to continue on counting you as a friend of the —— house. As the song says, "Let's Call the Whole Thing Off." And there's another song to the point: "Can't We Be Friends?"

Proof of the Pudding.

If you do not believe that the above letters are the gospel truth ask L. E. Kaffer, assistant general manager of the Palmer house. He will inform you that "absent-minded" guests carry off annually $25,000 worth of silverware, $25,000 worth of linen supplies, and several thousand Gideon Bibles.

THE RED GODS CALL.

Whose moccasin-shod feet have broken trails
Where venturing I walk alone? Who heard
As I do now the far-off lonely wails
Of heron? Were those savage hearts thus stirred
When lofty temples of white birch and pine
Summoned to worship? Deep in bracken now
I feel the holy quiet of a shrine
Before me in a twisted, rugged bough.
The marshy wastes and amber waters call
My pagan blood. I feel I am akin
To all the old tradition; held in thrall
By dreamy legends of the copper skin;
For listening, I can hear the muffled tread

Be Kind to Wooden Horses.

One of the few existent streamlined white wooden horses is to be found at the filling station at Green Bay road and McCormick boulevard in Evanston. He is mounted on a small platform with four wheels like a gigantic toy.

On chilly winter days the proprietor covers him with a gay Indian blanket, and on subzero days he stays warm and comfortable under a luxurious fur robe. It never fails; I watched him all last winter.

Imagine my surprise when warm weather came to see him covered in a white fly net edged in a deep fringe which waves in the breeze and keeps all flies and pests away!

What shall we find
Beyond the next curve?

That Toddlin' Town.

Why has nothing ever been said about the characteristic gait of the typical Chicagoan? His head thrust forward, his eyes dead ahead, he progresses down the street in most ungraceful fashion. He is easily identified when he goes to smaller towns in neighboring states because one who has never loped around the loop could not possibly acquire such a lack of rhythm in motion while going from here to there. How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

THE NEED FOR REST IN TUBERCULOSIS.

STRANGE as it may seem, no vaccine, serum, drug, or chemical has been perfected which either will destroy the tubercle bacillus in the human body or stop its growth. During the lifetime of Robert Koch—who first discovered the "bug" and demonstrated its vicious rôle—it was thought that killed germs [old tuberculin, so-called], when injected, would produce a reaction which would neutralize the toxin of the disease. Thousands were doomed to disappointment when it was learned finally that this substance had little or no effect. Later, from Berlin came the announcement that the serum from infected turtles was curative. But that likewise passed into the discard, leaving a multitude of discouraged sufferers in its wake.

For healing we still place our faith in a well accepted principle in medicine—namely, that wherever there is inflammation, rest for that part must be obtained. In addition, we now know that the type of irritation caused by this germ improves very slowly. We must depend then upon building the reserves of the body for the formation of scar tissue—firm, fibrous material—which it is hoped will be grown in sufficient amounts to wall off the involved areas of the lung [boxing the infection in] so that absorption cannot occur; neither can the bacteria escape and spread.

This is the reason that at the outset absolute bed rest is advised. But this prescription usually is a difficult one to fill because tedium must be combated and great will power will be demanded. It is extremely hard to impress upon the patient that the word "absolute" means just what it says. If some member of the family is in charge instructions must be laid down explicitly and firmly. Twenty-four hours in bed, no bathroom privileges, no sitting up, no changing of position unless permitted by the physician.

I have in mind the remarkable success which has fallen to the lot of a physician in Arizona. At first he allows no movements of the arms such as combing the hair or even feeding oneself. Why? Because a slight effort may force a bit of sputum, loaded with live bacilli, from somewhere along the bronchi into a fresh, clean, normal portion of the lung, whereupon there may follow a lighting up of the infection with more toxemia and deeper exhaustion.

Of course, such a régime presupposes that some one is in attendance constantly, and a large part of the responsibility rests on the nurse. It is important naturally to preserve happiness even under this incarceration plan so that every permissible wish of the afflicted person should be met. In addition, the skin must receive scrupulous care, as bedsores create an extremely annoying complication.

There was a time when fresh air was considered almost as curative as rest. While plenty of ventilation always must be provided, the old procedure of placing patients in cottages or shacks on a mountainside is no longer thought to be necessary.

Food, on the other hand, must be relied on to furnish all the essentials for piling up new reserves. However, it is no common experience to find the individual gaining weight rapidly but unable to provide enough special cells to surround and calcify an inflamed region. There are no particular dietary requirements, although a high calcium, high vitamin menu is helpful.

The great danger of tuberculosis in the home is that the malady may be transmitted to others. As we know, children are unusually susceptible and this means that no youngster should be allowed to come into contact with the patient, his dishes, or eating utensils. All such should be washed separately, thoroughly scalded, and kept quite apart from the family supply. Excretions from the mouth, throat, and nose should be burned and paper tissue that can be deposited after use in a sack at the bedside provides a safe disposal method.

X-ray films of the chest should be made of every person in the family should an acute case be found. This is highly desirable, as a brother or a sister may have contracted the ailment from a common source. We must recall that the disease may smolder for many months before symptoms appear.

BREAKING ONE'S SLEEP.

A. B. writes:

After 4 to 6 hours' sleep I waken and am restless for the rest of the night. Can smoking and drinking be the cause?

REPLY.

Insomnia may be of nervous origin, or it may be brought about by indigestion. Excess of all kinds [emotional, physical, and dietary] should be avoided. Too much smoking may act as an excitant, speeding up the rate of the heart beat.

24 TO 48 HOURS.

K. W. writes: How long does food stay in the system—from eating to excretion?

REPLY.

AFFECTS ENTIRE BODY.

A. U. writes: Does bad circulation affect one's digestion?

REPLY.

Poor circulation can affect any or all organs of the body, including the alimentary tract.

COURT CASES.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. In what court would personal injury cases be heard?

2. If such case was filed in December of 1937, when would the case come up for hearing?

3. Is it true that this court has a summer recess?

4. What is the period of this recess?

5. After this recess, are the cases of the last period heard first or are they heard after the new court calendar is made up? E. L. D.

1. Small cases are commonly heard in the Municipal court, more substantial cases in the Circuit and Superior court.

2. Depends on whether there is a jury demand and on the condition of the calendar of the judge to whom the case is assigned.

3. Cases are not likely to be tried in the summer.

4. We cannot advise to advantage without knowing your facts.

5. Ordinarily new calendars are made up.

OBSERVATIONS ON THE BOOKIES.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Just what is so vile about handbooks? Betting at the race track is considered the thing to do by our representative Chicagoans. But if a business man or a housewife doesn't care to spend his or her whole afternoon at the track, transportation cost, entrance fee, and a minimum bet of $2 a race, but prefers to step into a neighborhood bookie for a race or two with a minimum cost of 50 cents a race—then they are considered hoodlums.

As for the "bookie"—he is just too wicked for words! So bad is he that Mr. Courtney must send his hired vandals in to wreck his place of business. A bookmaker is not a cheat. He pays track odds or better. And what about the hundreds of men employed by the bookmakers? A large proportion of them are fine men, young and middle aged, who, through Mr. Roosevelt's fine gestures, can find no other work—honest, capable men who cannot earn a living because there is no other work to be found.

I cannot understand why this man, whose only bid for votes is that he arrested a few bookmakers and their helpers, beat them up in many cases, and smashed up their personal property, cannot be restrained in some manner.

MARY E. MAHER.

EVANSTON ALSO HAS WEEDS.

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 24.—Why doesn't Evanston cut her weeds? Since last spring they have been an eyesore and a menace. First they grew higher than a man's head, then two men came along and cut the ones hanging over the sidewalk, making a path through the forest, but left them lying in the path to climb over. They are still kicking around.

Howard street, southern boundary of Evanston [in case the politicians don't know it, this not being election year], gives a first impression on entering the city from the west or south. It has been a disgrace all summer. The vacant lots east and west of Ridge are a menace or an eyesore. This is Evanston, the city we all like to be proud of.

MRS. J. V. JONES.

ALLEYS, ONCE CLEAN; NOW FILTHY.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Recently I have been reading about the emphasis Jane Addams stressed on the removal of garbage and rubbish from the alleys in the Hull house district. Also I read that much was accomplished in cleaning up the alleys. Is there no one now to carry on this work? The other day from the Halsted street car on my way to Hull house I saw a sight that was anything but complimentary to the city. If there were proper investigation such unsanitary conditions would not exist.

Chicago is becoming a beautiful city. Its lake front is to be admired. The new apartments on the river are a step forward. But what impression would outsiders get if they rode the Halsted street car and saw these filthy alleys!

ADA M. FASTING.

WOMEN ON THE BENCH.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—In today's TRIBUNE you say that Judge Florence E. Allen of the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals is the only woman ever appointed to a federal judgeship. Have you not overlooked that Genevieve R. Cline of Ohio has been a judge of the United States Customs court since 1928 and that Miss Carrick H. Buck sits in the 5th judicial Circuit of Hawaii, having rank equal to a United States District judge under appointment of the year 1933? Both of these women entered upon their duties before Judge Allen.

PAUL M. FLETCHER.

GOOD-BY, CHICAGO.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Within a day or two, after a summer's sojourn in Chicago, I shall take farewell to travel a thousand miles east among the hills of a tiny eastern state.

I shall long remember the beauty of the expansive lake front, the moonlight percolating through the foliage of the parkways, the quiet suburban areas catching only faint rumor of the throbbing of the metropolitan pulse. But all Chicago is not fortunate in the lake front, shady parkways, and the village atmosphere of outlying areas.

I recall midnight walks when streets and avenues stirred uneasily under the hot air with filth and debris. I see beaches strewn with paper, entrances to apartments neglected and littered. Hot days and the grime of the big American city were bad enough; to add waste and rubbish to treeless districts—this was unforgivable.

For it seemed to me that cleanliness of spirit among city people was not easily possible in an environment ill-kempt. And what finer thing could be the possession of city people? They deserve beauty and inspiration in life more than small town and country people, but only if they wage ceaseless war against lax habits in cleanliness among themselves.

Probably I am urging only the Dutch cleanliness of the days of Ben Franklin, but I think it worth while. I should like to return to Chicago some day, as I shall, on an afternoon when the breeze is off the lake, to see Chicagoans reflecting in their faces the pride of a city of clean streets, and in their western windows the blood red sun dropping slowly to the horizon with the beauty that is peculiar to the midwest.

E. B. F.

COMMENDS A POLICEMAN.

Newton, Ia., Aug. 24.—I would like to commend the courteous action of Officer Muhlvale, No. 128. I was with a friend who lives in Chicago and who was stopped by Officer Muhlvale last Saturday afternoon, about 2:30, for cutting a traffic light change too closely.

Officer Muhlvale was not only courteous, but he delivered a lecture that was appropriate, very much to the point, and which did not leave the least feeling of antagonism on the part of either of us.

Personally, I can't help but think that the public at large would have a great deal more respect for the officers and for the law itself—and for a genuine desire not to be careless about borderline infractions, or major ones, too, for that matter—if more officers put the situation up to the public in the able way that Officer 128 did to us.

R. A. BRADT.

HORSE OF A DIFFERENT COLOR.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—So the President does not like it because the Republicans voted for the anti-New Deal Democrats in some of the state primaries! Some one should tell him that if the Republicans had not voted for him in 1932 and 1936 he would not be the President of the United States.

A 100% REPUBLICAN.

WOULD SPARE THE PONIES.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—"The powers that be," by resorting to Carrie Nation tactics, lead us to believe that they are unable to cope with lawlessness except by destroying things. Let us hope they won't cripple the horses.

MRS. C. R. LEWIS.

NO SMEARING INTENDED.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 25.—The most interesting documents published in a long time are the reproductions of the federal income tax returns of James Roosevelt for the years 1932-'33-'34 which appear in the current issue of a national weekly. Except for the one donation of $300 to emergency relief in 1934, his regular giving was nicely calculated to stay within 1-10 of 1 per cent of his total net income. With a firm resolve to enlist in the war on tuberculosis to the extent of $2 per year, observe the nicety with which this sum is distributed, first, to the society in Cambridge in 1932, to the Boston society in 1933, and finally to the Plymouth society in 1934.

What an inspiring record on the part of one now engaged in assisting his father, at a fancy salary, in the holy crusade of uplifting the downtrodden—with other people's money. How long will the gullible public continue to fall for this Royal House of Quackocracy?

Could any ordinary taxpayer, not of blood royal, deduct "travel expenses" of $4,422.17, $3,431.89, and $3,674.04 without investigation? Could any one else deduct $300 for "emergency relief" without naming the organization? Since he makes the issue, certainly no "smearing" is involved in critical comment on this performance. TAXPAYING CITIZEN.

DOCTRIN OF IMMERSION.

St. Charles, Ill., Aug. 25.—Recently I noticed in THE TRIBUNE a heading which said: "Forty wash their sins away in a park lagoon." My concern was aroused by the fact that the words were not in harmony with the Baptist faith and practice.

For over forty years a Baptist, I can say that Baptist doctrin includes the vital requisite that conversion must precede and be publicly confessed by every candidate before the ordinance of baptism by immersion is administered.

Baptist doctrin does not proclaim that immersion is instrumental in "washing away the sins" of the recipients. To the contrary, those about to be immersed have professed to be born again, to have their sins forgiven by reason of their faith in the vicarious death of the Lord Jesus Christ. Therefore, the significance of immersion, briefly stated, is the outward manifestation of a new life begun in Christ Jesus.

JOSEPH MEYER.

THE MOST DANGEROUS TERMITE.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—I have heard the story of the termite that got into grandpa's wooden leg, causing him to fall and break the other one.

I also heard of the termite that worked its way into the handle of the WPA worker's shovel so that he fell and broke his neck.

However, the termite that really has me worried is the "third term-ite," because, judging from what has already happened, if that one should get in its work it would just about break the whole country. G. H. VAN CLEVE.

IMITATING A MACHINE GUN.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Entering Elmhurst on North avenue, going west, at 4:35 p. m., Aug. 26. Motorcycle rider wearing overalls, marked Thor motorcycle, muffler cutout, making noise like machine gun. ANNOYED.

COULD WE SPARE IT?

Chicago, Aug. 26.—They say that the Germans lack brass. Couldn't we send them that monstrosity in a bathing suit holding a buzzard from Lincoln park?

Expert Dye Job Makes Marten Good Fur Buy

BY RHEA SEEGER.

It's difficult to stay rational about the attractions featured in the fur shows. The biggest hits of the season are the sable dyed skunk or marten fur coats and jackets. This dye job is something to make fashion history.

If you've been scornful of marten in the past, see the new creations and change your mind. Skunk or marten, dyed a lovely deep brown sable tone is a knockout. It is tremendously flattering to everyone. It can be worn with bright tweeds and can provide swanky contrast for dress parade clothes of velvet, wool, or crêpe.

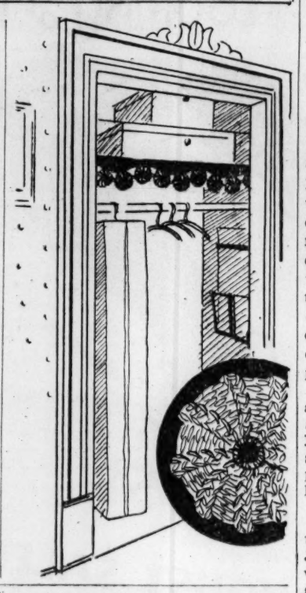
Short, and that means BRIEFLY SHORT, jackets are made from this cleverly dyed fur. These will top sheath dresses of wool. The dresses are so simply designed that they look pretty insipid until you slip into them. After that, its a far different story. The skin fitting sheath does everything. They are perfect contrasts for the luxurious top of stunning sable toned marten. Longer short coats are differently styled because of the longer length to the sleeves. The very short sleeved models need the thick luxurious almost elbow length gloves. You'll find all kinds of coats, and every imaginable length.

All sable dyed skunk or marten coats are made with extreme simplicity, thereby assuring the shoppers such coats are the best all purpose, general wear finds of the hour. Dyed so expertly, they can easily go out of nights, with gleaming metallics, slinky velvets, or shimmering satins, looking like the furs of a Mrs. Crœsus. Prices are breath taking for all the glory of a new luxurious color, long wearing service and the high, exciting new fashion. Special prices are still available for the last few days in August.

Crocheted Cartwheels for Shelf

BY NANCY CABOT.

Have you a little closet in your home, and are you closet-conscious every time you pass the door? With a crochet hook and a couple of balls of thread, any small closet can be transformed as simply as taking a rabbit out of a hat. Small crocheted cartwheels attached to the scalloped edge of the overhanging shelf covering are the secret of success. The covering may be anything from lackered fabric to starched percale or shelf paper. The wheels may be joined together and tacked onto edging, or they may be tacked individually to the scallops. For a closet used as a guest powder room, and if a dressing table is used, the size of the cartwheels may be increased and attached directly below the band of the table or scattered across the material helter-skelter. These cartwheels are the easiest imaginable crochet job.



For instructions for crocheting the cartwheels for closets, No. X54, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Stock to Lead 300 in a Gala Park Concert

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, will lead an orchestra of 300 men and women at the Grant park band shell on Sept. 11. This announcement was made in Grant park last night and confirmed the patrons' expectation that the Chicago park district and the Chicago Federation of Musicians, co-sponsors of the free lake front concerts, would follow the tradition of other years and schedule a gala post-season program.

This will be Mr. Stock's first public appearance since last May, when he served as musical director of the Evanston Music festival. He has spent part of the summer abroad, part of it at his Door county, Wis., home.

Last evening's concert was one of the flashiest of the season, with Jacques Fray and Mario Braggiotti, widely liked duo pianists, serving as guest artists on a program given by Carl Hohengarten and his augmented CBS orchestra. Assorted vocal and instrumental soloists would glide forward to give an extra ping to a chorus here and there.

The bulk of the program fell into either the radio or the high grade cabaret classification. There were expensive sounding arrangements of such tunes as "Chinese Lullaby" and "Hymn to the Sun," a fantasy built upon reharmonized children's melodies, a little Victor Herbert and Raymond Scott, and an ambitious George Gershwin paraphrase.

Fray and Braggiotti, looking every inch the suave continental bankers which advance publicity declared them to be, played a pretentious Spanish Rhapsody of their own and took an important part in the Gershwin sequences. Besides, they offered an extremely complex version of the Rachmaninoff C sharp minor prelude and a miscellany of smaller pieces. Among these latter were the Mozart "Turkish March" and the Liszt "Liebestraum," which were played legitimately.

The pianists followed the "Turkish March" with a Benny Goodman version of the same piece and did similar tricks later with "Yankee Doodle." The latter was offered in thre versions—in the styles of Bach, Chopin, and Gershwin, respectively.

Benefit County Fair Raises $5,000 for Opera; Stars Attend

Approximately $5,000 was raised for the Chicago City Opera company yesterday when opera's supporters turned out, 1,200 strong, to a benefit county fair.

The fair, held at the Allendale farms near Libertyville of John Denby Allen, began at 4 p. m. with a small horse show and continued until late evening with an outdoor opera performance. Sprinkled in between were many of the characteristics of fairs, from cattle to roulette wheels and raffles, with an organ grinder playing, appropriately enough, "Pennies from Heaven."

Several opera singers, as well as patrons, attended. Edith Mason, gay in white with maroon belt, brought her husband, William Ragland, and her daughter, Graziella. Jean Fardulli, baritone, strolled about. A newcomer was Mrs. Philip Leidy, who as Katherine Littlefield, will direct the opera's ballet this season.

Woman's Finance Forum to See Movie on Steel

The Women's Finance forum will give the second of its summer dinner meetings at 6 o'clock tomorrow evening at the Central Y. M. C. A., 19 South La Salle street. A technicolor sound film, "Steel: Man's Servant," will be shown. Dr. M. A. Grossman, director of research for the Carnegie Illinois Steel company, will be commentator, and will hold an open forum afterward. Mrs. Hazel R. Ferguson, president, will conduct the meeting.

Pay Attention When Children Speak to You

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"Mother! You didn't hear one word I said. You're not paying one bit of attention to me."

"Yes I am, dear," said her mother rather meekly, because she felt a little guilty.

Haven't you ever been in that spot yourself—let your thoughts wander to some practical sewing or housekeeping job in a way you wouldn't think of doing with a grownup companion? Sometimes it's all right—sometimes it isn't.

How often do you give your undivided attention to your children? How often do you mentally drop away other thoughts, close your mind's doors on chores, and give your entire attention to your child—to what she may be saying, which reveals what she is thinking or feeling at the moment? We do this with older people, but many of us never do it with our children. Yet they need it and crave it.

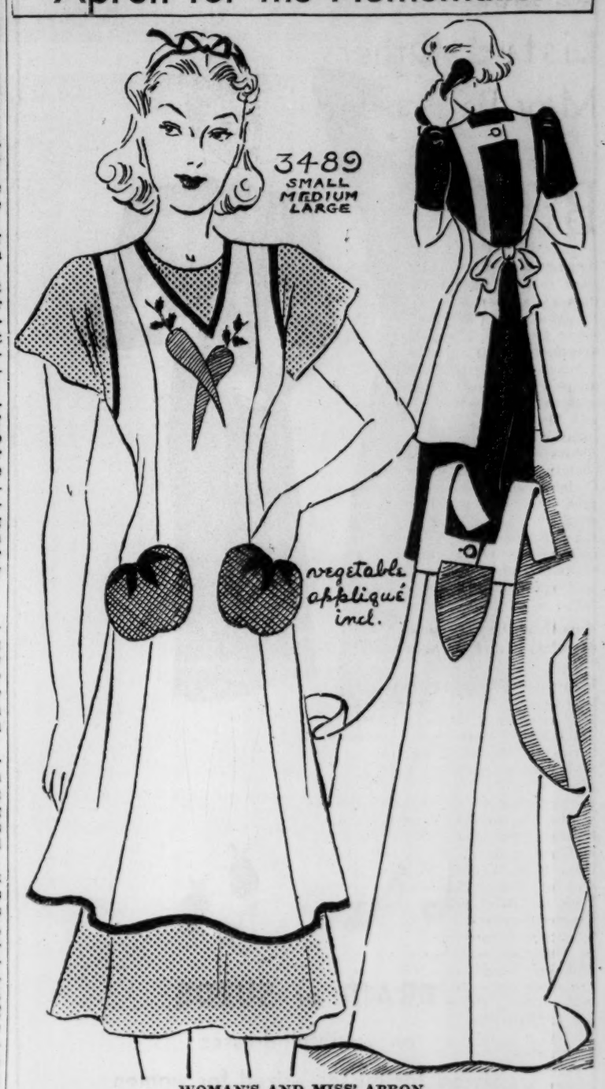
When you give your undivided attention to a child you give something of yourself and he senses it. Many of the things he has to tell you or show you are important to him. They are important to you often, too, in revealing your child to you—if you did but know it.

Sometimes you can give your attention to your young companion when you are doing other things that are quite mechanical, like preparing vegetables or sewing. But sometimes even that gets in the way of a real communion of spirit.

When you're having a real talk with your child, often empty hands enrich it. To look into your child's eyes, to see his changing expression, to observe how his posture and gestures reveal his inner self all sharpen your awareness of him as a person. It satisfies a need in him, too. Where there are other members of a family always at home, young or old, one has to stage manage sometimes to give this sort of attention to a child.

Of course, there are only occasional times. Lots of conversation is and should be casual, carried on as you and the children do other things. But some intercourse has to be on a different, quite special level.

Apron for the Homemaker



WOMAN'S AND MISS' APRON.

Every woman who keeps house, be it in a small apartment or a large residence, needs plenty of aprons to wear at her tasks. Perhaps she is a business girl who has her own one room apartment. On the other hand, she may be a housewife and mother of a family. For her domestic rôle, and also that of hostess, she must be smartly attired at all times, and a pretty apron over her frock is just the thing to maintain chic.

Our pattern today offers a comfortable model that fits well at the shoulders and waistline and has graceful flare in the skirt. Binding may trim the neckline and armholes, as well as the hemline, and applique motifs afford color. The pattern for the vegetable applique is included at no extra cost. You might put carrots on the waist of the apron and use plump tomatoes for pockets. Printed applique may be used for an apron in a plain shade, and monotone vegetables might adorn a printed cotton garment. All the inexpensive cottons make up well in this apron.

Style No. 3489 is designed for sizes small, medium, and large. The medium size requires 2½ yards of 35 inch material, with 5 yards of binding. The tomato applique requires ¾ yard of 18 inch fabric, and the carrot requires ⅛ yard of 20 inch fabric.

52 Debutantes Listed; Others May Be Added

BY JUDITH CASS.

BEFORE long the few girls whose names so far are included only tentatively on the list of 1938-'39 debutantes will be back at home from their summer travels and then the list can be completed. To date the names of Miss Sheila Cudahy, Miss Sarah Mosser, Miss Nancy Eddy Orr, and Miss Lois Thompson are on the "maybe" list.

Miss Cudahy is arriving at home in about a week from a summer abroad and then she and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy Jr., will make a decision as to whether Miss Sheila will make her formal bow to society this season or the next. Mrs. Cudahy has made tentative plans to give a tea at her Lake Forest home on Sept. 17, and a ball in town during the Christmas holidays, but she is awaiting her daughter's arrival to make the plans definite. Miss Cudahy will enter Bryn Mawr college this fall.

Another Bryn Mawr Student on Tentative List.

Miss Mosser also will be at Bryn Mawr this winter, but she will be a sophomore. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stacy C. Mosser of Winnetka. When Miss Mosser returns the middle of September from a vacation at Santa Fe it will be decided whether she is to make her debut during the Christmas holidays.

Miss Orr, younger daughter of Mrs. Robert C. Orr, was scheduled to make a Chicago debut with her cousin, Miss Alice Wyeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Sims Wyeth of New York and Palm Beach, but owing to the death several months ago of Mr. Orr, there is some doubt as to whether the plan will stand. Mrs. Orr and her daughters—Ellen Adair is the older one—are in Bermuda, but will return to Chicago about the middle of September. Mrs. Wyeth was Eleanor Orr of Chicago before her marriage to the distinguished architect. She and Mr. Wyeth plan to present their daughter to Chicago society in early October.

1938 Debutante Roll as Now Constituted.

Jane Allen	Georgette Hill
Virginia Ballard	Mary Hill
Maryphillis Barber	Phyllis Hollands
Miriam Bartlett	Margaret Hutchins
Jane Bilger	Mary F. Jannotta
Margaret Burrows	Catherine Johnson
Helen Chancellor	Elizabeth Knowlson
Carolyn Chapman	Jane Kreuscher
Adelaide Chatfield-Taylor	Sarah Lawson
Jane Coney	Olivia Little
Mary Louise Corley	Katherine Littlefield
Elizabeth Crawford	Elizabeth Mead
Nancy Dammann	Barbara Mecheem
Natalie DeClerque	Priscilla Payne
Edith Farwell	Sara Peace
Mary Jane Felzer	Sally Perry
Dorcas Fitzgerald	Phyllis Peter
Julie Follansbee	Marie L. Richards
Lucile Freeman	Paisley Rockwell
Helen Gambrill	Ruth Rockwood
Alice Graff	Mary Ryerson
Mary Hale	Katherine Stenson
Jane Harper	Elizabeth Stover
Ann Harrington	Barbara Willson
Dorothy Herbst	Alice Wreth
Ruth Hirbst	Jane Zimmerman

Debut Tea Sept. 14 for Miss Littlefield.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Littlefield of Winnetka will give a tea for their daughter on Wednesday, Sept. 14, at their home. Miss Littlefield attended the North Shore Country Day school and since finishing there has been studying art in Chicago. Her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Clark, may come to Chicago for the Christmas holidays and if they do they will give a dance for Katherine.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Griffith Rockwell of Winnetka are not calling the dinner-dance they will give for their daughter, Paisley, a formal debut. The party will be on Saturday, Sept. 3, at the Indian Hill club. Miss Rockwell, who will be a sophomore at Wells college this winter, plans to travel when she is not busy with her studies, which is why she does not want to be known as a traditional debutante. She is spending this week-end in Douglas, Mich., with Miss Adelaide McClary. Last week Miss Rockwell had as guests Miss Paisley Goodrich of Minneapolis and Miss Jean Engh of New York.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Georgette Owsley Hill will be one of the early autumn debutantes. She is being introduced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lon C. Hill Jr., at a tea-dance in their Winnetka home on Sept. 17.. Miss Hill's maternal grandmother, Mrs. George Knox Owsley, is coming from California for the tea and so is the bud's aunt, Mrs. Frederick D. Owsley of Greenwood, Va. Numerous parties are being given for Miss Hill, among them a luncheon that Miss Elsie Earle will give on Sept. 10 at the Indian Hill club. Miss Jane Bulger, another deb of the season, will share honors with Miss Hill at the luncheon.

BY ANNA NANGLE.

Reformatories seem to be a necessary evil of the present day. This film, as you may guess, takes up the problem of the various types of treatment for young incorrigibles in our institutions.

Two schools of thought are presented. The first presumes that such boys are either mentally or physically predisposed to a life of crime and should be treated as they will be in the prisons they will undoubtedly inhabit in later years. The second holds that such treatment forces them into later crimes and subsequent penal homes and believes in starting fresh with understanding and honor as the ruling principles.

The two extremes, and they are extremes, form the subject matter of this drab little film. The exponent of the newer system stamps fearlessly in, abolishes graft, fights the tough guard physically, finds unlimited money for recreation projects and snappy military uniforms and, presto, makes the boys into little angels overnight.

Mr. Holt is stern of face and soft of manner as the enlightened warden, but he works against the difficulties of an unintelligent and obvious story. The children do as well as possible, but the whole thing doesn't amount to much.

Children's Civic Theater Closes Season Tonight

Chicago Drama league night will close the 21st season of the Children's Civic theater at 8 o'clock this evening at the Navy pier auditorium. A gala performance of the operetta, "Bon Voyage," will be given by the theater's high school group. Mayor Kelly and members of the city council have been invited. Mrs. William E. Vogelback is chairman of the theater, which is sponsored by the Drama league.

The Catholic Woman's league will hold a candle light bridge party at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening in the lounge at 410 South Michigan avenue.

Norma Shearer Has Operation; UsesAid'sName

New York, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The beauteous patient in room 8 at Mount Sinai hospital pavilion—a brunette whose face seemed very familiar to attendants—was recovering today from a minor operation.

She wasn't Winifred Kay, as the records showed. She was Norma Shearer, first lady of Hollywood, and she had recovered sufficiently to deny sweetly that she had been under the knife.

"I came here Saturday for observation and they didn't find anything wrong with me," Norma told Ed Sullivan, Hollywood columnist who is visiting New York. "I feel a hundred per cent better because of the rest, and I'm leaving tomorrow morning. As a matter of fact, I intend to catch Helen Hayes when she opens in 'What Every Woman Knows' at Suffern, N. Y., tomorrow evening.

"I used my secretary's name when I came in because I didn't want my friends in Hollywood worrying about any false reports that I was seriously ill."

Nevertheless, it was learned that Miss Shearer underwent a small operation Saturday. It was performed by Dr. Udall J. Salmon, who refused tonight to discuss the case. A wall of secrecy about the case was set up by the hospital authorities.

Miss Shearer came to New York two weeks ago to attend the première of her latest picture, "Marie Antoinette."

Friends of the film star, amazed at word of the operation tonight, pointed out that it must have been a hastily decided move. Surrounded by a group of male admirers, Miss Shearer danced until a late hour Thursday morning at the Stork club. Twice during the week she had dinner at the Waldorf roof with Howard Hughes, round the world speed flyer, Broadway columnists reported.

A new level in press agentry was achieved last night. Dean Ralph Dennis of the Northwestern university school of speech presented a ventriloquist's dummy with an honorary degree—"M. I. S. C." The scholastic citation named Charlie McCarthy "master of innuendo and snappy comebacks." Edgar Bergen, who does the talking for Charlie, was there, too, in the broadcasting studios.

Looking at Hollywood - by Ed Sullivan

Hollywood to Broadway

New York, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Most exciting part of the trip from Hollywood to Broadway, I think, was riding in the locomotive of the streamlined Super Chief when it was knocking 100 miles an hour. Mr. Lyles, a Texan, assistant to the president of the Santa Fe, was aboard and the treat was arranged by him. First time that this reporter knew that every curve on a railroad has two speed markings, one for passenger and the other for freight trains. The engineer brings his train to that exact speed as he goes into a curve.

Even in the daytime the powerful expresses attract targets. A couple of blackbirds, or maybe they were crows, dove headlong at the engine as we hurtled ahead. They never knew what hit them. The fireman, a big southerner, said that he never thought he'd live to see the day when shoveling coal passed out of the railroad picture. "I used to shovel twenty-five to thirty tons a day," he recalled. "These Diesels are a big improvement."

Papers brought aboard the train keep you in touch with the country while you are passing through. The Denver Post's amusement pages offered a new entertainment idea. Two big dance halls offered "nickel night," with name bands. For a dime, you and your flat-foot floogie can go and hoof all night. The Kansas City Star, on page 1, told of the church social that had to be called off. The Missouri WPA band, when it arrived, learned that the church was in Kansas, just across the boundary line. "Sit on the Missouri side and blow the notes across to the Kansas side," suggested the distraught minister. The WPA bandsmen pondered on the ethics of this and then refused, on the ground that it wouldn't be cricket.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE sport pages were all in a lather over the All-Star football game which Arch Ward is staging there on Aug. 31. Page 1 of the Trib had a story of the free jam session for swing lovers which got out of hand when 120,000 jitterbugs overflowed Soldiers' field. The Cleveland Press radio editor commented on the fact that 15 minutes before the ticker brought news of Commander Frank Hawks' death, C. B. S. sent out a ticker tape notice: "Frank Hawks' radio program will be canceled this afternoon. Farm program replaces."

Binding all of these papers together, despite editorial differences and varied treatment of news, were the movie ads in the amusement sections. "Alexander's Ragtime Band" was advertised right straight across the country. So were "Marie Antoinette" and "Boy Meets Girl." The Berlin picture is a smash hit in every theater. At Chicago, Lou Lipstone told me that it is being held over for a third week at the Chicago theater, which is an unheard of occurrence. It grossed $63,000 the first week, $10,000 better than even the Ritz Brothers did and they busted records.

At Washington, D. C., the Times, too, had a story about the arrival of Tony Martin and his band. Martin has busted records wherever he has appeared. The Detroit Fox called him back for a repeat. Around Chicago he cracked one record after another.

At the Washington airport a young blonde girl, who introduced herself as Beverly Moffett, was interviewing passengers on the New York plane. She was, it developed, the aviation editor of a D. C. paper and we started talking about the D. C.-4 and then navy planes. "My dad was in the navy," she said. "I suppose you're going to tell me your father was the famous Admiral Moffett," I kidded her. "No, I wasn't going to tell you that," she said, "but he was." He was killed on the dirigible Akron. Three of his sons are navy flyers.

The rest of the way by Eastern Air, Below, Philadelphia, leaning its civic elbow on the Delaware river; Trenton, Camden, New Brunswick, Elizabeth, N. J. Through the haze, the skyline of New York, the most thrilling sight in the world.

"It's lucky you missed the heat wave," Fred Astaire told me at the Hotel Astor over a bottle of beer.

Bob Christenberry nodded. So did Allan Zee.

Tenderfoot's Inheritance

By Marie De Nervaud

SYNOPSIS.

Anne Claxton arrives from New York at the Wyoming ranch she has inherited, after refusing the last minute proposal of her city beau, Gerald. Steve Hayward, neighbor ranch owner, tells her that Jake Collins, who owns the adjoining ranch, expects to buy her heavily mortgaged ranch, but her uncle never would sell to him. Anne determines to stay and fight. She is immediately attracted to Steve, but Gwen Collins, Jake's daughter, shows a proprietary interest in him. She wins over old Tim Salter, her uncle's foreman, and Whitey, a handsome ranch hand. She finds the house in disorder and a gun missing from the rack. Tim thinks Collins had been there and threatened her uncle with the gun and that her uncle died from a heart attack. Collins calls with Lawyer Bill Jennings and turns ugly when she refuses to sell. When Steve calls and advises her to sell she is cool to him. Steve is offended and jealous of Whitey. To help surmount financial difficulties Anne looks forward to receiving her former boss, Mr. Trainor, and his family, to the ranch as paying guests. Collins serves notice that he is going to fence in the water holes, which he claims are on his property. Whitey takes Anne to a local dance. Steve is there with Gwen.

INSTALMENT XIX.

RESCUED FROM INSULTS.

The last dance struck up, and somebody shouted for a Paul Jones. There was a laughing scramble to join the circle. Anne found herself swinging in the grand right and left, directly behind Gwen's flashing rose taffeta.

Several figures down she saw Steve coming toward her. Panic seized Anne. She wouldn't dance with him by chance, when he hadn't asked her of his own volition!

Anne turned to the man behind her, but he had been claimed by the next girl. Before Anne could duck away from the circle, Steve swung her into his arms.

She had one glimpse of Gwen's expression of flashing anger at being left without a partner, then everything ceased to exist except Steve and herself and the swaying rhythm of the dance.

Anne instinctively relaxed in Steve's arms. It was thrilling, frightening even, to move to the throb of the music with him. His heart beat so close to her own that they seemed like one.

The music broke into a simple air with a haunting melody. A chorus of voices joined it, softly at first, then swelling to the refrain.

"Good-by Old Paint, I'm a leavin' Cheyenne,

At last it was over. No sooner had the music stopped than Whitey appeared beside them.

"Gwen sent me to say she was waiting for you, outside," he said to Steve, adding with a glint of satisfaction, "I might add, she's mad as hell!"

With a "Thank you, Anne," Steve released her and was gone.

Whitey sent a lowering look after him. He started to say something, then checked it.

Thankful for a moment to be alone and regain her poise, Anne stepped back into the shadows.

Anne had a second of sickening distaste, as she recognized Jake Collins' voice. Then common sense told her she had nothing to fear in the midst of this crowd.

"Thank you, but Whitey will be back in a minute," she moved out into the protection of the light.

He gave an approving hiccough and stepped closer.

Steve's fist flashed out and caught Collins' jaw in a savage uppercut. For one staggering moment Collins tried to regain his balance, then pitched to the floor.

Before she came to her senses, she was a block or more down the main street from the dance hall. Shame for her stampede pulled her up short. Steve had come to her rescue, and what had she done? Run like a frightened school girl, instead of standing by to help justify him as best she could, to Gwen!

Anne whirled and made for the dance hall at top speed. She was about to push her way up the steps, when her arm was seized. Whitey's voice proclaimed a thankful "There you are!"

"Whitey!" Anne tried to jerk away. "I must find Steve! Have you seen him?"

"I'll say I have!" Whitey chuckled. "Gwen Collins sent him flyin' with an ear full! They're getting Jake in the car over there. He fell on the mud scraper and got a busted arm. They're off now with Doc Bryant to get it set."

"I must find Steve!"

Whitey cut her short. "Were you mixed up in this?"

"Yes——no—— I mean——"

"So that's what started the row! I'll say you've stirred up some commotion at your first dance," he said.

"Whitey, you don't understand!" Anne told him what had happened. "I don't know what made me run away," she added, miserably, "but don't you see that I have to find Steve and explain——"

"You'll have to follow him to the Flying Five, then."

Anne stood irresolute for a moment.

"We may as well go back, then," Anne decided.

In silence they reached the buckboard and climbed in. Whitey picked up the reins and they headed for the mesa. Behind them a bunch of cowboys broke out into a burst of song.

For a moment or two, Anne felt tears perilously near the surface.

For days, the lilting refrain of that cowboy song haunted Anne's thoughts. At all sorts of odd moments she would find herself stopping short at whatever she was doing and remembering. Remembering Steve's look as he had smiled down on her in the dance, remembering the beat of his heart so close to hers, remembering the curve of his strong muscles as he had fought with a man much heavier than himself, and remembering, too, alas, how she had failed him in the end.

The weeks following the dance tripped over each other in breathless succession, but never once did Steve break through their routine.

At first, Anne had intended to go over to the Flying Five and thank him for defending her. When it came actually to the point, however, she couldn't bring herself to it. To go over to see a man when she knew that he was engaged to another girl! No, she couldn't do it!

Finally she compromised by writing a note of thanks and apology for her precipitate flight. There had been no answer and Anne's pride had finally come to the rescue in accepting the inevitable.

Preparations for the Trainors were mercifully engrossing. In addition to sprucing up the ranch house, Anne had decided to build two small log cabins for the Trainor children.

Tim assigned one of the two punchers to carry out her plans. Once the ork was under way, there was no time even for heartache.

The thrill of going out into the forest and actually picking out the tamaracks that were to build the cabins of her dreams gave Anne a deep seated primitive satisfaction.

This was meeting the challenge of living! Not one cent was to be spent on these additions to the summer equipment.

Incredibly, the cabins took shape. The floors were made from split logs, the chimneys and small fireplaces that Anne had insisted must be in each one, were cleverly built of native rock.

From old bits of iron Whitey beat out locks and hinges in the shop. The problem of glass for the roughly fashioned window frames was met by taking some panes out of an addition to the bunkhouse that was never used.

Catholic Slovak Outing Attended by Nearly 10,000

Nearly 10,000 persons attended the eighth annual Catholic Slovak day yesterday in Pilsen park. Speakers included Dr. Peter H. Hletko, president of the Slovak League of America, who recently returned from Prague, and the Rev. Joseph A. Job, pastor of St. Simon's Roman Catholic church. Other features included national dances and games, costume pageants, and sports exhibitions.

Recipes Today Sure to Please "Sweet Tooth"

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The candymaking urge is likely to attack one at those odd times when no other matter seems particularly important. Often the desire to "cook up a batch" of sweetness strikes when the cupboard shelves are barest, when the chocolate has run out, when there's no brown sugar, when the milk bottle has been drained for the evening meal. To prevent sweet-tooth disappointments at these times, a good housekeeper will keep a running stock of candy-making supplies.

Evaporated milk always should be on hand, for many candy recipes call for it, and in many others it may pinch hit for cream or be diluted with water for milk when cream and milk supplies are low.

From a new booklet, "Simple Homemade Candies," come these recipes for candies any connoisseur of sweets will call exceedingly good.

Raisin Peanut Clusters

[About 50 small clusters]

1 cup shelled roasted peanuts
2½ cups seedless raisins
½ pound dipping or sweet chocolate
¼ teaspoon salt

Rinse raisins and dry thoroughly on a towel. Melt chocolate over warm water, cool to lukewarm, and mix in nuts, raisins, and salt. Drop the mixture onto waxed paper by teaspoons or shape it in paper candy cups.

Southern Pecan Pralines

¾ cup evaporated milk
¼ cup water
1 cup maple sugar
1 cup medium brown sugar
1 tablespoon butter
1½ cups pecans

Combine evaporated milk, water, maple, and brown sugars and butter in a sauce pan. Cook to soft ball stage, 240 degrees in this case. Remove from heat and cool until nearly lukewarm. Beat until creamy and thick. Place pan in hot water until candy is soft enough to form flat cakes when dropped from a spoon. Arrange nut meats in groups on buttered pan or oiled paper and drop candy from a spoon over the nuts.

Rum Cream Caramels

2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon vinegar
¾ cup corn sirup
⅓ cup butter
1½ cups coffee cream or evaporated milk
1 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon rum flavoring

Combine sugar, vinegar, sirup, butter, and ¾ cup cream. Heat, stirring until the mixture boils. When it boils briskly, add the remaining cream and continue cooking and stirring until the mixture reaches 246 degrees, the very firm ball stage. Remove from heat, let stand until partly cooled, and add flavoring and nuts. Pour into buttered pan and cool. Cut into strips, then into squares. Wrap each piece in waxed paper.

Caramel Fudge

½ cup sugar, caramelized
⅔ cup coffee cream
1 tablespoon corn sirup or 2 tablespoons maple sirup
½ teaspoon vanilla

To caramelize the ½ cup sugar, place it in a heavy frying pan over low heat and stir constantly, to prevent burning, until sugar melts. Cook remaining sugar, cream, and corn sirup to 234 degrees, soft ball stage. Add caramel sirup and cook to 238 degrees when the sirup will form a slightly firmer soft ball. Remove from heat and cool to room temperature. Add vanilla and beat until creamy and thickened. Pour into buttered pan and cut into squares.

These are only four of 35 candy recipes in the new booklet, "Simple Homemade Candies," 5 cents by mail, 3 cents at one of the Tribune Public Services offices, Tribune Tower lobby or 1 South Dearborn street. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

While in Charlevoix Mrs. Johnson had news of the birth of a daughter, Helen, to the former Helen Hardenbergh, and her husband, Lieut. John F. Seitz, at the Presidio in San Francisco. The baby was born on Aug. 17.

Mrs. Edward A. Fargo Jr. of New York, formerly of Lake Forest, who is visiting the Frank A. Priebes in Lake Forest, spent the week-end in Wheaton with the Walter W. Crawfords. Mr. Fargo will join his wife after Labor day and they will be at the Onwentsia club until Oct. 1.

The Edward Lihmes and their children are visiting in Watch Hill, R. I. They are the guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Bai Lihme.

Whitmore-Crawford Attendants Chosen.

Miss Lida Whitmore and Benjamin Crawford, son of Mrs. Frank T. Crawford of Winnetka, who will be married on Sept. 6, have chosen the attendants for their wedding. It will be a garden wedding and will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Dwight Whitmore, in Valley, a suburb of Omaha, Neb.

Miss Jane Whitmore will be maid of honor for her sister and Miss Eileen Kelliher will be the bridesmaid. Donald Crawford will be best man for his brother. All the ushers are from Winnetka, with the exception of Stewart Patterson, who is from Willcox, Ariz. The ushers include Thomas Boal, William Kirk McEwen, Philip Wyatt Moore Jr., and Edward R. Baumann.

Among the guests at the wedding will be Mrs. Benjamin F. Crawford, grandmother of the bridegroom, who will come east from her home in La Jolla, Cal. Mr. Crawford and his bride will be at home after Oct. 1 at 1711 Crilly court in Chicago.

The Mills College Club of Chicago will give a luncheon Friday at the Georgian hotel in Evanston for the girls who will enter Mills college in California this fall. Mrs. Walter Fahauer of Highland Park is chairman of the committee on arrangements. Assisting her are Miss Jean Clarke of Winnetka, Miss Gertrude Galloway of Hubbard Woods, and Miss Ann Lewis of Glencoe. Members of the class of 1942 as well as undergraduates and their mothers are invited.

If You're Troubled with Awkwardness, Correct It

If you have an inferiority complex, are awkward, bashful, and ill at ease with strangers, what can you do about it? Or can you do anything?

That is the question which Miriam Winslow, brilliant young American concert dancer, once was forced to ask herself. As a child she was tall and ungainly, with hands and feet which were always in her way. Being sensitive about her appearance, she was shy and tongue-tied in company. As Miss Winslow herself puts it: "I couldn't talk to people for I didn't know what to say." Today there's no more poised or self-assured young woman in America.

Most persons, Miss Winslow points out, are ill at east because they are too conscious of their bodies. "I have noticed it among the dancers in my ballet," she says. "Even women who are grace itself while seated often lose all their charm when they stand up. The swan in the water becomes an ungainly goose when walking. The foundation of charm is bodily control. Then, when one is assured against fidgeting, grimaces, and clumsy movements one may forget about one's body.

But first it must be brought under conscious control, advises Miss Winslow. Think of it as a complete picture with the head and trunk in a straight line. When the vertebral column is straight you can forget the shoulders for they will adjust themselves. When you have obtained in this manner the correct posture for standing, walking, or sitting you can correct unequal weight by concentrating on the parts that are out of proportion. The best way to do this is through corrective exercises, and the best corrective exercises are to be found in dancing. For dancing, says Miss Winslow, more than any other exercise except, perhaps, swimming, distributes the weight evenly.

"Dancing," says Miss Winslow, "is like nature. Nature abhors a vacuum, and dancing abhors any part of the body that isn't graceful. It actually works both ways, for, on the one hand it smooths away rolls of fat and unlovely bulges, while in the case of an underweight person it will be found that, after months of dancing, boney angles are cushioned over and new curves begin to appear.

"From the way you hold your hands when you are eating, talking, or just sitting," says Miss Winslow, "can be determined whether you are ill at east or perfectly assured. Bodily control is the first step toward beauty."

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

One of the things you simply must see, if you have the usual hard time keeping your coiffure well groomed, is the new gadget that combines brush and comb. It's been available to beauty operators for some time; they're crazy about it. Now it's in the retail stores and doing very well indeed.

This handy combination of comb and brush consists of a narrow brush with excellent bristles set flush with a comb. You can brush and comb simultaneously by using it with the comb outside and the brush on the inside. When you want merely to comb, use the comb next to the head, the brush on the outside. The brush is detachable and the whole gadget is little bulkier and not a jot longer than an average pocket comb. It has a slim case, too.

This is a good thing to use for the scaly scalp. You can get the slim brush right down to the scalp and use the comb, too, to loosen the scales. This should be a pre-shampoo ritual.

And it's simply marvelous for curls. The narrow, stiff-bristled brush does the usual job of polishing and cleansing the hair strands, but in addition makes it much easier to create and maintain the rolls and ringlets that adorn almost every well dressed head.

The Housewife

Have you seen the new oval pads that make cleaning easier? They're easy to hold and are two faced, one side being of cellulose sponge and the other loofah, that nice, soft, pliable vegetable fibre. Or you can get them with the loofah on both sides.

An excellent feature about these pads is that you can boil them without harm. They're stitched around the sides with binding tape, so they won't become ragged or torn.

Use them for washing dishes, for washing windows or woodwork or bathtubs. And they're good for scrubbing automobiles, too. Their size is 5 by 7 inches. They cost very little.

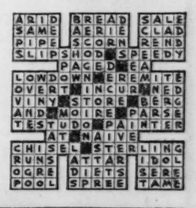
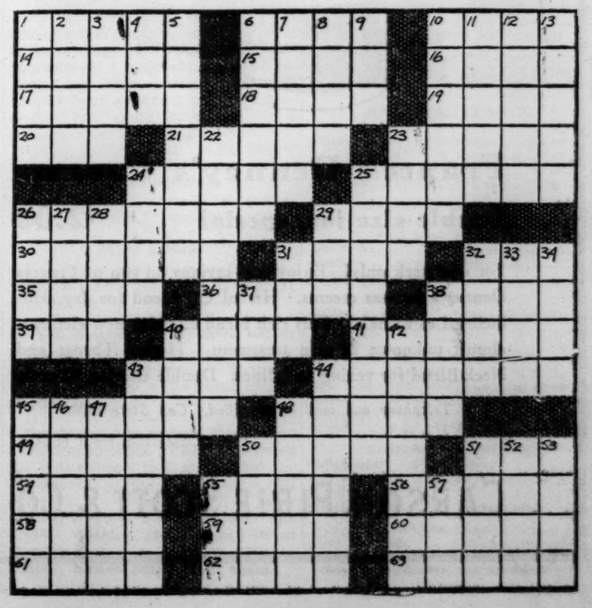
SATURDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: I used to accept, without question, the alibi of my partners that they had 'guessed wrong,' and to attribute the bad result to sheer luck. Indeed, I had salved my own pride with the thought that I was a remarkably bad guesser in many situations that offered a choice of plays. After forming the habit of reading your column, however, I have become highly skeptical of these 'guesses,' because you have pointed out so often that what was thought to be a bad guess actually was a bad play. I am sending you a hand in which this question is involved. Personally I can see no percentage in favor of one play over another. But since the contract was lost by my partner, the declarer, I am hoping that you will be able to give him the devil, if only for the good of his soul.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 diamond	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

"I think that you will agree the bidding was all right. West opened the ten of hearts and my partner, South, took East's queen with the ace. As you will see, he could count five clubs and three hearts, and he needed another trick to fulfill the contract. The only place to get it was in diamonds and, of course, looking for it in that suit meant risking a spade shift by the defenders. Nevertheless, I think South was right to return a diamond at the second trick in an attempt to steal a diamond trick before the opponents could 'get set.' West ducked and, after much thought and much squirming, dear partner put in the jack. East grabbed the trick with his queen and shifted to the deuce of spades. The defenders collected four spade tricks before partner could get on lead again.

"Now, how about the diamond play? Was there anything in favor of putting up the king instead of the jack? Of course, partner vehemently claimed it was just a 'guess,' and, for all I know, perhaps it was.

"J. C., Detroit."

I am delighted that I can rise to this occasion and put the seal of approval on my correspondent's skepticism [it would have been very humiliating if I had had to report that his partner's play was sound, or, rather, "just a guess"]. Of course, the crux of the hand is to steal a diamond trick, and to do it quickly, so that the opponents will not discover their own strength in spades. Successful theft in this case [as in most others] requires that declarer put up the diamond honor that is the more likely to hold! It should be obvious that dummy's king has a better chance of winning than the jack has. When West plays low, the king can lose to only one card, the ace, whereas the jack can lose to two cards, the ace and the queen. The proposition is just that simple! It is not a case of trying to drive out the ace with the inferior jack and, thus, to preserve the king for future use. It is a case of picking off a trick immediately. Therefore, no question of percentage is involved other than that already stated, that there is twice as much chance of the king holding as there is of the jack holding.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

Former Lelia Emery and De Talleyrand Ready to Wed in Paris

New York, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—On Tuesday next, or perhaps the day after, the one time Lelia Emery will become the wife of the Comte Helie de Talleyrand.

According to word received from the other side of the Atlantic the ceremony will take place very quietly in Paris. Where or when she was divorced from her first husband, the dashing Capt. Alistair Mackintosh, has never been announced. When Lelia was thought to be in Reno last winter she and her two children were actually in Switzerland and it may be that she obtained her divorce there or in Paris.

Her future husband, who belongs to the German branch of the De Talleyrand clan, is no stranger in this country. He was wined and dined extensively when he was the house guest of Col. and Mme. Jacques Balsan in Palm Beach last winter.

Lelia, of course, is the daughter of Mrs. Alfred Anson and the late John J. Emery, Cincinnati multimillionaire. She is a sister of Mrs. Benjamin Moore, who is returning to New York from Dark Harbor, Me., on Saturday, and of the former Audrey Emery, who was renamed Princess Ilyinskaia when she married her now-divorced husband, Grand Duke Dmitri of Russia in 1926.

REDSKINS TEST PASS ATTACK IN SOLDIERS' FIELD

PROS' STARTING LINEUP STILL IS UNDECIDED

Irwin and Justice Unlikely to Play.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Sammy Baugh and a bewildered band of Washington Redskins established headquarters on the south side yesterday. Arriving in the city early in the morning from their training camp in Ballston, Va., they were greeted by a group of well-wishers carrying glowing accounts of the superb football team the college coaches have molded out of the collection of All-Stars assembled in Evanston.

These tidings did not come under the heading of news to the Redskins. Six Redskins are All-Star graduates and are thoroughly familiar with the situation. But they were amazed by reports that they had been made the favorites in Wednesday night's game.

Hold Two Hour Drill.

After the first shock the Redskins recovered sufficiently to get in a lecture, try on their new uniforms, and hold a two hour drill in Soldiers' field, the site of the game which officially opens the football season.

Thirty-one players and Coaches Ray Flaherty and Roy [Bullet] Baker, comprised the party. Included among the players were Don Irwin, veteran full back, and Ed Justice, pass catching half back. It becomes more doubtful hourly that Justice and Irwin will be fit to oppose the All-Stars. Irwin's twisted knee is not responding to treatment and the severity of Justice's shoulder injury makes it certain that he will be of little worth even if Flaherty should be forced to use him. Both are working out daily, however, in the hope of participating.

Irwin Anxious to Play.

Irwin is particularly anxious to break into the lineup. This will be his third All-star game. He was a member of the Chicago All-Star squad in 1936, but spent the entire evening on the bench. The following week he went to New York with several of the players from THE TRIBUNE'S team and again failed to get his name in the lineup.

Yesterday's work was confined to signals following the customary calesthenics and passing drill. This routine will be followed in secret again this afternoon and tomorrow night, when the Redskins get their only opportunity to study the Soldiers' field lighting system.

The question of Washington's starting lineup remained undecided. Flaherty is confronted with a problem in the back field, where he had intended to start Irwin in the position vacated when Cliff Battles retired. Irwin has played this position. With him out it will be necessary to start a rookie. First year men have started All-Star games for the pros, but Flaherty prefers to have seasoned and experienced men in the game to take the All-Stars' opening charge.

Krause Only Veteran Available.

Max Krause, a veteran of five years, four of which he spent with the New York Giants, is the only experienced man available. He normally plays half back, but has been used at the important No. 4 position. The other candidate for consideration is George Karamatic of Gonzaga. Karamatic has not had much opportunity to distinguish himself as a ball carrier, which is the chief duty of the full back in Flaherty's system.

Occasional flashes, however, have revealed that Karamatic possesses all the open field ability his advance agents promised. He also gets more distance on punts than any other kicker on the squad. He has not established that he has the power necessary to penetrate the husky collegian line when a yard is necessary. He is a rugged, solidly built back, able to assimilate the punishment usually meted out to line crashers, but does not drive as hard as Irwin,

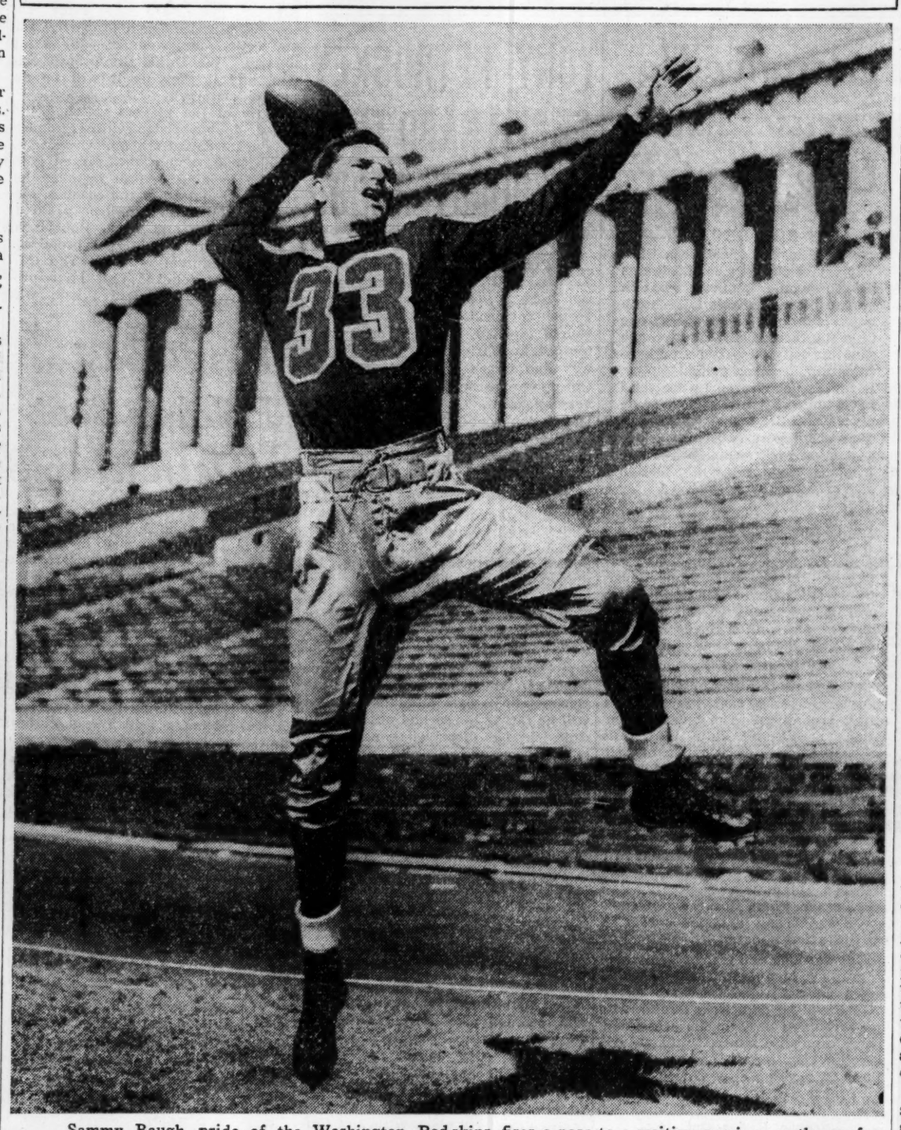
The Redskins' One-Man Firing Line



Sammy Baugh, pride of the Washington Redskins, fires a pass to a waiting receiver as the professional champions, who battle the college All-Americans Wednesday, held their first practice in Soldiers' field yesterday. It was Baugh, an All-American last year, who tossed the pass to Gaynell Tinsley which beat the Green Bay Packers, 6 to 0. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

All-Americans Have Pass Defense, but It's a Secret

BY WILFRID SMITH.

"Stop Sammy Baugh!" is the keynote of the All-Americans' final drills for their battle with Washington's Redskins in Soldiers' field Wednesday night.

There's a familiar ring to the phrase. It was the chant of the professional elevens last year and it still is true that if the All-Stars are to win they must stop Sammy Baugh.

Yesterday morning the all-Americans drilled on the defensive maneuvers by which they hope to prevent Sammy from throwing touchdowns. The boys will continue to study these plans this morning and a final secret workout is scheduled tomorrow. This evening, when the All-Stars visit Soldiers' field for a rehersal under the lights, practice will be routine. None of the plays by which they hope to fool the Redskin defenders will be used in signal drills, nor will defensive formations be unveiled.

Sh! Defense Is Secret.

Bo McMillin and his assistant coaches on the All-Star staf have tried to keep their defensive plans secret. Until yesterday the squad had three distinct formations which would be called as Washington's offensive positions indicated. Additional formations were outlined, and all are based on varying the selection of linemen to pull out on passes to help the secondary cover.

Success on defense will depend on personnel. Just as John Drake last year stopped Don Hutson on the line of scrimmage when Green Bay attempted its favorite scoring pass three yards from the All-Stars' goal line, so must these All-Americans of 1938 diagnose Baugh's passes.

Andy Puplis, Corby Davis, and Fred Vanzo have proved their ability on pass defense is extraordinary. Puplis always seems to beat the other man to the ball. Vanzo, although backing up the line, has the knack of dropping back on the proper plays, and Davis, the husky Hoosier full back, has more speed than his 215 pounds indicate.

Light Company Worker to Say When It's Dark

Mount Kisco, N. Y., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—A switchman in a substation of the Westchester Lighting company here will dictate when baseball games in a twilight league of mid-Westchester teams will be called because of darkness, league officials decided today. With games starting at 6:15 p. m., it is impossible to play nine innings, and arguments have started frequently when umpires have terminated contests because of darkness. Now the league officials have ruled that play will be suspended, no matter what team is leading, when street lights are turned on by the employé at the substation. This employé, it is said, doesn't know one team from another.

2 BLINDFOLDED GOLFERS SHOOT A 56 AND A 62

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Two Omaha golf pros, touring the nine hole Dundee golf course blindfolded today, turned in cards identical with those of Clinton Russell of Duluth and Dr. W. H. J. Oxenham of England in their blind golf championship match in Duluth a week ago.

Frankie Siedlik played the nine holes in 56, the same number scored by Russell for the distance. Frankie Cormaci had a 62, as did Dr. Oxenham. Siedlik was one up in match play and six in medal.

ATHLETICS BEAT SOX LAST MAN CLUB, 5-4, 7-2

Kuhel's Hand Swollen; No. 9 on Injury List.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 28.—The poor White Sox, now known as the last man club because there is nobody left on the bench, finished their week of doubleheader chores today, but not happily. The jinx ridden Chicagoans contributed two decisions to the lowly Athletics, 5 to 4 and 7 to 2, to round out a program of fifteen battles in eight days. The Sox won five of these and that's something.

The last reserve—and even he was a partial cripple—had to go into action today when First Baseman Joe Kuhel looked at his right hand and discovered it had swollen as the result of a collision a few days ago in Boston. He was excused from work and tabbed as No. 9 on the list of Comiskey invalids. This forced Manager Dykes to summon his only surviving reserve, Henry Steinbacher, for duty in left field and moved Rip Radcliff into Kuhel's place. With this sort of a combination the Sox proceeded to assimilate the two beatings.

They Take Their Medicine.

Weary in body and sick at heart the Sox took their medicine without creating much of a disturbance with their bats before 15,231 customers. In the first game they mustered enough power to produce a couple of profitable innings against Lee Ross, these two incidents creating a 4 to 4 tie. But John Whitehead, who went the route for the Chicagoans, immediately experienced a one run spasm and that one run fashioned his ninth defeat of the year.

The Macks settled the second game so quickly that the assembled bargain hunters never quite reached a state of excitement. Jack Knott, the man whose last two appearances resulted in low score defeats, wasn't able to get through the first inning until after three had scored. In the next three innings he was hammered for four more runs, after which Rookie Harry Boyles was asked to show his stuff. He did and performed so skillfully that there was only one hit off him in four innings. The Sox couldn't make an impression on Luther Thomas until the ninth.

FIRST GAME

Whitehead surrendered a run in the first inning of the first game because he allowed three hits, all of which should have been recorded as errors. After two were out Sperry was credited with a hit on a fumble by Dykes, Seibert with a hit on a stumbling act by Appling and Johnson on another blunder in which Dykes' throw pulled Radcliff off base. Sperry scored on the latter incident.

Whitehead, however, couldn't complain about his helpers in the third inning. The Macks scored three times by giving him a sound spanking. Finney doubled, Seibert singled, Werber walked and Hayes singled, hence the three runs.

Ross Good for Five Innings.

Ross looked fairly good against the Sox for five innings because his pals stabbed a series of line drives, but his luck deserted him in the sixth. Steinbacher and Owen singled, Steinbacher taking third on the latter hit and scoring on Walker's force of Owen. Radcliff tripled into the left field corner to send Walker home. Radcliff scored the third run of the inning on Appling's infield out.

The Sox had a tie for a limited time in the seventh. Schlueter singled and scored when Steinbacher tripled to right center with two out. In the home half of the inning Johnson singled after two were out. Werber slammed a grounder at Appling but the ball crawled over Luke's shoulder and rolled into left field past Walker for a two base hit. Johnson

BEAT PHILLIES IN 11TH, 6 TO 5; TAKE 2D, 3 TO 1

Page's Eight Assists Equal Record.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs yesterday gained on all their first division foes in the tightening National league pennant competition, when they succeeded in an uphill fight against the Phillies to take the first game of a double-header, 6 to 5, in eleven innings, then came back for a less arduous and less exciting 3 to 1 victory in the supper number.

The Cubs gained a game and a half on the league leading Pirates, who lost to Brooklyn. The Chicagoans now are five games behind the Pirates, the closest they have been to the lead for a month. On the late afternoon of July 27, they were in second place, four and one-half games out of first place, but that night they blew a game in Brooklyn, after leading, 2 to 0, with one out in the ninth. Then they lost three straight in Philadelphia and did not recover that lost ground until yesterday's big success.

Extra Losses Hurt.

The Pirates now have won only three more games than the Cubs, but, and this is an added handicap, the Chicagoans have lost seven more than the Pirates.

The first game was a thriller for the 26,348 paying guests, who saw the improved Phillies knock the ears off Bill Lee, Chicago ace seeking his seventeenth victory, with a five run splurge in the second inning. This attack included homers by Morris Arnovich and Gilly Brack and a triple by Bill Atwood and sent Lee scurrying to his bath. Jack Russell went in and held the Phils to two hits for five and one-third innings. After that Clay Bryant was called in. Brack greeted him with a double. Then there was a double play and nary a Philly got on base the rest of the way.

O'Dea Crashes a Homer.

The Cubs started a gradual overtaking process in the third inning of this first game, when they scored their first run on Rip Collins' triple and Russell's double. In the fifth Ken O'Dea picked up some more ground with a homer. Singles by Hack, Galan, and Reynolds made the score 5 to 3 in the sixth, and in the seventh the score was tied on Frankie Demaree's triple, the first of Bill Herman's two doubles, and a single by Hack.

While Bryant was holding the Phils helpless, the visitors, led by Pete Sivess, performed all manner of heroics to hold off the Cubs. But in the eleventh the end came. Herman doubled with one down and reached third on an error. The bases were loaded on intentional passes and Herman was forced at the plate. Then Phil Cavarretta singled to break up the contest.

Vance Page, the Cubs' ripe rookie, was the boss man in the second game, though he yielded nine hits to the seven the Cubs made off old Syl Johnson and the one they made off Al Smith, who pitched the eighth. Page made eight of twenty-one Cub assists to help himself out of the infrequent jams developed by the Phils. This performance equaled the all time major league record.

The Cub runs in this game were made on singles by Cavarretta and Collins in the second inning, a triple by Galan and a single by Reynolds in the fourth, and a triple by Hack and an out in the sixth inning. The Phils scored their run in the eighth. Davis opened that session with a single and Atwood ran for him. Jordan singled and Martin delivered a pinch double which scored Atwood and put Jordan on third. Then, with the tying runs on third and second and none out, Page threw out Brack and Scharein, after which he diverted Klein's smash to Jurges, who ended the threat with a throw to first.

RACING GOES INTO LAST BIG WEEK AT WASHINGTON

Attendance Records Fall; Profit Assured.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The most largely attended meeting at Washington Park race track has enjoyed since the days of the tallyho and brown derby moves into its final week with the running of today's program.

Attendance records have been broken not only on Saturdays but on every other day of the week as well. Betting volume has increased to a point where the track already is assured of a handsome profit and that, of course, will be increased in the six more days there are to go.

Olney, a Kentucky bred colt owned by R. W. McIlvaine of Chicago, has, during this meeting, established himself as the best juvenile. Mar Le, son of Misstep from the Lemar Stock farm in Kentucky, has won double honors. He has proved that he is not only the star 3 year old of the Washington Park meeting, but also the fleetest sprinter that has raced there.

Birdlea's Record Consistent.

Filly and mare honors were not clearly settled but Birdlea's record has been the most consistent. Route running handicap honors will be decided in the $5,000 added Washington handicap at a mile and a quarter, which is to be renewed on the closing day of the meeting—Saturday. Reigh Count's son. Her Reigh, is leading for these honors as the result of his triumph in the Great Western handicap on Saturday.

The Washington Park Jocky club, which always has aimed to conduct a meeting as pretentious as that offered in any other part of the country, is so encouraged by the popularity the track has enjoyed this year that already it is arranging even more pretentious innovations for next season.

Eligibles Get Test Today.

A half dozen 3 year olds that are eligible to Saturday's handicap are to come together in today's feature race which is a dash at seven furlongs. Diavolo Boy from Valdina farm in Texas carries high weight with 122 pounds. However, he will likely rule as the favorite in spite of this package, the probable odds being 8 to 5.

Numerous stables that have not raced in Chicago this season were arriving at Hawthorne yesterday for the annual autumn meeting which will open there on Labor day. These shipments came from California in the far west and from Narragansett Park and Saragota in the east.

Official Family Named.

During the afternoon Charles Krutckoff, president of the Hawthorne association, announced the makeup of the official family which will serve at Hawthorne this year. In the stewards' stand will be Christopher J. Fitzgerald, representing the state racing commission, Julius G. Reeder, and Alexander J. Heffernan. Mr. Reeder is also the racing secretary. Placing judges will be Sidney S. Brown, Robert P. McAuliffe, and William J. Shelley. George R. Wingfield will return to his post as starter.

Budge, Mako Dispel Fears of Cup Defeat

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Its stock soaring as a result of the one-sided victory of Don Budge and Gene Mako in the national doubles final yesterday, America's Davis cup team tonight moved on to Philadelphia for final practice in defense of the cup against Australia next week-end.

Tennis observers agreed that the feat of holding the Australians, Adrian Quist and John Bromwich, to six games in three sets—the score being 6-3, 6-2, 6-1—strongly presaged an American victory in the cup final, with Budge winning both his singles and then pairing with Mako to repeat yesterday's doubles triumph.

But to some, the first defeat ever inflicted on the team that three times beat Budge and Mako in Australia came almost too easy. Some quarters expressed the opinion that Quist and Bromwich deliberately let down in the hope the Americans might become overconfident and careless next week.

They pointed to the instance of 1922 when Gerald Patterson and Pat O'Hara Wood were beaten by Bill Tilden and Vincent Richards in the final here only to come back in the Davis cup challenge round with a complete reversal of form and crush the Americans in three sets. To support this was the decidedly listless play of the Australians after they lost the first set.

Thereafter, they simply couldn't or wouldn't fight back, and not once did they reel off a hot streak such as marked their superb play against Germany here last week. But to Harry Hopman, captain of the Australian team, this was just so much talk.

The Australian team will reach Philadelphia tomorrow morning, but the Americans, who planned to stop off in New York, may not arrive until Tuesday.

INVENTS LIGHTED DOWN INDICATOR AND YARDSTICKS

Joe Lipp, veteran football official of the Western conference who has made a specialty of the head linesman's job for twenty years, has invented and patented an electric lighted down indicator for night games. Both teams and spectators will be informed as to the down and distance to be gained by the use of colored lights on the yardsticks and the linesman's box. These new devices will be used for the first time at the All-Star-Washington Redskins game in Soldiers' field Wednesday night.

"On most fields," Lipp said, "the floodlights cover the gridiron well but leave the sideline areas in partial and often complete darkness. Both teams, the referee and spectators have difficulty in reading the down number on the linesman's box, while the yardsticks are scarcely visible in the shadows. In addition, few fields have electric lighted scoreboards to inform the thousands of self-appointed quarter backs in the bleachers as to the down and yards to be gained.

"I have built a new linesman's box, no heavier or larger than the standard box, with red illuminated figures in the face. Small batteries in the stick light up electric bulbs inside the box and by a simple twist of the number dial the linesman keeps all informed of the down after each play. The red number is visible for several hundred yards.

"The ten yard sticks and chain, handled by the two assistant linesmen, have a red light at the '0' end, yellow lights to mark 1, 2, 3, and 4 yards, a red light for five yards, yellow lights for 6, 7, 8, and 9 yards, and a red light on the 10 yard stick."

Grace Church and Bethel Win Walther Softball Titles

Grace church of River Forest won the men's 12 inch softball championship of the Walther league yesterday and Bethel captured the 16 inch title, the former winning from St. John, 3 to 2, and Bethel beating Nazareth, 7 to 5. The Trinity girls defeated Nazareth to win in their division.

Ignorance No Excuse; Know Law, Hunters!

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicago, Ill.

It would clarify a lot of doubts if you would publish what a "snipe" is under this fall's hunting regulations. I believe at one time the federal laws allowed the shooting only of Wilson's or jacksnipe and perhaps golden plover. If this is not cleared up we shall have hunters potting least sandpipers and the last of the Batramian sandpipers [which are slowly coming back] will join the buffalo. Thanks for the information you may be able to give us.

R. P. Durham.

With the exception, in certain states, of the jacksnipe and woodcock the federal hunting regulations absolutely prohibit the shooting of plover, sandpipers, stilts, willet, yellowlegs [both lesser and greater], curlews, godwits, and other birds in this group known as the shore birds.

Protected All Year.

Under the migratory bird act these shorebird species are enjoying year round protection. The federal regulations specifically state that rails and gallinules and jacksnipe or Wilson's snipe [another name for the common jacksnipe] may be taken as game birds within season. The wording of the federal regulation is as follows:

"Species having no open season . . . Shore birds [except woodcock, and Wilson's snipe or jacksnipe], wood duck, crane, swan, Ross's goose, snow goose and brant in states bordering on the Atlantic ocean."

The wardens and courts into which migratory bird law cases may be taken do not take ignorance as an excuse on the part of a hunter who has forbidden birds in his possession. Therefore, any hunter "mistaking" a yellow leg for a jacksnipe is not likely to have an easy time if caught with such a shortbird in his possession.

Season Opens Oct. 15.

This year the jacksnipe season will open at the same time that duck hunting becomes legal. In Illinois this means the morning of Oct. 15. In Wisconsin the season starts Oct. 1. Unless prohibited by state regulations jacksnipe hunting does not end at 4 o'clock in the afternoon during the open season, although all waterfowl shooting must stop at that hour, as specified in the federal regulations.

COBB ATTACKS EYSTON'S SPEED RECORD TODAY

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 28.—(AP)—John Cobb, a 200 pound Englishman who races just for fun, will bring a virtually untried automobile to the white flats of Bonneville tomorrow in quest of a new world land speed record. Cobb, in his button shaped Railton, will seek to break the record of 245.49 miles an hour posted yesterday by Capt. George E. T. Eyston, also of England.

Eyston is standing by for another attempt in the event Cobb is successful tomorrow. Warned by Eyston's difficulty last week when a fast run was nullified by failure of his silver Thunderbolt to trip an electric eye timing device, Cobb's mechanics, like Eyston, painted both sides of the Railton black. Timers were confident that by moving the electric eye closer to the track and with the Railton blackened their timing device would be able to pick up the machine as it flashes by.

Winnetka, Chicago Win Cricket Double-Header

Winnetka took a two game lead in the Illinois Cricket league by defeating Milwaukee in both games of their double-header in Milwaukee yesterday. The scores were 72 for five wickets to 70-all out and 77 for eight wickets to 71. Chicago defeated Oak Park in both games of their double-header, 125 for nine wickets declared to 31 and 125 for seven wickets to 74. Hyde Park defeated Melbourne, 164 for eight wickets to 114 and Washington Park defeated Lake Shore, 140 to 62.

TONY PETROSKEY FACES HARD TEST IN BOBBY PACHO

Tony Petroskey, Muskegon, Mich., slugger, will try conclusions with Bobby Pacho, one of the most courageous competitors in the welterweight division, in a ten round bout tonight in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Pacho's last Chicago appearance May 31 wasn't so very pleasant. On that occasion he lost in ten rounds to Milt Aron, but he hopes to make amends at the expense of Peroskey. Tony is unbeaten since June 6. He has two successive victories to his credit.

In the five round secondary feature Tom Kenneally, former Catholic Youth organization champion, is paired against Johnny Denson, Indianapolis. Kenneally, one of the most promising heavyweights in this section, has scored nine triumphs in ten professional starts. Four of these were by knockouts. Inability to obtain fights has kept Tom idle since June 15, when he whipped Bernie Bowman in Sparta stadium. Denson will be facing his second opponent in Chicago. He displayed considerable skill in conquering Emil Campagna.

DODGERS SLASH PIRATES' LEAD TO 4½ GAMES

Win, 8 to 5, with Attack Early in Game.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Brooklyn's busy Dodgers scored six runs in the first two innings today and resisted subsequent uprisings to beat the Pirates, 8 to 5. The Pirates' loss, coupled with New York's victory, cut Pittsburgh's margin in the National league to four and a half games.

ST. ROMAN WINS, 9-4; TAKES C. Y. O. BASEBALL TITLE

St. Roman of the south side defeated St. Andrew, 9 to 4, yesterday on Shewbridge field to win the Catholic Youth organization baseball championship.

Walter Smola of St. Roman yielded only one hit after the second inning, retiring twenty men in order. Johnny Behounek and Joe Kurze, outfielders, backed up Smola's pitching with some heavy hitting, the former getting three hits.

In a preliminary game to decide third place St. Adrian, 1937 champion, lost to Sacred Heart [46th street], 7 to 2.

Urbana Beats Ottawa to Win Illinois Softball Title

Canton, Ill., Aug. 28.—(AP)—A home run by Cross with two on base in the fourth inning and the score tied 1 to 1 carried the Urbana Indians to a 4 to 1 triumph over Ottawa tonight in the final of the Illinois state softball tournament. Cross hit a home run with the bases full in the afternoon's semi-final to give Urbana a 4 to 1 victory over the Caterpillar Diesel club of Peoria, champion for the last two years. Ottawa had advanced by beating Belvidere, 5 to 2.

MacQuinn Wins 40 Lap Midget Race; Willman 2d

Harry MacQuinn of Milwaukee defeated Tony Willman, also of Milwaukee, by three car lengths last night to win the forty lap feature for midget racing cars at Riverview Speedway. Ted Duncan of Chicago was third and Myron Fohr of Detroit, fourth. MacQuinn's time was 10 minutes and 33 seconds. MacQuinn was beaten by Ted Tetterton of Chicago in a ten lap elimination and Australian pursuit race. Other winners were Ted Duncan, Marshall Lewis and Chuck Neisel.

Cubs Take Double-header from Phillies

never was the same after Morris Arnovich jolted him with a home run with one out in the second inning. Arnovich's shot went over the bleacher crowd in left center. Mueller followed with a single to center, after which Atwood bounced a triple past Reynolds, scoring Mueller. Young put on the squeeze play. His bunt went straight into Lee's hands, but Bill threw high and hard over O'Dea's head, Atwood scoring and Young reaching first. Mulcahy sacrificed, then Lee pitched a home run ball to Brack, Young scoring ahead of him. Russell replaced Lee and Herman threw out Scharein.

Collins opened the Chicago third with a triple and scored on Russell's double. Jurges, Herman, and Hack couldn't move Russell off second base.

Mulcahy Ends Rally.

The Cubs apparently had a rally riding in the sixth, but Mulcahy snuffed it with damage of only one run. With one out Hack singled and went to third on a single by Galan. Reynolds singled, scoring Hack. Then Cavarretta flied to Brack and O'Dea bounced to Scharein.

The Cubs tied the score and knocked out Mulcahy in the seventh. With one down, Demaree batted for Russell and tripled off the left field wall. Lazzeri batted for Jurges and sent Scharein into short right for his pop fly, Demaree scoring after the catch. Herman doubled off the top of the left field wall and scored the tying run on Hack's third hit, a single to center. Sivess replaced Mulcahy and Galan fanned.

Sivess walked Reynolds, the first pass of the game, at the start of the home eighth. Cavarretta bunted to Weintraub, whose throw to Young to get Reynolds was late. When Umpire Magerkurth called both runners safe, little Mr. Young, usually a mild mannered fellow, charged the umpire and took a swing at him, after which he gave him the old body check. Young, of course, was bounced from the acreage, bringing up a three way shift in the Philly infield. When play was resumed Sivess kept activity in the infield for three outs.

SOARING PILOTS RIDE 30 MILE AIR WAVE FOR HOURS

Corcoran, Aloft for 6½ Hours, Takes Lead.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Frankfort, Mich., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—A vast ocean of air flowing at 30 miles an hour from the southwest beat at the 300 foot sand dunes just south of Frankfort today. On the crest of these invisible waves of air that broke over these natural barriers several soaring pilots rode for hours.

Stan Corcoran of Hollywood, Cal., stayed aloft six hours and thirty-five minutes. He landed at sundown on the beach at the foot of the sand ridges. With this flight he took the lead in the contest now in its second day.

L. D. Montgomery of Detroit was able to glide back and forth above the dunes for six hours and thirteen minutes. Warren Merboth of Glenrock, N. J., rode the air four hours and five minutes. Jack Omeara of Minneapolis was up for three hours and thirteen minutes.

Stunts Break Monotony.

Along the Lake Michigan coastline here the strong wind prevented formation of thermal currents so that none of the pilots was able to soar away from the beach. Peter Reidel, German ace soaring flyer, was towed to 3,000 feet over the town and proceeded to stunt his way to the ground.

Reidel's series of loops and steep wing overs in his beautiful Kranich sailplane relieved the tedium for 8,000 persons who watched the silent ships hanging in the wind above the dunes. He was applauded roundly and, because soaring and gliding is accomplished in silence, he heard the clapping and whistles of approval.

Conditions Favor Ridge Soaring.

Because of the general weather here most of the flying will consist of the beach soaring. Conditions here usually are unfavorable to long distance thermal soaring, but conditions usually are good for ridge soaring.

This fact was considered by the Soaring Society of America that organized the contest. At Elmira, N. Y., last month the weather there was such that only the highest performances ships could soar. Few ships of this type, however, were available for American pilots.

The meeting here is intended to give pilots who own the utility type glider an opportunity to fly. In ridge soaring the utility virtually is as good as a high performance ship, and most of the soaring planes in this country are utilities.

Found Dead of Motor Exhaust Fumes in Garage

Paul Spain, 54 years old, 7718 Phillips avenue, a research chemist, was found dead of motor exhaust fumes yesterday in the garage behind 7719 Yates avenue, where he kept his car. His wife, Bertha, found his body. Police said Spain's death was probably accidental. He used part of the garage as a laboratory.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Once in a Lifetime

FLIES OVER HOME TO DROP HAT; 3 INJURED IN CRASH

Family of Passenger Sees Plane Fall.

A pilot and two passengers were critically injured late yesterday afternoon when a ten year old plane went out of control and crashed in a prairie at 65th place and Springfield avenue.

The pilot is Raymond Chevedden, 37 years old, 9236 South Park avenue. His passengers, who paid $1.50 each for a fifteen minute ride, were Joseph Kolin, 35, of 1614 South Loomis street, a Municipal court bailif, and Bert Kuchis, 28, of 3939 West 65th place, a cement worker.

They had taken off only a few minutes before from the Ashburn field at 87th street and Cicero avenue. The old plane, a Waco F-10 with an OX-5 engine, gained altitude without difficulty and headed north.

Goes Into Spin Near Home.

For this there was a reason. Kuchis, taking his second plane ride, had planned to drop his cap as he passed over his home. Supposedly the pilot humored him in this whim—he was at an estimated altitude of less than 1,000 feet when he neared the house.

Looking on were Mrs. Kuchis and her father, John Tomasko. They had already started to wave at the plane when it began to lose speed. Other witnesses said that the motor seemed to fail or was shut off about 67th street. The ship went into a spin.

Working desperately, Chevedden pulled the plane out of the spin. But it had lost so much altitude there was no chance to reach the Chicago airport, only a mile or so to the northwest. Below him houses and open prairie alternated. In front of him were dangerous high tension wires. He chose the best spot available and set the ship down, pancake fashion. The horrified spectators thought he did it adeptly.

Cockpit Smashed and Twisted.

The open cockpit was smashed and twisted. Fortunately the ship did not catch fire. Spectators, among them John Tomasko [the crash took place only a few hundred yards from the Kuchis home], hurried to the spot and removed the injured. Policemen who arrived almost immediately commandeered automobiles and led them with the unconscious trio to Holy Cross hospital.

Physicians held out little hope for Kolin's recovery. Injuries of the others were also regarded as serious.

The plane was listed as owned by Arthur Witt, 8643 South Hermitage avenue. It was kept in the Tiedt Aeronautical school hangar at Ashburn. Chevedden had a limited commercial pilot's license.

PARACHUTE JUMPER CLAIMS NEW RECORD; LEAPS AT 29,400 FEET

Willie [Suicide] Jones, a colored boy from Memphis, Tenn., jumped out of a plane at Markham field yesterday afternoon. He dropped awhile and then opened a parachute and landed safely. Then he claimed he had broken the world's record for a delayed parachute jump.

Willie Jones.

"I was at 29,400 feet when I jumped," he said. "For the first few thousand feet I was a little giddy. But after that things cleared up and I felt like I was floating. I didn't pull the ripcord until I was down to 3,000 feet and I figure I was going 140 miles an hour then. It was a considerable jerk, but I feel fine."

The record is unofficial. Previously the champion parachuter was a Russian who leaped out at 26,500 feet and didn't put up his umbrella until he was at 650 feet.

Raymond Wassel, the pilot who took Willie up, said they were right at the top of the plane's climbing ability and the temperature was 6 below zero when the parachuter hopped out the side door. The performance was part of an air show at the field, which is at 167th and California avenue.

COL. ROOSEVELT BACKS O'CONNOR IN CONGRESS RACE

New York, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Col. Theodore Roosevelt aligned himself today with Representative John J. O'Connor in the fight of the Democratic house rules committee chairman for the Republican nomination this fall in the sixteenth congressional district. Mr. O'Connor is opposing Allen W. Dulles for the Republican nomination. His Democratic primary opponent is James H. Fay. O'Connor is running on both the Democratic and Republican tickets.

In explaining his support for Representative O'Connor, Col. Roosevelt, a lifelong Republican and his party's candidate for governor in 1924, hailed as a patriot the congressman who gained a place on President Roosevelt's purge list by leading the house fight against the government reorganization bill. Col. Roosevelt made known his stand in a letter to Lewis J. Hopkins, Republican campaign manager for Mr. O'Connor.

J. A. Seeger, Refrigerator Manufacturer, Dies at 84

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 28.—(AP)—John A. Seeger, 84 years old, founder and chairman of the Seeger Refrigerator company here, died today after nearly a year's illness. He was the father of Walter Seeger, president of the company and of the St. Paul American Association Baseball club.

FLIVVER PLANE SHOW TO DRAW OVER 100 PILOTS

Expect 60 Machines to Be Entered.

Chicago's light airplane show for amateur and sportsman flyers will attract more than 100 pilots and sixty of the so-called flivver airplanes, Robert A. Morrow, 7252 South Maplewood avenue, who heads the contest committee, said yesterday. The show is to be held at Harlem airport, 87th street and Harlem avenue on Sept. 25.

Robert Morrow.

Entries already have been received from flyers in Chicago and downstate Illinois. Others are expected from Indiana and Wisconsin. Invitations to take part in the meet have been sent to some 300 light plane pilots in the three states, and more than fifty already have indicated that they will compete in the various events.

Strictly for Amateurs.

The meeting is being promoted by a group of light airplane owners here who decided that airmen who fly this type of ship are being ignored at the usual air meet. This, they say, will be strictly an amateur show. And they have limited it to planes with engines of fifty horse power or less.

No profits are to be made and there will be no admission fee. There will be no cash prizes offered for contestants. Winners of the competitions, however, will receive trophies in conformity with the amateur character of the show.

The prizes will be special pilots' wrist watches; wheel pants for the light planes; airplane compasses; circular slide rules to be used in calculating compass courses, air and ground speeds, and wind drift angles, Morrow announced. Other prizes will be steerable tail wheels for the light planes, and flying accessories.

Fuel to Be Provided.

Fuel and oil is expected to be provided for each of the contestants so that their flying in the meet will not cost any large sums out of pocket.

There will be a number of exhibition events in the show as well as flying competitions. All the various types of light ships will be stunted. There will be inverted flying in a Piper Cub, forty horse power Continental engine. Pilot Dewey Biggs of Harlem airport will make a blind landing in front of the spectators with the aid of instruments and radio.

Several girl flyers have announced their entries. They will compete against the men on an equal basis in the spot landing contests, the bomb dropping, ribbon cutting, and precision flying events. They will, however, have some special events of their own, Morrow reported.

3. U. S. Prisoners Escape St. Louis Jail; 2 Caught

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Three prisoners tonight escaped from the city jail where they were held for federal law violations. Two, George Yates, 23 years old, charged with federal theft of an automobile and violation of the firearms act and the $336 robbery of the Moline, Ill., postoffice, and Charles Watson, 19, held for federal authorities, were recaptured. William Wright, 25, alias Robery Morgan, charged with federal auto theft and violation of the firearms act, was the third man.

The trio overpowered Guard Thomas Foley, took his keys and night stick and bound him. Then they forced the elevator operator to take them downstairs. Guard Eugene O'Donnell at the outside door was slugged with Foley's night stick.

Other officers recaptured Watson and Yates as they sought to force occupants of an auto to relinquish their car. Wright fled on foot.

CUPID RIDES AIR LINE AGAIN AND SHOOTS DOWN TWO HEARTS

Same old story: Stewardess marries pilot. Details: Southmoor hotel, United Air Lines; William Rethorst, Miami, Fla., formerly of United Air Lines, now of Southern Air Lines; yesterday at Bowling Green, O. Added significance: The "loneliest girl in the world," so-called, is lonely no longer. That's the title Miss Martin earned by reason of the late night sleeper shifts she flew from Chicago to Denver, Cheyenne, and points west. Reason: Passengers asleep; pilots busy; stewardess lonely.

PLAN TO ENLARGE TVA DIRECTORATE STUDIED AT QUIZ

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 28.—(AP)—A hint has come from the congressional investigation that the committee may recommend a new executive board for the TVA.

The three man directorate was sundered by friction among Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, chairman, and Directors David E. Lilienthal and Harcourt Morgan. As a consequence, President Roosevelt removed Dr. Morgan.

Representative James Mead (D., N. Y.), vice chairman of the committee, asked Dr. Morgan yesterday if the differences did not grow out of the attempt to divide responsibility for various aspects of the TVA between the three.

He suggested that enlargement of the board to five members might be advisable. Dr. Morgan agreed that a three man board is prone to difficulty because of personalities involved when two men combine against one.

FIND CLEVELAND TORSO MURDERS CLEW IS A DUD

Cleveland, O., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Detectives today took a middle aged man they identified as Emil Fronek on a tour of a section where several victims of Cleveland's twelve torso killings were found, in an effort to run down the newest clew in the slayings.

The tour led into the Kingsbury Run district where Fronek claimed he had been poisoned in 1934 when given a meal at the home of a man who appeared to be a doctor. Fronek, found last night in Chicago, arrived in Cleveland early today with detectives. Tonight they announced that Fronek had not been able to lead them to the "doctor's" house.

It was decided not to hold Fronek as a material witness and he probably will return to Chicago tomorrow.

FUNERAL RITES FOR MAY YOHE TO BE WEDNESDAY

Boston, Mass., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Funeral services for May Yohe, stage star of the gay nineties, will be conducted Wednesday afternoon in Roxbury, Mass.

Miss Yohe, who was 69 years old, died of a heart attack in her small apartment here today. Once the stage darling of two continents and mistress of the Hope diamond, she died in comparative poverty. Her last job was as a WPA clerk. She is survived by her husband, Capt. John A. Smuts, a former officer in the British army. He is a son of Jan Christian Smuts, famous Boer general.

A yerning for independence led Miss Yohe to success on the stage. She went to England in 1893 and repeated her American triumph. There she was married to Lord Francis Hope, owner of the famous jewel. She was divorced from him after eloping with Capt. Bradlee Putnam Strong. Strong divorced her in 1910, and she was married to Capt. Smuts in 1914.

ARMY WILL SEEK $10,000,000 AIR BASE IN ALASKA

Washington, D. C. Aug. 28.—(AP)—The army high command intends to ask President Roosevelt's active support for an appropriation by the next congress to start work on an air base in Alaska.

The project would supplement defensive measures already undertaken or proposed by the navy along the shortest route between America and the orient.

A request for an appropriation for a 10 million dollar army base was included in last year's war department estimates. It was eliminated in favor of other needs. Renewed efforts follow the return of Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, from an Alaskan aerial survey trip. He inspected possible air base sites and alternate routes for a 2,200 mile Seattle-Fairbanks road across British Columbia.

Retired Auditor Is Found Shot to Death in Home

Sidney J. Lawshe, 61 years old, a retired assistant trade auditor for the Illinois Central railroad, was found shot to death yesterday in the basement of his home at 7242 Constance avenue. Police said he evidently killed himself. A revolver was found at his side. Lawshe retired because of ill health last October after more than forty years of employment with the railroad. His widow, Frances, survives.

OFFICIALS LEAVE TODAY TO SEEK CANADA AIR LINK

C. R. Smith, president of American Airlines, and a delegation of officials, will leave Chicago airport this morning on a flight to Toronto, Ont. Their aim will be the establishment of direct air service between Chicago, Toronto, and eastern Canadian trans-Atlantic air terminals.

Mayor Richard W. Reading of Detroit and Mayor Thomas L. Holling of Buffalo will board the twenty-one passenger good will plane en route.

Leaving here at 7:50 a. m. and arriving in Toronto at 11:25, the delegation will lunch with the Canadian national exposition board of directors. In the evening they will attend a city aviation banquet at which Mayor Ralph Day of Toronto will preside. The American delegation will return here Tuesday evening, after stops in Buffalo and Detroit.

HURRICANE HITS COAST OF TEXAS; ROARS INLAND

Brownsville, Tex., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Gales that howled along the lower Texas coast died down tonight and barometers rose, indicating that the hurricane which imperiled ten Texas fishermen midway between Brownsville and Tampico had passed inland during the day. The fate of the ten still was unknown.

Telephonic communication between points in the United States and northeastern Mexico failed during the afternoon. The hurricane was believed to have been dissipated against the high mountains near Victoria after sweeping along the low coastal plain dotted by fishing villages.

Arrested on Charge of Cashing Stolen WPA Check

Walter Danker, 28 years old, was arrested by North avenue police last night on a warant charging him with cashing a stolen WPA check. The check, amounting to $85, was addressed to Thomas Hammond, 1531 North Artesian avenue, and was stolen from his mail box on Aug. 2. Danker allegedly cashed the check to buy a new suit of clothes. Police said he formerly lived at the Artesian avenue address.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

STOCKS SHOW GAIN DESPITE LATE SETBACK

Week's Rise Small; Trading Light.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 28.—Stock prices gained last week despite the fact that the market receded in the last two sessions. Gains for the most part were limited to fractions.

Trading remained dull while financial circles pondered the possibilities of trade trends this fall. Labor day, as in previous years, is set as the official opening date of a normal seasonal fall expansion in business and it is agreed that the bullish forces are going into this period with the weight of evidence on their side.

Highlighting the action of the stock market was the behavior of the motor shares. Both Chrysler and General Motors were bid up to new high marks for the year on the optimistic outlook for the industry. For the week Chrysler had a profit of $1.75 and General Motors gained 50 cents.

Rails Are Slightly Higher.

Railroad issues were a bit higher. Two eastern railroads succeeded in getting voluntary reduction of interest rates on bonded debts. Further aid came from an expansion in car loadings and the fact that a number of leading systems reported a higher July operating income than a year ago.

Other favorable items included a boost of 30 per cent over the preceding week in engineering awards and 55 per cent over a year ago. Steel operations gained another notch and power figures reflected larger manufacturing operations. Loans also expanded and retail trade picked up.

Good news from the business front, however, met bad news from Europe. Wall street again riveted its attention on central Europe to watch developments in the Czechoslovakian crisis. This situation, in the opinion of observers, caused the selling that occurred on Friday and Saturday.

Steels Among Best Performers.

Steels, auto accessories, and glass shares were among the best performers of the week. United States Steel made only a fractional gain, but Bethlehem worked ahead more than 2 points. Electric Auto-Lite was among the stocks that gain 2 points or more. Libby-Owens Glass advanced more than 3 points.

Other substantial gains were registered by du Pont, American Tobacco B, Philip Morris, United States Gypsum, and Loew's.

Steel Output Increased by Varied Buying

Steadily increased buying of steel by miscellaneous consumers continued last week, the magazine Steel said yesterday. The production rate was given another boost, as most orders specify immediate delivery.

Steel estimated ingot production last week at 43.5 per cent of the theoretical capacity of the nation's steel mills. This was an increase of 2 points over the preceding week's rate of 41.5 per cent, and the seventh consecutive weekly increase. The rate was 24 per cent seven weeks ago.

The uptrend in miscellaneous buying is contrary to seasonal trends, and is developing without assistance from the automotive and railroad industries, usually strong supporters.

Expect Increase in Output.

"Inasmuch as current buying has caused production to move well above 40 per cent of capacity," Steel continued, "steel makers believe impending demand for automotive sources and continued expansion of construction activity will result in much higher operations during the fall.

"Unusually rapid progress is being made in bringing PWA projects to the bidding stage, in order to hasten employment. This program involves a large aggregate tonnage of steel which is expected to be on mill books before cold weather. It seems inevitable that railroads will be forced into the market before the end of the year.

Auto Tonnage Small.

"Only small preliminary tonnages have been placed by automobile builders, but some parts makers are building banks of parts in anticipation of heavy demands when 1939 model assembly gets under way."

Ingot production advanced 1.5 points in the Chicago district to 37.5 per cent of capacity, Steel estimated. The rise at Pittsburgh was 3 points to 33 per cent. Youngstown was up 2 points to 43, Buffalo 2.5 points to 46.5, and Detroit 8 points to 60. Wheeling was unchanged at 54 per cent.

JULY VOLUME OF WHOLESALE TRADE FALLS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—The dollar volume of July wholesale trade declined 18 per cent from a year ago. This was disclosed in reports made public today from 2,360 wholesalers coöperating in the monthly joint study of the National Association of Credit Men and the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

The 18 per cent decline was somewhat more unfavorable than the average decline in previous months. The only month during which a larger decline occurred was April when sales were down 18½ per cent.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Wheat Allotments.

Aug. 28, 1938.

WHEAT growers in Illinois are in a quandary over the attempt of agricultural officials to make a drastic cut in the acreage of the grain to be harvested next year. Individual farmers recently have been receiving notices from the county AAA committees telling them how many acres of wheat they will be permitted to grow under the federal government's crop control plan. The government's offer of bonuses, loans, crop insurance and other benefits has left farmers confused in making plans to sow wheat this fall and next spring.

In a survey made within the last few days in wheat growing counties in the west central part of the state this reporter found that many farmers were surprised that their individual farm allotments were so low. They had been told that the national allotment called for a total of 55 million acres, 25 million acres under the 1938 crop. This is a cut of about 31 per cent. Illinois' state allotment is 1,789,192 acres, 684,808 under this year's crop, and nearly 27½ per cent under the ten year average.

Smaller Cut Expected.

From these national and state figures Illinois farmers had expected they would not be asked to reduce their acreage more than about one-third of this year's wheat crop. Some growers have just received their allotments which call for a reduction of 30 to 40 per cent, and in a few cases they are asked to cut their crop to nearly half the acreage planted for harvest this year.

Without the government's acreage reduction program, farmers say there would have been a big reduction in the wheat acreage because of the surplus on hand and low prices. The AAA plan calls for such heavy cuts on individual farmers that some growers say they will not try to grow wheat for harvest next year. Others say that the government "gifts" are so attractive that they are anxious to qualify. They will plant the full acreage allotted to them, although their original planting schedule made no allowance for wheat to be planted for harvest in 1939.

The average acres of wheat grown on a farm for the last three years is used as the general basis for figuring the allotment. But in most cases the three year average is above the allotment and cuts must be made so that the total acres of wheat to be sown on individual farms do not exceed the county allotments.

AAA officials in Adams county said the individual farm allotments are 30 to 40 per cent below the average for the last three years. In Hancock county the farmers' allotments will be about 40 per cent below this year's acreage.

A survey made by government men in McDonough county in July and August indicates that farmers had intended to plant about 25 per cent more acres of wheat than they would be allowed to plant if they stay within their allotments. Knox county farmers want to plant about twice as many acres as they will be asked to sow under the AAA program.

Appeals Are Made.

Appeals already have been made in Adams county, where farmers received their individual farm wheat acreage early, according to Roy Arnold, head of the county AAA committee. He says that most of the appeals so far have been from men who do not want to split their fields. They are asking for the privilege of planting a small amount of land above their allotment to avoid leaving a narrow strip along one side of the field. Arnold said the county officials had not yet received their instructions telling them how to proceed with the appeals.

Farmers are now preparing their land for fall sowing of wheat and are anxious to know how much wheat they will be permitted to grow. Some Adams county farmers are ignoring their allotments because they feel that the cut is so drastic that it would upset their farming program. This is especially true among some of the wheat growers in the Mississippi river bottoms.

Southern Pacific 4½s of 1981.

Investors' Guide: I will be greatly pleased to receive such information as you have on Southern Pacific railroad 4½ per cent bonds of 1981. —H. A. P.

Answer: Because of the heavy losses sustained by the road early this year, this bond must be regarded as speculative at present. Earnings have improved somewhat this summer, but fixed charges were only 7 per cent earned in the first five months of this year and net loss was $11,810,980. The company reported current assets of $43,020,585 and current liabilities of $43,483,970 as of May 31.

These bonds are a direct obligation of the company but are not secured by pledge of property. There are $50,000,000 of the bonds outstanding. Interest is payable May 1 and Nov. 1.

Birmingham Gas 5s of 1959.

Investors' Guide: Please send me a rating and information on the Birmingham Gas company 5 per cent bonds of 1959. Do you consider them a suitable investment for a woman? —Miss P. H.

Answer: As far as the pledge of property is concerned, the Birmingham Gas company 5s of 1959 appear to be rather well secured. The bonds do not, however, deserve more than a speculative rating because of the company's poor earnings record in recent years. Accordingly, we could hardly recommend the investment of a large portion of one's funds, either by man or woman, in these bonds, until earning power is demonstrated.

The bonds, of which about $5,900,000 are outstanding, are secured by a first mortgage on all fixed property of the company. This issue was not disturbed in the company's recently approved recapitalization plan.

Investors' Guide: Please inform me of the soundness of Queensland 7 per cent bonds of 1941.—H. B. N.

Answer: The State of Queensland 7 per cent bonds of 1941 are generally regarded as sound at present. They are a direct obligation of the state. Interest is payable in American funds. The issue is not callable, but the Queensland government may buy the bonds in the open market if obtainable at 102½ or less.

Burlington Equipment Trust.

Answer: Sound.

Franking.

The franking privilege of congressmen in the United States predates the Constitution. An ordinance was passed in 1782 by the continental congress which provided that letters, packages, and dispatches from the members and secretaries while attending congress on official business should be mailed without payment of postage. The privilege has continued and has since been extended to other government officials and departments from time to time.

During 1937 the postoffice department handled a total of 1,107,252,468 pieces of franked mail. If each of these were a letter eight inches long they would reach 5.6 times around the world.

The loss of revenue from the franking privilege in 1936 was estimated at $33,713,405, according to a statement in the Congressional Record. Franked letters and other mail during 1935 would have provided revenues of $32,566,239 if postage had been required. The total in 1934 was $24,519,661 and in 1933 is was $15,967,772. In 1932 the total was estimated at $10,701,912, and in 1929 it was $9,931,240.

UNITE OR FACE CHAOS, BABSON WARNS VOTERS

Advises Investors to 'Lay Up Treasures.'

Good children, small farms outside of college towns, and inflation stocks are among the soundest investments available, Roger W. Babson, economist, advised his clients in the Babson bulletin, issued yesterday.

The country faces either "coalition or chaos," Babson said in urging his clients "to lay up treasures in heaven." The possible coalition, "for which we pray," he said, is a merging of Republicans with conservative Democrats to elect a president in 1940. But Babson fears the coalition will not come. Hence, he said to lay up the treasures to get ready for the chaos.

Tells How to Invest.

"This means," he said, "to put your efforts and savings in things that are real. Among these, we list: [1] Good children, health, education, books and furniture; [2] a small farm outside a college town, living in a rented house or apartment near your work; [3] inflation stocks—that is, common stocks of strong and honest companies with no debt or heavy cumulative preferred stocks, and which have large natural resources.

For the short term, Babson is optimistic.

"General business," he predicted, "should constantly improve for the balance of this year and well into 1939. This applies to the demand and prices for commodities. Stock prices also should gradually strengthen. Much depends upon elections this fall."

Finds Longer Outlook Gloomy.

Looking ahead five or more years, however, he finds the outlook more gloomy. The possible results, he believes, are three:

"[1] If relief continues at its present pace, we are headed for real inflation. [2] If relief is stopped, we are headed for revolution. [3] The other possibility is a coalition government, for which we pray, but see few signs thereof at present.

"Hence, we say the country is facing 'coalition or chaos.'"

BUSINESS GAINS INCREASING, SAYS NEW YORK BANK

The business upturn that began in June is gaining momentum, the Guaranty Trust company of New York said in its monthly bulletin published yesterday. It said industrial activity has been increasing and retail sales have been showing less than a seasonal decline.

"This development is encouraging in view of the obstacles that have existed at home and abroad, including the traditionally dull midsummer season and the renewal of war fears in Europe and the far east," it said.

Commenting on business revivals in the past, the bulletin asserted that genuine recovery has never been built on currency depreciation or the artificial stimulus of government borrowing and spending.

"On the contrary," it said, "the primary effort of the government was formerly to bolster confidence in its own credit and in the soundness of the currency. In repeated instances the success of this effort marked the beginning of recovery."

Two Toledo Banks Ready to Merge, Effective Oct. 1

Toledo, O., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The Commerce Guardian bank has completed plans to acquire the assets of the National Bank of Toledo, effective on Oct. 1, subject to approval of stockholders of both banks. The resulting institution is to have capital of $1,000,000 and total deposits of $17,000,000. It will be Toledo's second largest bank. The merger will result in the return of $565,000 of federal government money invested in preferred stock and debentures of the two banks.

THOMAS W. HULME OF PENNSYLVANIA LINE TO RETIRE ON AUG. 31

Thomas W. Hulme, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad in charge of real estate, valuation and taxation, will retire from active service on Aug. 31. He is 70 years old. Hulme has been with the Pennsylvania since 1904 and has been continuously engaged in the real estate department. He is a recognized authority on railroad valuation.

Thomas W. Hulme.

For more than 20 years Hulme has been vice chairman of the executives' conference committee, formed to represent the interests of the railroads in connection with the physical valuation of their properties by the interstate commerce commission. He will continue a director of the Pennsylvania.

U. S. MAY WIELD BUYING CLUB TO POLICE MARKETS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—The government's monopoly investigation committee is considering the possibility of using the vast merchandise buying power of federal agencies as a big stick for policing commodity markets.

Members said that if all federal agencies coördinated their buying, they might exert enough influence to accomplish some of the administration's anti-trust aims without cumbersome legislation.

As an example, they pointed out the recent efforts of the treasury's procurement division to abolish the alleged basing point system in the cement industry by requiring bidders for government cement contracts to quote cost-at-mill prices. Formerly, it was the practice of cement makers to quote prices that included the cost of delivery. Government officials alleged this system tended to remove geographical differences and to make the prices of bidders, wherever situated, identical.

PORK AND LARD EXPORTS HIGHER THAN YEAR AGO

July exports of both pork and lard gained over those of the same month last year, the Institute of American Meat Packers reported yesterday. Imports of pork declined substantially for the same period.

The total amount of pork exported in July was 9,305,000 pounds. It was 8,456,000 pounds in June, and 5,398,000 pounds in July of last year. Imports of pork in July were 4,743,000 pounds, compared with 4,823,000 pounds in June and 7,645,000 in July, last year.

Lard exports decreased from 17,179,000 pounds in June to 12,881,000 in July, but were still well ahead of July, 1937, when 7,824,000 pounds were shipped abroad.

Maltsters' Association Accused of Price Fixing

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—(AP)—The federal trade commission accused the United States Maltsters' association of Chicago and its 19 member manufacturers today of fixing and maintaining uniform delivered prices for malt in violation of the federal trade commission act.

FARM PRODUCTS MAY BE BURDEN OF GOVERNMENT

Loan Plan Involves Large Holdings.

Operation of the present farm law promises to make the government the owner of large quantities of farm commodities. A long step toward the purchase of the surplus supplies of wheat, cotton, and corn has been taken under the loan program announced for these commodities.

Government loans become mandatory under conditions defined by the loan act. The prices so far established by the government average higher than the prices available to the farmer in the open market. Consequently the government in effect agrees to purchase these commodities.

Prices Virtually Guaranteed.

At present the government is attempting to underwrite the market prices of all three commodities. It also is seeking to effect a reduction in the 1939 acreage of wheat and cotton. In the meantime until a normal relationship has been restored between supply and demand the government will carry the surplus load.

With the wheat and cotton problems already threatening serious difficulty, the administration avoided calling a referendum on acreage allotments for corn next year, although the government's figures indicate that the step is necessary to comply with the terms of the farm act.

Government operations are the dominating influence in the market at present. Open market prices for wheat, corn, and cotton are dependent on government policy. Influences which ordinarily govern price movements are thus overshadowed.

Wheat and Corn Advance.

Wheat and corn prices advanced moderately last week. The upturn was attributed to the corn loan program announced in Washington. The range of prices in Chicago on grain futures for the week follows:

Wheat.

SEEK REDUCED RAIL RATES ON FARM EXPORTS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Administration leaders have agreed to seek lower freight rates on farm products moving to the sea for export, Chairman Jones (D., Texas), of the house agriculture committee, said today.

Jones said in an interview that Secretary Wallace had authority under the farm act to intervene in any freight rate case involving farm products, or to initiate proceedings designed to reduce rates. Jones has been conferring recently with Wallace and other administration farm leaders.

"Naturally we want to produce every bushel of wheat and bale of cotton that domestic and foreign markets will absorb," he said. "This benefits everybody along the line that handles it.

"Industry has received reduced freight rates on exports for years, and there is no reason why the farmer should not get the same thing."

Buying for School Terms Stimulates Retail Trade

Retail trade in Chicago began to feel the stimulus of pre-school buying, trade observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce said yesterday. Wholesalers reported that buying from rural areas continued good with country retailers apparently confident that September will mark the start of a sustained improvement.

President Roosevelt inspecting his new stone Val Kill cottage with Mayor La Guardia of New York and Representative Caroline O'Day. It will have no phone and no radio, he says.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Scene inside the great blue and white striped tent at Capehart farm, as 8,500 Indiana Republicans ate dinner together. After this, the tables were removed and all 25,000 who assembled there from ten states came inside to hear national party leaders. The tent, nearly three times as big as a three ring circus tent, was surrounded by more than a dozen other smaller ones, on a 120 acre tract. Host Capehart spent $30,000 on the party.
